Biographical Note

Edward J. Speno was born on September 23, 1920 in Syracuse, New York. He moved to Nassau in 1949 and became involved in Republican politics. He married wife Audrey and they had four children: Edward Jr., Sara Rose, Thomas, and Amy.

Speno was a New York State Senator from 1954-1971. As Senator and as Chairman of the Joint Legislative Committee on Transportation, Speno focused on improvements in mass transportation, automobiles and traffic safety in New York State. In addition, he enacted legislation in the areas of public health and educational funding. He died in Albany on February 17, 1971.

Scope and Content Note

The collection, which spans the years 1935-1973, includes correspondence, legislation, speeches, news clippings, photographs, and scrapbooks, documenting Edward J. Speno's career as a New York State Senator. A large portion of the collection is made up of general correspondence and constituent requests, which are arranged chronologically, and usually includes the letter(s) received, as well as copies of letters sent. In addition, there are a large number of subject files related to various topics on which Senator Speno proposed legislation, such as news clippings, reports, and other printed materials. Subject files are arranged into four categories: transportation, public health, education, and other topics.

Senator Speno was very involved in the Joint Legislative Committee on Transportation, serving as Chairman for many years, with a brief hiatus between 1965 and 1966. Included is correspondence between Speno and his colleagues, as well as other administrative information such as reports, staff memos, and awards. In addition, there are records from many public hearings and other meetings on transportation and traffic safety issues, arranged chronologically. The Joint Legislative Committee underwent several name changes, beginning with the Joint Legislative Committee on Traffic Violations (1958), then Joint Legislative Committee on Motor Vehicles and Traffic Safety (1959), the Joint Legislative Committee on Motor Vehicles, Traffic, and Highway Safety (1965), and finally the Joint Legislative Committee on Mass Transportation or Transportation (1968).

There are twenty-five scrapbooks in the collection. The earliest scrapbooks contain biographical information about Senator Speno and his family, including a sound recording of the family's voices, and memorabilia from his time as a skipper in World War II. The majority of the scrapbooks consist of news clippings that mention Speno and his work, as well as photographs and campaign materials. In addition to the series of biographical information and scrapbooks, readers should note a program from a luncheon held in honor of Senator Speno, in box 46, folder 11, containing spoof songs and poems about the Senator and his work.
