 - 1. Anyone can come to the meetings
 - iii. Chair Jackson: Do you hope to collaborate with other organizations/bodies on campus?
 - 1. We would like to be able to do these especially with some of our bigger events such as guest speakers and the gift drive for the holidays
 - iv. Chair Jackson moves to recognize HIBA

 - 1. For many years, since middle/high school
- iv. Senator Siegel: Are there local schools to host tournaments against?

- v. Chair Staderker moves to recognize Badminton Club
 - 1. Motion seconded
 - 2. Motion passed
- c. Hofstra's Chief Equity & Inclusion Officer Cornell Craig Visits Senate
 - i. Cornell Craig: Chief Office of Equity and Inclusion. We did change the name to reflect the wants of the office. Diversity is the picture where they are different shades of color but equity talks about is everyone welcome in the current picture. We have many areas that are wonderful and still areas to grow. Our job is to be more inclusive and equitable and we are currently looking to diversify our faculty so it can reflect our student population. Hofstra is now an associate Hispanic Serving Institution, there are only 500 institutions such as these.
 - 1. Chair Anniballi: In my time at Hofstra, I have not had a single POC faculty member. Are we working on initiatives for change in this?
 - a. Cornell Craig: We are currently looking at group hiring/cluster hiring. We are also looking for interdisciplinary hires where their skills cross over into sections of our school. We are focusing on this at the current moment with our Provost as well. We want to give all of our students the experience to meet with faculty that reflect them and we want their education to be the full experience.

2. Senator Siegel: There was a post sent to JewishonCampus made about Hofstra University that could be deemed antisemitic and I believe this should be addressed. We had someone come into the Hillel office just today with concerns about the Jewish High holidays that will be observed and professors are planning exams/labs but these professors are not allowing excused absences for this.
 - a. Cornell Craig: I don't want anyone to think that just because we have not commented, it does not mean that we do not care about this incident. We do look into complaints but with this current one, as it is anonymous, it is hard to pin down this and rectify the issue. We did send out an email in the beginning of the semester about sensitivity towards religious observances that will be occurring throughout the entire year. I encourage the student, or any student to report this as it can be a learning opportunity for not only the staff but also the student. We have been working off a secular calendar for the past 4 years which we drill home to the faculty to look at the calendar
 - i. Senator Siegel: Do you think we could do training about the religious holidays that will occur and how to handle it?
 1. Cornell Craig: My office did make this calendar to give the professor a resource and we are trying to make it not only easy but to guide them in this. It can be harder when the accommodations also may make it difficult for the student (ie. taking a test 2 days earlier versus on the high holiday). We all have blind spots.
 - a. Senator Seigel: Who did we hire
 - i. Cornell Craig: We hired both Dr. Alisha Wilson Carter and Beenish Saeed.
3. Chair Jackson: We are hosting the “La Bienvenida” event next Monday and would like to see you there. I was also wondering when the institutional information will be coming out to the student population.

- a. Cornell Craig: We can definitely share the institutional information at the event but we also want to formally get the word out as well.
- ii. Cornell Craig: My last thing to share with you is to please send in your reports. It will not have retaliation come out of it, if it does we are able to handle this. We have some limitations to reporting with the anonymous reporting but we use the information and track the information to keep up with these reports. We look at these for bias, to look for a focus to our training, if there is any insensitivity present, and we keep these things in mind so we can focus our resources.
 1. Senator Siegel: Do you have social media as a department? I believe it could be beneficial if you did to outline this advice that you have given to us.
 - a. Cornell Craig: We would love to create a better presence on social media and we would like to build on this. We are looking for students as well to come help us to be a voice.
 - i. Chair DeCrenasco: When is the conference for the Hispanic Serving Institutions ?
 1. Cornell Craig: The conference will be in October in San Diego. We are looking to fix the institution and to make sure we do not see our students not becoming successful
 - ii. Chair Pandit: What are the logistics of the tracking of student populations, and what are the logistics, are they being worked?
 1. Cornell Craig: They are in the current works and we have been in a transitional period for the last 3 years and we have just gotten a new head for the Office of Institution of research. We would like to look at population movement within majors, who is leaving, when they are leaving. We wanna follow trends and find out why they are happening.
 - iii. Vice President Singh: Is there any way that SGA can help your office?
 1. Cornell Craig: We have a student diversity advisory board. This is one of the best pipelines that we have but I will also utilize Dallas and keep an open line of communication. I want to be challenged and to make my job better for you. Speak up please and we want to do the best we can for your success as a student. Your voices can make the difference and when students speak up collectively that is where change happens the fastest. Please do not hesitate to reach out if anything arises. Email equity@hofstra.edu which is the office's new email address. You can also email this email if there is something you need to say as a report. We encourage you to keep an open line of communication. Our room is suite 240 in the Axinn Library on the second floor. We are going to have an unofficial office warming when we have our new furniture! Come!
