

109. German for Business 3 s.h.
Periodically

Introduction to the business community of German-speaking countries including economics, finance, marketing, management and computers. Business terms will be emphasized. Extensive written and conversational skills. Prerequisite: GERM 4 or equivalent or permission.

116, 117, 118, 119. Advanced Readings 1-3 s.h. each
Periodically

Designed to help students maintain proficiency in German and at the same time enhance their reading facility within their own specific field.

Prerequisites for courses 151 through 156: permission of the department, normally after 6 semester hours in the 101-106 category.

151 through 156. Masterpieces of German Literature 3 s.h. each
One course each semester

The primary objective is to develop each student's ability in the critical reading of outstanding authors in German literature taken essentially from the 18th century to the present. Readings will be chosen according to each student's prior experience and interests. Rather than a chronological approach with division into literary movements, the student will choose, upon advisement, one or more themes (e.g., the artist and society, literature of social protest, the role of women, the search for identity) which will be pursued by private reading, followed by written reports and/or oral reports to the whole class. The student who has taken four or more courses in this sequence can be expected to have gained sufficient insight into literary genres and movements to be able to undertake, in the senior year, a synthesis of German literature. A detailed personal record of reading progress will be maintained to assure the systematic development of each student's facility in literary criticism.

To be offered one per semester in a three-year cycle.

160. Translation 3 s.h.
See course description, page 450.

Courses 221 through 226 are open only to matriculated graduate students or by permission.

221 through 226. Readings in Literature or Special Studies 3 s.h. each

Periodically
Intensive study of an outstanding author, movement or literary genre. Subjects to be announced. May be repeated when topics vary.

MASTER OF SCIENCE IN GERONTOLOGY

This degree program is designed to prepare graduate students to pursue careers which will help older adults make better decisions about their own lives. The education and practical skills gained through this degree program will provide students with an interdisciplinary base of knowledge and experience which will increase their effectiveness in assisting older adults.

Students graduating from this program will have obtained a competency in gerontology with a subspecialty in either Administration of Services for the Aging or Counseling of the Aging. These subspecialties or tracks, provide students with an opportunity to pursue a program of study that is reflective of their individual needs and interests, as well as the needs and interests of older adults.

Students opting for a concentration in administration are expected to gain the necessary knowledge and skills related to management, public policy, social and health service planning, program development and evaluation of services for the aging.

Students concentrating in the counseling subspecialty are expected to develop the knowledge and skills necessary to provide direct therapeutic services to older adults. This would include vocational and health counseling, individual and family counseling and preretirement planning.

Professor Gold, Coordinator

ADMISSION REQUIREMENTS

- Applicants must hold a bachelor's degree from a fully accredited college or university with a minimum 2.5 grade-point average.
 - Admission to the Administration of Services for the Aging subspecialty requires experience or equivalent in administration and/or business and direct services.

- b. Admission to the Counseling of the Aging subspecialty requires a bachelor's degree in a behavioral science or mental health discipline.
- An interview with the Program Coordinator or representative.
 - Three letters of recommendation from recent employers or undergraduate professors.
 - Students with less than a 2.5 grade-point average must meet with the Program Coordinator to determine additional entrance requirements.

DEGREE REQUIREMENTS

- The completion of 39 semester hours of graduate study in addition to any specified prerequisites; satisfactory completion of coursework; and successful completion of a comprehensive examination or departmentally authorized equivalent. (No degree credit.)
- The Master of Science degree may be completed on a part or full-time basis. Courses are normally offered during the fall and spring semesters, with special seminars or workshops offered during the January or Summer Sessions.

PROGRAM REQUIREMENTS—39 s.h. as follows:

Core courses: 15 s.h. (required for all students in either Track)

- ANTH 215. Introduction to Gerontology: Aging in American Life, 3 s.h.
- APS 244. Aging, Public Policy & the Law, 3 s.h.
- MHAE 292. Health & Aging, 3 s.h.
- PSY 263. Current Theory & Research in Psychology of Aging, 3 s.h.
- RES 258. Understanding Research Methodology, 3 s.h.

Track I: Administration of Services for the Aging

Required courses: 12 s.h.

- GBUS 220. Applied Business Principles & Aging, 3 s.h.
- MHAE 293. Healthcare Policies, Planning & Administration for the Aging, 3 s.h.

Internship: 6 s.h.

- APS 294, 295. Administrative Internship, 3 s.h. each or
- MHAE 263B. Administrative Residency, 6 s.h.

Experienced candidates may substitute 6 s.h. of electives.

