STUDENT SERVICES AND FACILITIES

ADVISEMENT SERVICES: the University recognizes that it has a responsibility for the good of the whole student and so, through the University Advisement Services, provides academic, personal, career and placement counseling through its Advisement Office, Center for Part-time Student Services, Counseling Services (Health Center), Career Counseling Center, and Office of Freshman Advancement. These offices are located in various buildings throughout the University, and are available to all Hofstra students. Offices are open daily from 9 a.m. to 5 p.m. and for selected offices during the fall and spring semesters, Monday through Thursday, until 7:30 p.m.

The Advisement Office, located in 202 Davison Hall, provides academic advisement to new and prospective transfer students and full-time undergraduate sophomores, juniors and seniors who have not yet declared their majors. Other student populations served include students with disabilities (see PHED, page 18), student athletes, students in academic jeopardy, and students seeking study skills counseling. New transfer students must have their transfer credits evaluated by the Admissions Office before meeting with an adviser.

Freshman Students attend a Summer Advisement Program on campus for orientation, testing, placement and registration. (See Freshman Advancement, page 16).

Preprofessional Advisement is available for students contemplating preprofessional training in medicine, dentistry, nursing, optometry, osteopathy, podiatry, veterinary medicine, and other health-related professions. Students should register immediately with the Advisement Office and meet with the premedical adviser to discuss choice of major and requirements necessary for entering the various schools. The Advisement Office is the official liaison between the University and the medical school. See page 300.

Students interested in law receive advice on law school admissions process, the requirements for entering the various schools and the LSAT from the prelaw adviser in the Advisement Office. See page 300.

AMBASSADOR PROGRAM: a student-volunteer program designed to introduce prospective students to the campus and to answer questions about college life at Hofstra from the student's perspective. An Ambassador tour can easily be arranged and includes attending classes, meeting faculty and other students and, if desired, an overnight stay in one of the residence halls. The office is located in 141 Admissions Center.

BOOKSTORE: located in the Student Center, provides a wide variety of merchandise and services. Items carried include textbooks, trade books, clothing, gifts, sundries, supplies, newspapers and magazines, candy and greeting cards. A full service post office/student check cashing service and dry cleaning are also available. Open Monday through Thursday, 9 a.m. to 9 p.m.; Friday, 9 a.m. to 5 p.m., and Saturday, 10 a.m. to 4 p.m.

BOOKSTORE SOUTH: located at the northwest corner of the Roosevelt Quad, is our newest satellite. This store carries a complete line of academic supplies and law books as well as clothing, toiletries, greeting cards and sundries. The Bookstore is open daily, Monday through Thursday, 9 a.m. to 6 p.m.; Friday 9 a.m. to 4 p.m., and Saturday 10 a.m. to 2 p.m.

THE CAREER CENTER, located in Alumni House, assists students in making career decisions and exploring employment opportunities. Career planning services are provided to seniors, graduate students, and alumni aimed at helping them to select their career objectives, effectively communicate their goals and plan their job search campaign. Services include individual career advisement, employment search programs, and workshops on resume preparation, interviewing skills and employer research. The Career Center also offers career forums and job opportunity fairs throughout the year.

On-Campus Recruitment: each year employers are invited to the Career Center to interview graduating students. Qualified students are given the opportunity to meet with these employers to explore employment opportunities. A list of participating employers is available upon request.

Job Referral Services: students and alumni are welcome to visit the Career Library to review position announcements received by the Career Center. These openings are also reviewed and, when appropriate, resumes of individuals matching an employer's needs are forwarded directly to the employer. Job notices from local and national businesses are available through a weekly newsletter to registered graduating students and alumni.

Education Placement Services: students and alumni seeking positions in education can take advantage of the Professional Credential Registry to assist in their job searches. Qualified candidates are encouraged to participate in the School District Recruiting Program held on campus each spring. In addition, job opportunities are also mailed throughout the year to registered candidates.

M.B.A. Placement Services: M.B.A. students are encouraged to visit the Career Center early in their academic program to discuss career strategies and the job search. Graduating M.B.A. students may submit their resumes for inclusion in the M.B.A. Resume Book published in their graduating year. Special career forums which bring M.B.A. alumni executives back to campus to share career insights, supplement the On-Campus Recruitment Program and the employment referral service.

Alumni Career Forums: alumni from a wide variety of fields return to campus to offer all students insights into their career fields, advice on career development, and job search strategies.

Civil Service Opportunities: positions with local, state, and federal civil services are posted in the Career Library. Additional information, test announcements, and application materials are also available.

Career Library: offers students and alumni a rich selection of materials such as employer directories, print and electronic job listings, informative guides to a wide variety of careers, job search guides, and employer information files to assist with career exploration, career management and the job search. Employer information files include annual reports, recruiting brochures and videos to assist with employer research. Students may access these materials during office hours, Monday through Friday, 9 to 5 p.m., plus extended hours to 8 p.m. on one evening each week to be arranged. For appointments and additional information, call (516) 463-6060 or stop by the reception desk at Alumni House

CAREER COUNSELING CENTER: students may seek vocational or educational counseling for a variety of reasons: they may wonder what major field to select; they may wish to consider careers that are appropriate following graduation, or they may want to explore their suitability for graduate study. Following the initial counseling session, tests of vocational interests, aptitude and other relevant measures are usually given. Additional counseling interviews explore the test results and help plan future educational and vocational decisions.

