Our daughter's experience at Hofstra University's summer Sports Journalism program has been truly beneficial for her. The courses she took enhanced her writing and presentation skills, with sports as a backdrop.

We feel that this experience allows students to continue to creatively write throughout the summer in a fun way. The instructors are wonderful, enthusiastic, and supportive. They take the time to help the students write and speak in an engaging manner that is sure to captivate a television, radio, or internet audience.