Electives: 12 s.h. (6 s.h. free electives; 6 s.h. from the following)

- APS 245. Legal Aspects of Managing Healthcare Programs for the Aging, 3 s.h.

COURSES

In addition to semester notations next to each course, a selection of courses is offered during the January and Summer sessions. Consult the January and Summer Sessions bulletins for these schedules.

248. Lifelong Learning for the Aging 3 s.h.
- Periodically

While adult learning has become a well-developed and mature discipline, less emphasis has been given to the educational and intellectual interests of the older adult. Focus on the relationship between teaching and learning, and the aging process. Emphasis on the special aspects and issues involved in lifelong learning for the more senior members of our society. Pass/Fail grade only. (Formerly CPRE; CRSR 248.)

- 251, 252. Readings 1-3 s.h. each

Fall, Spring, Summer

Directed readings on topics of interest to the student. Prerequisite: permission of instructor.

- 280 through 289, A-Z. Workshops 1-3 s.h. each
- Periodically

Designed to meet the needs of specific groups of students.

As individual subjects are selected, each is assigned a letter (A-Z) and added to the course number. Any course may be taken a number of times so long as there is a different letter designation each time it is taken.

300. Master's Essay 3 s.h.

Fall, Spring

Development and implementation of Master's Essay. Prerequisites: matriculation in Gerontology and completion of all required course work. Pass/Fail grade only. Note: this course is accepted in lieu of the Gerontology comprehensive examination. This course may not be used to satisfy part of the basic 39 s.h. requirements.

The Health Professions and Family Studies Department provides several categories of activities:

- I. Undergraduate major programs leading to the following:
 - A. B.S. Certification for teaching health education in elementary and secondary schools. (See section IA below.)
 - B. B.S. Community Health—skills and knowledge needed for assessing individual and community health needs as well as planning, implementing, and evaluating community health programs. (See section IB below.)
- II. Master of Arts: Health Administration (See section II below.)
- III. Master of Science in Health Education (See section III below.)
- IV. Master of Arts: Marriage and Family Therapy (see page 316 for program, requirements, and courses.)
- V. Professional Diploma in Managed Care (see section V below.)
- VI. Professional Diploma in Marriage and Family Therapy (see page 317 for program, requirements, and courses.)
- VII. Post-Master's Degree: Family Therapy (see page 317 for program and courses.)
- VIII. Advanced Certificate in Sex Counseling (see page 317 for program and courses.)

Please note new course prefixes:

61 through 179, A-Z will carry the prefix HPFS
230A through 304 will carry the prefix MHAЕ
305 through 389 will carry the prefix PDMC
All Marriage and Family Therapy courses carry the prefix MFT (see page 318 for programs)

I. MAJOR PROGRAMS

- A. B.S. IN SCHOOL HEALTH EDUCATION: this undergraduate major program is designed to provide students with the knowledge, methods, materials, field experiences, and student teaching necessary for a career as a health education teacher from PreK-12. Training includes the development of a broad knowledge base in the areas of health promotion, disease prevention, and program planning and implementation, with an emphasis on educational methods and techniques appropriate for a school setting. The program combines on-campus coursework with a broad array of field experiences in a variety of school settings, culminating in student teaching. Literacy, multicultural education, information technology, and inclusion are integrated throughout all areas of the curriculum. Successful completion of the program and a passing score on the New York State Teacher Certification Examinations (NYSTCE) will qualify the student to obtain initial New York State Teacher Certification.
Assistant Professor Ludwig, Adviser (Ext. 3-5885)

MATRICULATION AND CONTINUATION STANDARDS

Requirements for acceptance into the school health education major program include: meeting Hofstra University's general admissions standards and an interview with the program coordinator for advisement and scheduling.

All school health education majors must meet the following criteria to continue in the program:

1. A cumulative grade point average of 2.5 or better in the following categories:
 - a) all coursework completed at Hofstra
 - b) all required school health education major coursework.
2. Recommendation of the major adviser.
3. Recommendation of the School Health Education Program Coordinator.

Final admission to the program is made by the Chairperson of the Department of Health Professions and Family Studies upon recommendation of the department faculty.

Student Teaching Prerequisites

After completing at least 19 hours of professional education coursework, including the special teaching-methods courses, students may apply for admission into student teaching. Application forms may be obtained from the Office of Field Placement in 243 Gallon Wing and returned by October 1 for the spring semester and March 1 for the fall semester. Admission criteria are as follows: 1) a cumulative GPA of 2.5 on overall coursework or permission of adviser; 2) no grade lower than C- and no unresolved INC grades in professional education coursework; 3) a GPA of 2.5 or higher in all coursework.