Career Information Library: for information about career fields and programs of study, the Career Counseling Center maintains an up-to-date collection of college and professional school bulletins, occupational books and pamphlets, and microfiche listings of job openings from every state throughout the nation. This material covers a wide range of information on careers, such as salaries, job requirements, duties performed, etc. Any student of the University may use this material during office hours, Monday through Friday, 9 a.m. to 5 p.m.; Tuesday evening until 8 p.m. For appointments and additional information, call (516) 463-6788 or come to Room 120, Saltzman Community Service Center.

CAREER DEVELOPMENT CENTER provides a variety of programs for students throughout their years at the University to assist in the selection of a career objective and in planning a job search campaign. Located in the West Wing of the Student Center as an integral part of the Office of the Dean of Students, the Career Development Center offers students, from freshman through senior year, individual counseling as well as special programs to advance the student towards his/her career goal. The services listed below are offered by the Center.

Career Workshops and Seminars: topics range from career exploration to current job market trends. Workshops in job hunting techniques, resume preparation, interviewing skills, and graduate school application are offered.

Student Employment Opportunities: students who are interested in working while attending classes can take advantage of the large number of part-time jobs that are available on-campus throughout the University and off-campus in companies in the metropolitan area. Bulletin boards at the Career Development Center lists current part-time and summer jobs. On-campus jobs are available by assignment through the Student Employment Coordinator.

Career Resource Library: contains career exploration materials in the form of manuals, workbooks, videos, corporate literature, and computer-generated data. Counselor assistance in using the Career Library is encouraged.

Internships/Externships: students are encouraged to participate in opportunities which provide practical experience in their chosen career field. A bulletin board listing internships is also posted at the Career Development Center.

Volunteers/HELP (Hofstra Educational League for Progress): for students who have an interest in participating in a working environment that serves the community. Opportunities are posted at the Career Development Center where students can share their time and talents in not-for-profit agencies, community-based organizations, schools, and hospitals.

CENTER FOR PART-TIME STUDENT SERVICES: created to meet the needs of part-time undergraduate and nonmatriculated graduate students. Academic advisement, career search support, and information resources is provided to all current and prospective part-time undergraduate students who are in attendance or who anticipate attending the University. Office hours are Monday through Thursday, 9 a.m. to 8 p.m., and Friday 9 a.m. to 5 p.m. Located in room 105 Memorial Hall.

CHAPLAINS: spiritual guidance and counseling are provided by Catholic, Jewish, Muslim, and Protestant chaplains who have offices in the Student Center.

Other services include opportunities for worship, retreats, interfaith events, seminars on topics of faith and ethics, and volunteer opportunities in local agencies.

CHILD CARE INSTITUTE: the Lindner-Goldberg Child Care Institute in the Saltzman Community Services Center serves children from 8 weeks to 5 years of age. In cooperation with the School of Education, and other academic departments, the program offers a nurturing curriculum for young children. The Institute is open to all members of the Hofstra Family as well as to the outside community, Monday through Friday, 7:30 a.m. to 5:30 p.m. For additional information regarding fees, schedules and enrollment, call (516) 463-5194.

DEAN OF STUDENTS: serves as coordinator for many student-related programs including the Center for Part-time Student Services, Chaplains Office, Health Services, International Students, Judicial Affairs, Residential Life, Student Activities and Recreation/Intramurals. This Office sponsors an annual Parents Day and cooperates with Alumni College in planning Homecoming Weekend.

Student disciplinary matters are referred to the Judicial Coordinator in the Dean's Office, who assists all involved to assure fair and equitable solutions.

Students are encouraged to discuss suggestions or problems with the Dean. Located in 240 Student Center.

GEORGE DEMPSTER HALL FOR COMMUNICATIONS: located west of the Roosevelt Quad, is the home of the School of Communication, with departments of Audio/Video/Film, Journalism and Mass Media Studies, and Speech Communication and Rhetorical Studies. It also houses one of the largest, most-advanced, noncommercial television facilities in the East, with two broadcast-quality studios and control rooms, one nonbroadcast studio and control room, four state-of-the-art edit suites, a C and Ku Band satellite downlinking terminal, and the control center for the University's cable television system. Also located here is the University's own radio station (WRHU-FM/88.7mHz), a Macintosh multi-media 24-workstation computer laboratory, a journalism city room, and a large dance studio.

FOOD SERVICES: five restaurants are available to the Hofstra community on the North Campus. The Student Center Main Dining Rooms and Cafe, serving breakfast, lunch and dinner, are open from 7:30 a.m. to 7:00 p.m., Monday through Friday; Saturday and Sunday hours are from 11 a.m. to 2 p.m. for brunch and 4:30 to 7 p.m. for dinner. The Rathskeller, also housed in the Student Center, is open Monday through Thursday, 11 a.m. to 7:30 p.m., and until 3 p.m. on Friday. Sbarro's Italian Eatery is open 12 noon to 2 a.m. daily.

The Netherlands, serving lunch and dinner, is open Monday through Thursday, from 11 a.m. to 7 p.m., and 3 p.m. on Friday.

For additional eating facilities on the North Campus, see Hofstra USA entertainment center.

On the South Campus, Bits 'N Bytes in Memorial Hall, is open from 7:30 a.m. to 9 p.m., Monday through Thursday and until 3 p.m. on Friday.

