Carman Family Collection, 1679-1942
12.7 c.f.

Born in Yorkshire, England, Nathan Birdsall (c.1611-c.1696) arrived in Boston with his father, Henry Birdsall, in 1632. He was living in East Hampton, L.I., in 1657, and in 1666 he relocated to Matinecock, Town of Oyster Bay, L.I. In 1679, he purchased land in Jerusalem (present-day Wantagh, L.I.), Town of Hempstead, N.Y., where some of his grandchildren later settled. Note: Wantagh was also formerly known as Ridgewood, N.Y.

John Garner (?-1833), a school teacher, arrived in the United States from Armagh County, Northern Ireland, and settled in Jerusalem sometime around 1801.

These men's descendants, who were largely Quakers, flourished in Jerusalem. They eventually intermarried with, and/or entered into business or personal relationships with, members of virtually every historically notable family in that area of Long Island. Among other things, they became extremely successful farmers and merchants. They also served with distinction in the military during the French and Indian War, Revolutionary War, and Civil War, with John Birdsall Sr. (1696-1764), Benjamin Birdsall Sr. (1736-1798), and Joseph Birdsall (1739-1824), all obtaining the rank of officer. Though they served largely in the Loyalist militia, it is worthy of mention here that Benjamin Birdsall Sr., rose to the rank of Lt. Colonel in the Continental Army.

The collection was donated by William Garner Carman, who is a direct descendant of both Nathan Birdsall and John Garner. It is comprised largely of the papers of his Birdsall and Garner ancestors, though individuals with other family surnames are also represented. Included among these surnames are Beedel and Beedle (variations of the name "Bedell"), Bunker, Carman, Jackson, Langdon, Nichols, Powell, Seaman, Smith, Weeks, and Young. Note: complete genealogical information is not available for all individuals represented in the collection. It is possible, therefore, that some of them may not be related to the donor, or they may be, at best, very distant ancestors.

Collection spans the years 1679-1942 and includes business records (account books, receipts, bills, promise to pay notes, business notes, etc.), personal and business correspondence, estate papers (including Last Will and Testament documents), indentures, land surveys, legal documents, military papers (including orders), photographs (including tintypes and cartes de visite), hand colored postcards, print materials, school papers, teaching papers, artifacts and ephemera, and news clippings.

The collection is particularly rich in land indentures, which can be found throughout the collection. Though most concern property in Jerusalem, N.Y., the papers of Isaac Beedel (?-1836) and Thomas Powell (1762-1835) include indentures concerning property in Bethpage, Town of Oyster Bay, N.Y.

Also noteworthy are a small number of slave indentures that are included among the papers of John Birdsall Sr., and Samuel Birdsall (1687-1761). Several other documents also make references to slaves: the Last Will and Testament of Richard Jackson (?-c.1786), a 1724 indenture between Richard Carman and George Townsend, and business correspondence of John Langdon (c.1685-1725). Also included among Langdon's papers is an account book titled The Negros [sic] and Indians Book of Debt Due To: John Langdon Deceased.

Garner Family Business Records, which span the years 1850-1915, document the business of running the family farm. Included are records of brothers William (1821-1873) and John B. Garner (c.1826-c.1904); Caroline E. (Seaman) Garner (1829-1903), wife of William Garner; and brothers George (1853-?) and William Garner Jr. (1868-1922).

The business records of Joseph Birdsall and John C. Birdsall (c.1773-1850) document the Birdsall Family's work as merchants in Jerusalem. Business grew rapidly over the years, and John C. Birdsall eventually entered into business partnerships with members of the Garner, Jackson, and Seaman Families. Noteworthy among John C. Birdsall's business records are 13 account books from his general store.

Emma A. Smith was a school teacher in Jerusalem (then part of Queens County, N.Y.), and at a number of other locations in the area. Particularly interesting among her teaching papers are notes from a speech that she gave in 1939 concerning the history of the Seaford Public School.

Correspondence of Caroline E. (Seaman) Garner, and Charlotte S. Garner (1859-c.1918), documents interpersonal family relationships from the 1840s-early 20th century. Charlotte's correspondence also documents her academic and social life at Swarthmore College Preparatory School (PA.) in the late 1870s.

Notable among the Revolutionary War papers in the collection is a 1777 document certifying that John Birdsall Jr. (1725-?) had taken an oath of allegiance to King George III. Also noteworthy is a 1783 letter written by Benjamin Birdsall Sr. to his brother, Joseph, concerning the disposition of his property during the war.

An individual for whom no place of residence is listed, or for whom the place of residence is listed as the Town of Hempstead, N.Y., is presumed to have been a resident of Jerusalem, N.Y. Other likely places of residence would have been the village of Hempstead (located within the Town of Hempstead) and Bethpage, Town of Oyster Bay, N.Y.

An individual for whom no occupation is listed is presumed to have been a farmer.

In instances where it is unclear to which family member an item(s) is attributable, available information for all likely individuals is provided.

Wherever possible, an effort has been made to describe major points of intersection between family lines. It is important to note, however, that many of these lines may intersect at numerous other points.

AN ACROSTIC

To the Memory of the late

Mr. George Gardner.

GREAT, noble, useful was his mind,
Encountered toils to teach the blind :
On all his actions GRACE was seen,
Redeeming Love was still his theme ;
God's glory was his chief delight,
Earnest in prayer—he walked upright.
Glory in view, his Soul got wing,
And Hallelujah oft did sing :
Reach'd out Salvation to the lost—
Delighted in the Pure and Just ;
Nothing he had to do but Die,
Exulting now with God on high,
Reigns gloriously above the sky. }

Gardner Acrostic Poem, c. 1700s