See note below regarding teacher certification examinations.

Teacher Certification Requirements

Upon the successful completion of a teacher education program students will be eligible to apply for the University's recommendation for New York State certification. For Initial Certification, students are required to have passing scores on each of the New York State Teacher Certification Examinations (NYSTCE): The Liberal Arts and Sciences Test (LAST), The Assessment of Teaching Skills—Written (ATS-W), and The Content Specialty Test (CST). Students not receiving passing scores on all three examinations will not be eligible for certification. Additional information pertaining to certification can be found on page 120.

NOTE: It is strongly recommended that students complete the Liberal Arts and Sciences Test (LAST) of the New York State Teacher Certification Examinations prior to student teaching and the assessment of Teaching Skills—Written (ATS-W), and the Content Specialty Test (CST) during student teaching. All three NYSTCE's should be completed prior to graduation. Students not receiving passing scores on all three examinations will not be eligible for certification.

DEGREE REQUIREMENTS

In order to ensure that prospective teachers have a broad education in the liberal arts and sciences, all students must complete course work from each of the content areas as described on the distribution sheet for the program. The Bachelor of Science degree program in School Health Education requires 64 hours of study in the liberal arts and sciences. While the student has some flexibility, the following list of course work must be completed as part of those 64 semester hours in liberal arts and sciences. Some of the courses can be found in more than one category.

Candidates for graduation must fulfill the following requirements:

1. Successful completion of at least 128 semester hours and a cumulative grade point average of 2.5 in work completed at Hofstra.
2. At least 64 semester hours must be in liberal arts.
3. There are two requirements that must ordinarily be completed in residence at Hofstra: 15 semester hours in the major field of specialization, including student teaching, and the last 30 hours. The 15 hours need not be included within the last 30 hours.

B. B.S. IN COMMUNITY HEALTH: this undergraduate program is designed for students interested in pursuing a career in a community/public health setting and/or students seeking a health major as preparation for entry into a graduate program in a variety of health related professions. The goal of the program is to prepare scholar-practitioners who have a broad knowledge base in the concepts of wellness, health promotion, and disease prevention, as well as in community and public health services, and service delivery. Emphasis is also given to developing competencies in the assessment of individual and community health needs, as well as in the planning, implementation, and evaluation of community health programs.

The interdisciplinary approach of the program offers students, in addition to a comprehensive health core taught by specialists in their respective areas, a variety of courses taken at New College and in the Departments of Psychology, Biology, Sociology, and Counseling, Research, Special Education, and Rehabilitation. Experiential learning is facilitated through two 3-credit field experiences.

Career opportunities for graduates from this program include: positions with federal, state or local governmental health agencies, private health organizations, or voluntary health agencies. Associate Professor Schwartz, Coordinator (Ext. 35813)

MATRICATION AND CONTINUATION STANDARDS

Requirements for acceptance into the community health major program include: meeting Hofstra University's general admission standards and an interview with the program coordinator for advisement and scheduling.

All community health majors must meet the following criteria to continue in the program:

1. A cumulative grade-point average of 2.5 or better in the following categories:
 - a) all course work completed at Hofstra University;
 - b) all required community health major course work.
2. Recommendation of the major adviser.
3. Recommendation of the Community Health Program Coordinator.

Final admission to the program is made by the Chairperson of the Department of Health Professions and Family Studies upon recommendation of the department faculty.

DEGREE REQUIREMENTS

Candidates for graduation must fulfill the following requirements:

1. The successful completion of at least 128 semester hours and a cumulative grade-point average of 2.5 in work completed at Hofstra.

2. At least 62 semester hours must be in liberal arts.
3. There are two requirements that must ordinarily be completed in residence at Hofstra: 15 semester hours in the major field of specialization, including a field experience (or its equivalent) and the last 30 hours. The 15 hours need not be included within the last 30 hours.

II. MASTER OF ARTS: HEALTH ADMINISTRATION

This degree program is designed for persons interested in careers in health care management in hospitals, managed care organizations, group practices, ambulatory, long term and home healthcare settings, voluntary agencies, government and other health-related facilities.

The program is supported by the full-time faculty in the Department of Health Professionals and Family Studies and a cadre of adjunct faculty who come from executive positions in healthcare delivery systems. This range of practitioners and academicians affords the students a broad understanding of the discipline. Emphasis is placed on management theories and practices, planning and policy strategies as they relate to the administration of health service delivery systems. The curriculum includes inquiry in health and disease issues, epidemiology and needs assessment and analysis skills. Students without healthcare experience participate in an administrative residency at a health-care facility.