The Deli is located south of McEwen Hall and is open Monday through Thursday from 7:30 a.m. to 9 p.m.; Friday, 7:30 a.m. to 5 p.m.; Saturday, 8 a.m. to 3 p.m. and on Sunday, 10 a.m. to 2 p.m.

FRESHMAN ADVANCEMENT provides ongoing support services related to academic issues, student involvement, and University policies for all freshmen at Hofstra University. First-year students who have not declared a major receive their academic advisement from the Office of Freshman Advancement. Freshmen who have declared a major receive academic advisement from their department of specialization, but they should also feel free to take advantage of the support services offered by this office.

In an attempt to help new students with the transition to college, the Office of Freshman Advancement sponsors and/or cosponsors programming opportunities for Hofstra's first-year students. The programs are designed to help the new students grow mentally, socially and emotionally. Opportunities include New Student Orientation, which takes place during the summer before the freshman year. A student mentoring program called the Peer Guide Program, and Horizons, an ongoing workshop series designed to enhance new student success in college, are also sponsored by the Office of Freshman Advancement.

We invite and encourage all freshmen to use the academic and social support services provided by this office. The Office of Freshman Advancement is located in 200 Davison Hall. Students can reach the Office by calling (516) 463-6320.

HEALTH CENTER: confidential medical care is provided to Hofstra students at the Hofstra University Health Center. Health Services: all students are required to provide a physician's medical history and physical examination which includes the New York State required proof of immunization against measles (two injections), mumps and German measles. Care in the seven-bed medical facility is available. Physicians are available on a daily basis and hours are posted. The gynecology clinic is conducted weekly without charge to the student. Nurses are available for emergencies and a physician is on call at all times. If hospital care is necessary, transportation to a local hospital is provided by public safety.

Medical treatment or evaluation is not part of a student's Hofstra record.

During the summer months, the Health Center is open Monday through Friday from 9 a.m. to 5 p.m. Located on the North Campus: (516) 463-6745.

HOFSTRA USA, a casual meeting place for the Hofstra community, provides recreation, dining and dancing, a gameroom, concert facility and a theater. Kate and Willy's pub style restaurant serves lunch, Monday through Friday, 11 to 3 p.m., and dinner, 4:30 to 7:30 p.m. seven days a week. Dutch Treats, a deli/grocery store is open seven days a week; Sunday through Thursday, 11 a.m. to 11 p.m.; Friday and Saturday, 11 a.m. to midnight. The Lion's Den serves dinner Monday through Friday, 4:30 to 7:30 p.m., and is available for on and off-campus catering events. Located on the North Campus, north of Enterprise Hall.

INTERCOLLEGIATE ATHLETICS: Hofstra's athletic programs are competitive on the national level. In recent years, enthusiasm about and involvement in the athletic program at Hofstra have continued to grow. Within the program there are opportunities for all men and women athletes to compete in well-financed, quality Division I programs. The available facilities include the Physical Fitness Center on the North Campus for indoor sports such as basketball, volleyball and wrestling. Hofstra's Stadium, located on the South Campus, has facilities for outdoor sports such as football, field hockey, lacrosse and soccer.

The Hofstra Swim Center is located in the south wing of the Physical Fitness Center. The indoor Olympic-size pool is available for all swimming activities.

The University sponsors eight teams for women: basketball, cross-country, volleyball, softball, tennis, soccer, field hockey and lacrosse and nine teams for men: football, basketball, wrestling, lacrosse, soccer, baseball, tennis, golf (coeducational) and cross-country.

To be eligible for intercollegiate competition, a continuing student must have earned a minimum of 24 semester hours of credit in the preceding academic year. This minimum shall not include grades of F, W, NCr or INC. A first year student entering from high school must meet the core curriculum standards as required by NCAA regulations.

Students, faculty and staff are admitted free to all regular season athletic events.

INTERNATIONAL STUDENTS: this office is concerned with all aspects of the international student's life at Hofstra: academic, social, cultural, legal and financial. It is located in 221 Student Center.

The office tries to help each international student reach his or her educational objective by giving assistance before arrival and throughout the student's stay. The office provides an orientation program that introduces new students to Hofstra, to registration procedures, the English Language Program, academic policies, housing, health services and social activities. The director also provides information on United States immigration regulations and acts as liaison with United States and foreign governmental and educational organizations.

All students are encouraged to join the Organization of International Students which sponsors social and cultural events which are of interest to the entire Hofstra community.

INTERNATIONAL STUDY: study abroad is one of the most effective ways of learning about our world. Hofstra students have many opportunities to earn credits while studying in other countries. Undergraduate students can choose from a number of programs which have been developed over the years by the College of Liberal Arts and Sciences, New College, the Zarb School of Business, and the School of Communication.

A brief description of Hofstra programs is listed below; all Hofstra undergraduates who meet the specific prerequisites of any program are eligible and welcome to apply. Information on these programs is available in the International Students' Office, 221 Student Center, or from the individual Dean's Office, indicated below.

Students who want to pursue programs not listed below can be advised by the International Students Office about available programs elsewhere. To be eligible to receive credit towards a bachelor's degree, students must have courses approved in advance on the Permission To Enroll at Another Institution Form, available from the International Students Office or the Deans' Offices.

Hofstra College of Liberal Arts and Sciences: Dean's Office, 2nd floor, Heger Hall.

