

HOFSTRA UNIVERSITY®

Sports Journalism and Broadcasting Institute

Continuing Education

Student: Artemis Tsagaris

It was a wonderful experience attending Hofstra's continuing education program this summer. Both weeks provided me with great insight into what it takes to be a broadcaster. All the instructors were excellent and took time to explain how to research, write, and deliver our broadcast.

The two courses explain all aspects of the broadcast including behind the camera. I feel that these courses provide us with critical thinking, creative writing and presentation skills, which can cross over into any field.

The challenges are fun, while the teachers and guest speakers make it a great environment to learn critical communication skills. Thank you to all the instructors and speakers and look forward to taking future courses