Applicants must hold a bachelor's degree with a minimum grade point average (GPA) of 2.75 and have a departmental interview with the program's coordinator. They must submit two current letters of recommendation and a brief essay describing their interests, activities and objectives related to the delivery of healthcare services.

Students with less than a 2.75 undergraduate GPA may be admitted with additional requirements upon the recommendation of the program adviser. The probationary period will consist of no less than 12 s.h. during which time student will be required to maintain a minimum of 3.0 GPA. The additional requirements may include the Graduate Record Examinations (GRE's) and other remedial work in research, writing, technology, etc., and will be established at the time of the interview.

Students with extensive experience in health care as clinicians or administrators may have individualized adjustments to the required sequence of the program with the recommendation of the program coordinator.

Program Coordinator: Professor Weinstein

PROGRAM: 45 semester hours distributed as follows:

III. MASTER OF SCIENCE IN HEALTH EDUCATION

This program prepares students for careers in health education with emphasis on wellness and prevention. Courses in curriculum development and techniques of instruction for the school setting and for community programs are included. This program leads to permanent certification as a K-12 health education teacher in New York State for students who have provisional licenses in health or related fields. Students who seek New York State certification as teachers and do not come from a certified discipline must fulfill additional requirements, among them a series of professional education courses (described below) and a student teaching experience.

This program is supported by the full-time faculty in this department and in the department of Counseling, Research, Special Education, and Rehabilitation. Specialized health courses are taught by teachers and other professionals from the healthcare community on an adjunct basis.

Professor Weinstein, Program Coordinator

ADMISSION REQUIREMENTS

Admission to the program requires a minimum grade point average of 2.75, a departmental interview, two current letters of recommendation and a brief statement, one to two pages describing the candidates interests, activities and objectives related to health.

Students with a grade point average of less than 2.75 may be admitted on probation with additional requirements upon the recommendation of the program coordinator. The probationary period will consist of no less than 12 credits during which the student will be required to maintain a grade point average of 3.0. The additional requirements may also include the Graduate Record Examination (GRE) and other remedial work in research, writing, and technology and will be established at the time of the interview by recommendation of the program adviser. Students must complete 24 hours in residence at Hofstra.

For candidates who want to teach in the public schools and do not hold prior teacher certification, the following courses must be completed: SED 205, 213, 264; one methods course selected under advisement and student teaching.

PREREQUISITE REQUIREMENTS:

Students may satisfy any and all of the prerequisites listed below by having completed courses in these areas as part of their undergraduate program at an accredited institution or by completing them at Hofstra. Prerequisite courses do not carry degree credit for this program and may be satisfied with 100-level courses.

PREREQUISITES:

Biology or Anatomy and Physiology, 4 s.h.
 Psychology, Sociology, or Anthropology, 3 s.h.
 First Aid including CPR, or equivalent

PREREQUISITE COMPETENCIES:

SOE 201. Research Writing/Library Literacy Workshop

IV. MASTER OF ARTS: MARRIAGE AND FAMILY THERAPY

(See page 316 for program, requirements, and courses)

V. PROFESSIONAL DIPLOMA IN MANAGED CARE

This 21 semester hour course of study beyond the master's degree (or its equivalent in an approved discipline), leads to the Professional Diploma in Managed Care. It is intended for health-care administrators, healthcare providers, and others with academic, clinical and practical experience in the delivery or management of healthcare services. The program described below is tailored to meet the present needs of the seasoned professional(s) and compliment their individual previous experiences. Opportunity for special research interests are afforded those with appropriate qualifications.

NOTE: a) one course in managed care from an approved master's degree program (or other approved advanced study), may be transferred in if it was successfully completed within the last five years; b) students may waiver and substitute two courses (under advisement only), if they can document sufficient equivalent scholarly experience from in-service or employment.

ADMISSION REQUIREMENTS

- 1) a graduate degree in one of the allied health sciences (medicine, dentistry, nursing, physical therapy, occupational therapy), healthcare management, business, etc., or another approved discipline that includes professional training in the health service delivery models. Students who have degrees outside of healthcare, must document coursework or professional experience in the field.
- 2) a minimum graduate grade point average of 3.0;
- 3) a personal interview with a faculty adviser;
- 4) a detailed resume including related professional experiences;
- 5) three letters of recommendation.