Each summer, Hofstra offers language and literature/culture programs in Nice and Madrid. Both programs involve a month of classes, Monday through Friday, which earns the student six credits of French or Spanish, plus a ten-day period of unstructured travel. Students reside with local families during their studies, thereby profiting from an invaluable experience of daily language learning. Multiple cultural excursions round out both programs.

The summer program in Italy and China differs from those in France and Spain: students travel to several cities, thus learning first-hand about the whole country. Cultural excursions as well as language instruction also fill out this program. Housing is provided in hotels or student accommodations.

January programs are offered in London and Venice. The London program concentrates on contemporary British theater. Students are housed in hotels and meet with a Hofstra professor over a three-week period to study current plays. They then see those plays performed on the stage; discussion of the performances forms an important element of the course work. Three credits in English can be earned in this program.

The three-week Venice program gives students the opportunity to earn three credits in one of the following disciplines: comparative literature, art history and architecture, or Italian. Classes meet Monday through Thursday mornings. Side trips to Florence, Padova, Burano, Murano, Torcello and cultural tours around Venice supplement classroom work. Students can enjoy weekend travel to Rome, Bologna, Milan, Verona and other Italian cities.

In addition, a tropical marine biology program is offered in Jamaica, West Indies. For a description of our facility, see Marine Laboratory listed below.

New College: Off-Campus Education Office, 2nd floor, Roosevelt Hall. The Off-Campus Education Program is an academic option open to Hofstra University students that affords undergraduates the opportunity to design and execute full or part-time field projects as interns or apprentices for academic credit.

Through Educational Programmes Abroad, students have the opportunity to attend semester length courses while participating in internships in London, Bonn, Cologne, Paris, Madrid, or in the offices of British Members of Parliament. Academic courses in the liberal arts and internships are available in many areas: advertising, business studies, education, health care, law, medical research, museum and art galleries, pressure groups and politics, retail, social sciences, theater and town planning.

Through the Institute of European Studies and the Institute of Asian Studies, students may earn credits by studying, living and working for a semester or an entire academic year at one of the IES/IAS centers. These centers are located in a number of cities in the following countries: Great Britain, Spain, Italy, France, Austria, Germany and the Commonwealth of Independent States, as well as in Australia, China, Taiwan, Japan and Singapore.

Select New College students at Hofstra University are eligible to study for one semester or an academic year at Oxford University. Students will enjoy all the main privileges of studying at an Oxford College and participating in English university life.

Frank G. Zarb School of Business: Dean's Office, 3rd floor, Weller Hall. Hofstra-Erasmus University Joint International Summer Program in Rotterdam, The Netherlands. Every summer, Hofstra University's AACSB accredited Zarb School of Business offers Hofstra students the opportunity to study at Erasmus University.

Emphasis is placed on the multicultural context of the program, since fifty percent of each class includes students from The Netherlands and other countries. In addition, classes meet on Mondays, Tuesdays and Wednesdays, which allows students to take advantage of travel opportunities on long weekends.

School of Communication: Dean's Office, 3rd floor, Dempster Hall. The School offers a January program to Israel. The Israel program, jointly offered with New College and in cooperation with the Overseas Student Program of Tel Aviv University, is a unique opportunity for students to learn about and experience this fascinating country while earning one to four credits. This three-week, interdisciplinary course focuses on Israel's media, politics, history, art and diverse cultures. Students live primarily on a kibbutz near Tel Aviv with additional stays in Jerusalem and Tiberias. They attend classes with Hofstra professors and guest lecturers at Tel Aviv University and elsewhere. They also travel throughout the country by private bus, enjoying privately-guided field trips while participating in various cultural events.

Law School: Dean's Office, 2nd floor, Law School. Study abroad opportunities also exist for students at the Hofstra Law School. The Law School holds a summer law program at the University of Nice in Nice, France. Special rules govern these programs for law students. The Law School's programs are open to law students and law graduates. Graduate students in other disciplines may also be eligible. Interested students should inquire at the Law School through the Dean's Office.

MARINE LABORATORY: Hofstra's own facility, located on the north coast of the West Indian island of Jamaica, consists of a fleet of boats, a two-story laboratory building and its own hotel, beach and dive shop.

All students, regardless of major, are eligible to enroll in tropical marine biology courses. Undergraduate and graduate courses are taught in July.

Courses other than biology, such as location photography offered by the Fine Arts Department, and solar energy offered by the Engineering Department, have also used the facility. The laboratory is available for internships, individual projects and graduate research.

For information, contact Professor Kaplan in the Biology Department.

PARKING PRIVILEGES are available to all vehicles registered with the Department of Public Safety. Only by prompt registering of vehicles (including changes in state license plate numbers when necessary), the proper display of the University parking permit, and the adherence to all parking regulations, will these privileges be assured. There is no fee for parking permits. Copies of campus vehicle regulations and parking permits may be obtained at the Department of Public Safety at the Information Center, 24 hours a day, seven days a week.

PHED (Program for the Higher Education of the Disabled) and PALS (Program for Academic Learning Skills): serve the community of individuals with disabilities on the Hofstra campus by 1) providing appropriate support services to eligible students (such as registration assistance, reader/writer/attendant care referrals, interpreters, counseling, wheelchair repair and equipment loan, TDD services, test administration and liaison with sponsoring agencies, books on tape); 2) fostering independent skills necessary for survival at Hofstra and beyond; and 3) work toward the elimination of architectural and attitudinal barriers. For further information for students with physical disabilities, contact the Director of PHED in the Advisement Office. For students with learning disabilities, contact the Director of PALS, component of the Freshman Division, School for University Studies. Please see p. 438 for the statement of compliance with appropriate Federal and State regulations.

