

Creating a Course Pack through the Hofstra University Bookstore

The Hofstra University Bookstore offers faculty the option to create a custom Course Pack through the service Xanedu. Xanedu promises on-time delivery, easy ordering and tracking, and a 100% copyright compliance guarantee.

Course packs are generally a compilation of articles, cases, textbook chapters, and other copyrighted materials compiled to supplement learning materials for an individual instructor or course. Course packs can take the place of expensive textbooks or simply provide supplemental course readings where a traditional textbook is required or preferred. XanEdu Course Packs provide an affordable, flexible, and copyright-compliant way to provide students with high-quality custom course materials. Printed Course Packs offer a table of contents, pagination and bibliography and a variety of production options including color and custom covers, and comb, staple, three-hole, tape, or perfect binding.

For new Course Pack orders, the process takes an average of two to four weeks, though in rare circumstances the process can take longer. Allow up to 6 weeks to be absolutely safe. Once you have created a Course Pack, if you want to re-use it for another semester, turnaround time will be approximately one week.

To request a Xanedu Course Pack, contact Regina Mirro, Textbook Manager in the Hofstra University Bookstore at 516-463-6737 or Regina.Mirro@hofstra.edu. More information on Xanedu's copyright permissions service is available at: http://www.xanedu.com/reference/CopyrightFAQGeneral-X035_1107.PDF