Farewell from the Conference Hosts and Invitation to national conference on sustainable suburbs in November 2012 at Hofstra University

This conference is supported by a seed grant of the Faculty Research Funding for Tenure-Track and Tenured Faculty program, awarded by the Office of the Provost of George Mason University.

The participation of Hofstra University's attendees was made possible in part by a grant from Cedar Shopping Centers, Inc. a self-managed real estate investment trust focused on supermarket-anchored shopping centers and drug-store anchored convenience centers located predominantly in the Northeast.

Conference Team:

Katrin B. Anacker, Conference Host, George Mason University, School of Public Policy

Lawrence Levy, Conference Host, National Center for Suburban Studies at Hofstra University

Christopher Niedt, Conference Co-Director, National Center for Suburban Studies at Hofstra University

Bernadette Hanlon, Conference Co-Director, University of Maryland Baltimore County, CUERE