RECREATION AND INTRAMURAL PROGRAMS: provide students, staff and faculty with opportunities to develop leisure interests through a wide variety of activities designed to complement academic pursuits. Instruction is available in a number of organized activities.

The program organizes competition in individual and team sports, which are open to all persons in the Hofstra community. There are outdoor recreation programs in camping, canoeing and backpacking. A valid I.D. card is necessary in order to participate in the programs and to use the facilities. A monthly calendar of events is available. The new recreation facility is located on the North Campus, east of Colonial Square.

RESIDENTIAL LIFE: Hofstra offers living accommodations for approximately 4,000 students in six high-rise residence halls, two 6-story suite-type buildings, two low-rise suite-type complexes, a residential complex for freshmen as well as graduate students, and an apartment complex. There are many diverse residential options including single, double, triple rooms; various types of suites; and apartments. Resident students may opt to live in special housing areas. These areas include quiet floors, smoke-free floors, and a building for international students. See page 26 for residence rates.

Additional facilities in each hall or complex include washers and dryers, kitchenettes, lounges and study areas.

The residence program promotes community development in each residence hall/complex. Each floor has a live-in resident assistant who is available to act as a resource and to initiate activities on the floor. There are programs facilitated on a regular basis that assist students in many areas including social, educational, and recreational.

The Resident Student Association (RSA) is governed by the resident students. RSA manages a budget, organizes a wide range of social and cultural events throughout the year, and serves as advocate for the rights and concerns of residence students in matters involving the University.

For information on housing, write to the Residential Life Office at the University, located in 244 Student Center or call (516) 463-6930.

STUDENT ACTIVITIES: the Office of Student Activities is responsible for supervising and coordinating the cocurricular efforts of the student body. At Hofstra, we are dedicated to the education of students outside of the classroom as well as academically. It is through the Student Activities forum that students learn, practice and sharpen the real life skills that are required for success in today's world. Among the myriad of functions performed by the Student Activities Office are supervision of the Student Government Association, clubs, fraternities and sororities, and spirit support groups. New Student Orientation, fall and spring weekends and many other programs also fall under the auspices of Student Activities.

All student club and organization activities must be cleared through this office, which oversees the budgeting of student government funds. Policies, procedures and constitutions for clubs and organizations are available here. All questions about existing or proposed clubs should be directed to this office, located in 242 Student Center, ext. 6914.

There are more than 100 active student clubs at Hofstra. These clubs represent interests in the areas of culture, creative arts, sports and more. If a student has a particular interest that is not represented, a club may be created. All that is required is ten members and approval from the Student Government Association. STUDENT CENTER: provides the facilities within which the cultural aspects of our academic-social community can develop. It is the focal point of campus community life. Here commuter and resident students meet for meals, socializing, and the business and pleasure of student government, publications, clubs, hobbies and a wide variety of special events.

In addition to dining halls, meeting rooms, the Rathskeller, Service Desk, Bookstore, Student Center Theater, a full service travel agency, a beauty parlor and several congenial lounge areas, the Center houses the following offices: Dean of Students, Director of Student Activities, Office of Residential Life, Program for the Higher Education of the Disabled (PHED), Office of International Students, Placement, Counseling, Facilities Management, Conference Services, Scheduling, and the Chaplains Offices.

See Food Services and Hofstra USA entertainment center, page 16.

SWIM CENTER: the indoor Olympic-size pool, the only one located in the metropolitan area, occupies the South wing of the Physical Fitness Center. It includes four diving boards, two moveable bulkheads, which can divide the pool for separate activities and complete support facilities: locker rooms, showers, bleachers and offices. The pool also includes an underwater observation window, the most technologically advanced electronic timing system and accessibility for the handicapped. A complete range of recreational, instructional and competitive aquatic activities are available.

UNIVERSITY CLUB, located in David S. Mack Hall, is a private membership club for members of the Hofstra community (faculty, staff, graduate students, alumni, friends and trustees). The Club offers excellent food, attractive and comfortable meeting and dining facilities as well as special events. The Club is also available on a contract basis for private social functions and business meetings. Located near the entrance to the North Campus.

UNIVERSITY TECHNICAL SERVICES, located in Butler Annex, is a division of Campus Life responsible for coordinating and approving, for standardization, the purchases of audio-visual and electronic equipment and the maintenance and repair of audio-visual equipment in use by both academic and non-academic departments. The unit installs and repairs all security systems on campus and the interfacing of fire alarm systems to the Hofstra Information Center monitoring station. It designs, installs and repairs audio and video systems throughout the Hofstra community.

EDUCATIONAL SERVICES

CERTIFICATION OFFICE: advises undergraduate and graduate students regarding the latest New York State certification requirements for teachers, school counselors, school psychologists and school administrators. This office, part of the School of Education, is located in Mason Hall, room 214.

COMPUTER SERVICES: The University Computing Center provides computing services to all sectors of the Hofstra community. The Center's staff is committed to providing professional support for all computing activities on campus.

The Center, located in McEwen Hall, houses an IBM 9121 mainframe, and DEC VAX 4600, 4705A, 6440 mini-computers. These systems provide central computing resources for teaching and research including electronic mail, and Internet services, and databases. The systems also support the Axinn Library online catalog which includes boolean search capabilities. Accounts on these systems are available to all Hofstra students and faculty members.

