League of Women Voters of Nassau County. Records, 1961-1998.
1.6 cubic ft.

The League of Women Voters has been involved in educating individuals about issues related to voting and government for nearly a century. According to its official website, the League of Women Voters of Nassau County consists of several leagues representing areas throughout Nassau County, including Central Nassau, East Nassau, Great Neck, Greater Five Towns, Long Beach, and Port Washington-Manhasset. The league also takes an active role in politics by hosting drives dedicated to registering voters, as well as hosting meetings relating to community centered issues.

The collection consists of several documents relating to the league's involvement in government reform, including the establishment of the Nassau County Legislature in the mid-1990's, as well as photographs, news clippings, publications and ephemera that depict social and other politically related events involving the league and its members.
