Hagedorn Hall

Conference Within A Conference

Friday & Saturday, July 1 & 2, 2011

The 8th Hofstra Reading Miscue Analysis Conference brings together teacher researchers to celebrate the work of Yetta Goodman. An internationally renowned literacy researcher, scholar and teacher, Dr. Goodman coined the term “kidwatching” to describe the close observation of children in homes, schools, and communities that informs evaluation and teaching. Dr. Goodman has pioneered research in such diverse areas as early literacy development, miscue analysis, Whole Language curriculum, writing and teaching at all levels. With Dorothy Watson and Carolyn Burke, Yetta developed the Reading Miscue Inventory, bringing miscue analysis to the classroom. Her groundbreaking work in Retrospective Miscue Analysis (RMA) engages learners in meaningful conversations about reading. At this conference participants will be invited to join in retrospective conversations on kids and other readers, reading, literature and learning.

Featured presenters include:

Yetta & Ken Goodman, Bess Altwerger, Carolyn Burke, Ruth Davenport, Peter Duckett, Peter Fries, Carol Gilles, Prisca Martens, Eric Paulson, Steve Strauss, Dorothy Watson, and Constance Weaver.
Conference faculty: Alan Flurkey, Debra Goodman, Andrea Garcia

Conference Highlights:

- Participate in informal discussions with renowned reading researchers.
- Discuss miscue analysis for teaching and evaluation.
- Research workshops on RMA, EMMA (Eye Movement Miscue Analysis), etc.
- Work with Hofstra’s experienced faculty and see Hofstra’s Miscue EMMA Research Center.
- Varied sessions and mini-courses from novice to experienced.

EMMA RESEARCHERS MEETING - Friday, July 1, 9 a.m. to 12 p.m.