The IBM 9121 supports the VM/ESA 1.2 operating environment. The VAXs are organized into a VAX Cluster running the VMS 6.1 operating system. These systems are accessible from the 1,000 PCs and terminals in the computing laboratories and from faculty offices through a growing campus network.

Academic Computing manages five computer laboratories conveniently located around the campus. Four laboratories, which are staffed by trained assistants, are available to all students for completing class assignments and for personal enhancement. A fifth laboratory is not staffed but is open 24 hours a day. For convenience, all software is available on the campus network and selectable from menus. The laboratory located in Memorial Hall, contains high-end PCs for general use as well as for instructional use. A new Gallon Wing laboratory contains Power Macintoshes. A third laboratory, located in Calkins Hall, houses the Apple Macintosh computers. This laboratory also contains a multimedia laboratory with Silicon Graphics 3D and Macintosh multimedia workstations for student use. The new multimedia laboratory in McEwen Hall contains state-of-the-art hardware and software. Another facility, located in McEwen Hall, contains high-end PCs and Macintosh computers for faculty use. Several other specialized computer laboratories are located in departmental facilities, including Power Macintosh and Silicon Graphics Labs.

Academic Computing maintains a large collection of programs for student and faculty use. User guides to all the major programs and systems are available to students unfamiliar with these programs. All the major programming languages including C, C++, FORTRAN, COBOL, and Pascal, are supported. Word processing programs such as WordPerfect and MS Word; spreadsheets including Lotus and Excel; databases including dBase, Paradox and Oracle are examples of supported programs.

A wide variety of multimedia, desktop publishing and presentation graphics applications such as Adobe Photoshop and Premier, Macromind Director, Power Point and Quark XPress are also available.

Computer personnel also provide training and assistance to students and faculty on a regular basis. Computer training seminars are also regularly scheduled.

LANGUAGE LABORATORY: offers a variety of opportunities and resources to students of foreign languages, English as a Second Language (ESL) and students enrolled in Hofstra's speech program.

Fifty audio monitoring stations are available for both placement tests and required laboratory work. Hofstra television, original version of foreign films and live foreign broadcasts are available in 18 audio, video and computer stations. A 32-seat instructional classroom, equipped with audio and overhead video monitors, is available for foreign language and ESL students. Computer-assisted instruction can be obtained through multi-media (CD-ROM: IBM and Macintosh) computer stations and software in the laboratory. Classrooms are available for both group work and tutoring sessions. Located in the Learning Technology Center, 213 Memorial Hall.

THE JOAN AND DONALD E. AXINN LIBRARY: the libraries of the University (Axinn and Law) consist of more than 1,400,000 volumes including microform volume equivalents. The Axinn Library grows at a rate of about 15,000 volumes a year to accommodate the academic demands of the programs of study. The School of Law Library contains over 375,000 volumes including volume equivalents. The collection of books, cataloged according to the Library of Congress classification system, is supplemented by a substantial collection of United States documents, maps and research material in microform including ERIC microfiche. Students have free access to the circulating and reference book collections, which are in open stacks. Special Collections materials and the Periodicals Collection are in closed stacks, from which service is provided.

The Library's Curriculum Materials Center provides a variety of print and nonprint materials for students from the School of Education. The Library also administers the University Archives.

The Library's online catalog, LEXICAT, lists the cataloged books, periodicals, microforms, government documents and media held in the Axinn and Law Libraries. A local area network (LAN) in the Reference Department links 35 CD readers to a variety of databases.

The Library participates in a network of about 6,000 libraries on-line to the OCLC, Inc. computer database, which contains bibliographic and cataloging information about the holdings of member libraries, and provides excellent research and interlibrary loan data.

The Library building's ten-floor tower and two-story pavilion include a spacious Periodicals reading room, student study areas, conference rooms, faculty studies, a 1,000-volume Leisure Reading Collection, a 135-seat lecture hall and three exhibition areas. The Library will accommodate 900 readers.

Special Collections and the University Archives are located in the Library Services building on the West Campus of the University.

The Long Island Studies Institute, established in 1985, is a cooperative endeavor of Hofstra University and Nassau County to foster the study of Long Island history. Two major research collections on the study of Nassau County, Long Island and New York State are located in the Special Collections Department on the University's West Campus, 619 Fulton Avenue, Hempstead. These collections—the Nassau County Museum collection and Hofstra University's James N. MacLean American Legion Memorial collection—are available to historians, librarians, teachers and the general public, as well as to Hofstra students and faculty. Together, they offer a rich repository of books, photographs, newspapers, maps, census records, genealogies, government documents, manuscripts and audiovisual materials.

Media Services, located in the Library's east pavilion, provides faculty and students with audiovisual services to support classroom instruction in degree-related courses. Under the auspices of the Library, Media Services offers a media software collection of films, videocassettes, slides, filmstrip sets and spoken word audiocassettes and phonodiscs. The department also holds a collection of media directories and catalogs, provides media reference services, film and video renting and scheduling, film projectionists and equipment deliveries to classrooms. A media preview room is located in the Library. Audio/video duplication and slide transparency production are also provided.

MARRIAGE AND FAMILY THERAPY CLINIC: provides clinical services to individuals, couples, and families who are experiencing any type of relationship problem. The Marriage and Family Therapy model is one of empowerment that encourages persons to develop effective ways of achieving fulfilling and satisfying relationship reactions.

