Bibliographic Citations American Psychological Association (APA) Format

This information sheet is designed to assist you in compiling your Bibliography, References page, or Works Cited page. Not all citation formats are included on this sheet.

For complete information, please consult the Publication Manual of the American Psychological Association (5th edition), which is available at the Reference Desk; the call number is [Ref Desk] BF76.7 .P83 2001 and citation examples begin on page 232.

General Principles

- Arrange entries alphabetically by the last name of the author. Give surnames and initials for up to six authors; if there are seven or more authors, list the first six and use et al. (not italicized and with a period after “al”)
- Capitalize the first letter of the article title and the first letter of the article subtitle—do not italicize or place in quotation marks. Capitalize all proper nouns.
- Titles of periodicals are written using both uppercase and lowercase letters.
Example: Psychological Review.
- Do include the volume number, but do not type Vol. before the number. Include the issue number only if each issue of a journal begins on page 1. Please note: the volume is italicized, but the issue number is not. Example: 32 (2).
- If information is retrieved from an aggregated or searchable database, providing the name of the database is sufficient; no web address is needed.
- For edited books, place the editors’ names in the author position, and enclose the abbreviated Ed. or Eds. in parentheses after the last editor’s name.
- Do not include a period after an internet address.

❖ PERIODICAL ARTICLES

Periodicals are published on a regular cycle. Journals, magazines, newspapers, and scholarly newsletters are all periodicals.

- ✓ Scholarly journals are usually published no more than three or four times per year and contain long, in-depth articles. The articles have been reviewed by a panel of experts and deemed suitable for publication.