The Clinic provides low cost fees to enable all members of the Long Island Community to participate in the Clinic services.

The Clinic is open Monday through Friday, 9 a.m. to 9 p.m., and Saturday, 9 a.m. to 4 p.m. The Marriage and Family Clinic is located in the Saltzman Community Services Center.

PSYCHOLOGICAL EVALUATION AND RESEARCH CENTER: offers diagnostic, counseling and therapy services to children, adolescents, adults and families exhibiting a wide variety of problems related to learning, job performance, personal adjustment, stress and family harmony. The Center is staffed by supervising psychologists and graduate students in the clinical and school psychology and school/community psychology doctoral programs.

Low cost fees enable the center to provide important psychological services to the Long Island community.

The Center is open Monday through Friday from 8:30 a.m. to 9 p.m.; Saturday from 8:30 a.m. to 4 p.m. and is located in the Saltzman Community Services Center.

READING/COMMUNICATIONS RESOURCE CENTER: maintained by the Reading Department as part of its graduate program as well as a university and community resource. The Center was established as a satellite of the Educational Retrieval and Information Center (ERIC) by the national government. It has expanded into a resource which has a small circulating collection of research materials related to reading, linguistics and cognitive psychology as well as a large reference unit. Users may find research material in reading dated as far back as 1893.

The Center is open to the public Monday through Thursday, 9 to 5 p.m. and Friday, 9 to 4 p.m. It is staffed by doctoral students and faculty from the Reading Department and is located in 102E Mason Hall.

READING/WRITING LEARNING CENTER: located in the Saltzman Community Services Center, provides individual evaluations of reading/writing ability, individual and group instruction, secondary reading/writing study skills, and preparation for the verbal section of the Scholastic Aptitude Test (SAT). Services are provided directly by certified reading specialists for children, adolescents and adults. Graduate students serve as interns at the center to fulfill practica requirements.

SPECIAL EDUCATION AND REHABILITATION CENTER: an administrative unit within the areas of Special Education and Rehabilitation Counseling, is concerned with research and special projects in rehabilitation counseling and in the education of children and adults with various handicapping conditions. Center activities include short term training institutes, consultations with schools and agencies in the community, research and demonstration projects.

SPEECH-LANGUAGE-HEARING CENTER: provides diagnostic, therapeutic, counseling and referral services to children, adolescents and adults exhibiting a wide range of speech, language communicative disorders. Comprehensive audiological evaluation, hearing-aid evaluation and aural rehabilitation programs are offered.

The services of the Center are available to Hofstra students, faculty, staff and to the community at large. Referrals by self, faculty or other professionals are accepted. The Center is staffed by certified professionals who provide direct supervision to graduate students fulfilling practica requirements.

The Center, located in the Saltzman Community Services Center, is open Monday through Thursday, 9 to 5 p.m.; Friday, 9 to 4 p.m.; some evenings until 8 p.m. and Saturday mornings.

The Speech-Language-Hearing Center is fully accredited by the Professional Services Board of the American Speech-Language-Hearing Association.

CULTURAL RESOURCES

THE HOFSTRA CULTURAL CENTER (HCC) is an umbrella organization which includes a Conference and Symposia Program, a Theater Program, a Music Program, the Hofstra Museum, the Long Island Studies Institute and the publications of the scholarly journals George Sand Studies and Twentieth-Century Literature as well as the proceedings of the Hofstra Cultural Center conferences. The activities of each of these units augment the offerings of the academic departments of the University.

The Conference and Symposia Program develops educational programs related to the cultural and interdisciplinary experience of American and international students, faculty, staff and alumni; plans and coordinates conferences in the fields of the humanities, business, law and the sciences to promote the University as an international arena of scholarly thought and to foster Long Island as a cultural entity. The Center has won international recognition for its Women Writers' Conferences and for its Presidential Conference Series, which started in 1982 with the Franklin D. Roosevelt Centennial Conference, continued thereafter, with conferences on Harry S. Truman, Dwight D. Eisenhower, John F. Kennedy, Lyndon Baines Johnson, Richard Nixon, Gerald R. Ford, Jimmy Carter, Ronald Reagan, and will study each succeeding president.

The Theater Program of the Hofstra Cultural Center includes Hofstra Mid-Season. Founded in 1985, it offers a series of dramatic performances during the fall and spring semesters, often designed to augment conferences organized under the auspices of the Conference and Symposia Program. Casts include students, faculty, members of the administration, alumni as well as performers from the local community. The Theater Program also includes Hofstra USA Productions, founded in 1983.

The Music Program of the Hofstra Cultural Center includes The International Concert Series and special musical events in conjunction with conferences and symposia. The Hofstra Cultural Center arranges concerts on campus and has developed exciting working relationships with the Consulates of Austria, Germany, Italy, The Netherlands and many other countries. Musicians from these countries perform on campus as part of the International Concert Series.

The Conference and Symposia Program, the Theater Program and the Music Program maintain offices in the Student Center.

The Hofstra Museum includes five dedicated indoor exhibition spaces and the outdoor sculpture on Hofstra's north and south campus areas. It has been honored with accreditation by the American Association of Museums for maintaining the highest standards in Hofstra's continuing effort for excellence in art and artistic endeavors. The Hofstra Museum collection of more than 4,000 objects is one of the most valuable at a university in the greater New York area and contains major works of art, specializing in modern European and American painting, sculpture, photographs and prints as well as Asian, Oceanic, African and Pre-Columbian art. The Museum is responsible for over 45 pieces of outdoor sculpture in various locations throughout the 238 acre campus. Walking tour maps can be found in the galleries. The Museum coordinates about 16 exhibitions annually and provides occasional special lectures and accompanying programs. Where possible, the Museum coordinates exhibitions to support conferences conducted by the Conference and Symposia Program.

The dedicated exhibition areas of the Hofstra Museum include the Emily Lowe Gallery, the David Filderman Gallery; the Rochelle and Irwin A. Lowenfeld Conference and Exhibition Hall; Student Study Room, 9th floor, Axinn Library; and Bits 'N Bytes Cafeteria.

David Filderman Gallery (Axinn Library, 9th floor) presents exhibitions often related to University conferences, seminars, lectures and courses. Exhibitions contain works from the Axinn Library, from holdings of other institutions and individuals and from the Museum's permanent collections. Hours: Monday through Friday, 9 to 5 p.m.; Tuesday, 5 to 9 p.m.; Saturday and Sunday, 1 to 5 p.m.

Emily Lowe Gallery (Lowe Hall) offers a wide variety of programs in the visual arts which deal with contemporary and historical issues. Each academic year, major temporary exhibitions serve the educational programs of the University. The Gallery also houses the permanent art collection. Hours: Tuesday, 10 to 9 p.m.; Wednesday, Thursday, Friday, 10 to 5 p.m.; and during exhibitions, the Gallery is open on Saturday and Sunday, 1 to 5 p.m. Summer hours, when exhibits are being held (June-August): Tuesday through Friday, 10 to 4 p.m. The Gallery is closed on Mondays. The main offices of the museum are housed in Emily Lowe Gallery; Office hours are Monday through Friday, 9 to 5 p.m.

Rochelle and Irwin A. Lowenfeld Conference and Exhibition Hall, 10th floor, Axinn Library, houses exhibitions from the University's art collection and other sources. Hours: Monday through Friday, 10 to 5 p.m.; Tuesday, 5 to 9 p.m.; Saturday, Sunday, 1 to 5 p.m.

The Long Island Studies Institute, in addition to its research collections (see Axinn Library above), sponsors workshops, meetings, conferences and publications pertaining to Long Island and its heritage. Through its programs, the Institute complements various Long Island Studies courses offered by the University through the History Department, New College and University College for Continuing Education.

Twentieth-Century Literature is a scholarly and critical journal entering its forty-first year of publication. It is published four times a year and includes articles on all aspects of modern and contemporary literature, including articles in English on writers in other languages. Edited at Hofstra, the journal publishes the works of scholars throughout the United States and abroad. Each year the Andrew J. Kappel Twentieth-Century Literature prize of $500 is awarded for the outstanding essay submitted to the journal.

INSTITUTE OF THE ARTS: provides broad cultural programs for the benefit of University and community audiences. The Institute supports interdisciplinary programs that relate to and serve the creative and performing arts.

MUSICAL ORGANIZATIONS: all musically qualified students are invited to join the music organizations on campus: University Concert Band, Orchestra, Mixed Chorus, Collegium Musicum, Opera Theater, Jazz Ensemble, New Music Ensemble, Flute Ensemble, String Ensemble, Brass Ensemble, Percussion Ensemble and the Chamber Singers. Details regarding auditions, rehearsal schedules, etc., are available from the Music Department. Semester-hour credit is optional and available up to a maximum of 6 semester hours on a Pass/D+/D/Fail basis. (See page 56.) Credit for Collegium Musicum, Opera Theater, Jazz Ensemble, Flute Ensemble, String Ensemble, Brass Ensemble, Percussion Ensemble and the Chamber Singers is earned through Music 20, Ensemble.

MUSIC LISTENING ROOM: a collection of approximately 4,000 cataloged recordings available for listening in 103 Emily Lowe Hall, Monday through Thursday, 9 to 8 p.m.; Friday, 9 to 5 p.m., and Saturday and Sunday, 11 to 4 p.m.

RADIO: WRHU-FM, Radio Hofstra University, broadcasts 30 miles in all directions to much of Long Island and New York City as well as to parts of Connecticut and New Jersey. WRHU's federally licensed frequency is 88.7 MHz, FM and the station's power is 470 watts, circular polarization. The station is on the air 21 hours a day, 365 days a year and reaches a potential audience of three to four million people. WRHU broadcasts a special information program "Hofstra's Morning Wake-up Call," 7 to 9 a.m., Monday through Friday, targeted primarily for the University's students, staff, faculty, and alumni.

With the exception of the general manager, an operations coordinator and the chief engineer, employed either full or part time and certain community volunteer specialty show producers, the station is student-staffed and operated. WRHU is an integral part of the School of Communication and the station's new digital quality broadcast facility is also used for academic work and professional recording projects, for which qualified students can receive stipends. The station offers free non-credit classes in audio-engineering, announcing and production to interested students. Regular work at WRHU is recommended as one of the most effective methods of learning the business of radio broadcasting and audio production since it offers a practicum not generally available in regular academic classroom learning. WRHU has an operating staff of approximately 100 people.

The WRHU Radio Alumni also offer station participants financial and job-related assistance through The Jeffrey C. Kraus Radio Scholarship Fund.