PROGRAM REQUIREMENTS

The Professional Diploma will be awarded after completion of the designated course of study described below with a minimum grade point average of 3.0.

PDMC 305.	Managed Healthcare Systems: PPO, HMO & AD	1½ s.h.
306.	Managed Healthcare Systems II	1½ s.h.

Emphasis is on themes which cut across traditional course and departmental lines; selected student papers and research may be compiled in year books of health education. Pass/Fail grade only. Prerequisites: matriculation in the department and completion of all required course work in professional education. (Formerly HPER)

NOTE: successful completion of MHAE 300 may be offered in place of either the departmental comprehensive examination or the Master's Essay in MHAE. This course may not be used to satisfy any part of the basic 33 s.h. requirement for a Master of Science degree in Education.

301, 302. Master's Essay 3 s.h. each
Fall, Spring

Supervision and instruction leading to the completion of the essay. Binding fee payable upon registration in 302. Admission by permission of department. (Formerly HPER)

303A. Portfolio Development ½ s.h.
Fall, Spring

This course is required of all students in their beginning semester. Students are instructed in the selection and assessment of products to be included in a professional portfolio. Each student collects materials throughout their graduate study to be included in their professional portfolio. Following the initial sessions of 303A, the student meets with the faculty member assigned at least once during each year of study to review the materials being collected. The student registers for their final course in the program (MHAE 303B) with the assigned professor at the conclusion of which the final portfolio is submitted. For M.S. in Health Education, M.S. in Community Health, and M.A. in Health Administration students only. Pass/Fail grade only.

303B. Capstone Experience and Presentation 1 s.h.
Fall, Spring

This experience is a collaborative effort with the faculty member to whom the student is assigned, enabling the student to demonstrate the skills and knowledge gained during graduate study. The student develops a contract describing the contents of the portfolio collected over the course of study (see MHAЕ 303A) and with faculty feedback and guidance identifying one or two research projects related to the student's particular program and interests to be undertaken during this course. For students in the M.A. in Health Administration, M.S. in Health Education, and M.A. in Community Health programs only. Pass/Fail grade only.

304. Capstone Experience 1 s.h.
Fall, Spring

This experience is a collaborative effort with a selected faculty member to enable the student to demonstrate the skills and knowledge gained during graduate study. It includes a portfolio, the contents of which will include past work in the program as well as work described in a contract resulting from this experience. The contract will be developed at the initial meeting between the faculty member and the student. The contract also requires one research project related to the student's particular program and interests and developed with faculty feedback and guidance. The research project is meant to enable the student to integrate theories and concepts from graduate course work with the student's intended professional practice setting. The completed portfolio including the research becomes a part of the student's permanent record. For students in the CAS programs only. Pass/Fail grade only.

Courses numbered 305 through 389 carry the prefix PDMC.

305. Managed Healthcare Systems: PPO, HMO and AD 1½ s.h.
Once a year

Continuing pressure to reduce healthcare delivery cost, coupled with a rapidly changing environment, has resulted in considerable change in the healthcare industry over the past several years. History (HIST)

Professor Kern, Chairperson

Professors D'Innocenzo, Eisenberg; Associate Professors Pugliese, Walsh, Yohn; Assistant Professors Bernhardtsson, Charnow, Doubleday, Parker; Special Assistant Professor Chung.

THE HARRY H. WACHTEL DISTINGUISHED TEACHING PROFESSORSHIP is held by Professor D'Innocenzo. See page 473.

The study of history is intended to give one a better understanding of oneself and the world. It is also intended to help one to think critically, to evaluate evidence, and to express oneself clearly and cogently. Understanding, thinking, speaking, writing—these are fundamental human skills useful in personal life and in any profession. The history courses listed below are all taught in ways that emphasize and assist student development of these skills.

Students may major in history, take a minor in history or simply enroll in a few courses of special interest. Basic courses in European, American, Asian or African civilization provide useful foundations for studies in many other disciplines. Advanced courses enable the student to get a closer look at the remnants of the past and at how historians go from those remnants—art, buildings, written documents—to conclusions about the past and present.

B.A. SPECIALIZATION IN HISTORY: 30 hours in history courses including the following:

- 1) at least 6 hours in European history;
- 2) at least 6 hours in American history;
- 3) at least 6 hours in one or two of the following: Asian, African, Islamic, Russian or Latin-American history, including at least 3 hours in Asian, African or Islamic history;
- 4) seminar, ordinarily taken during the junior year.

A grade of C− or better is required in each course and at least 18 of the 30 hours must be on the advanced level (three-digit courses).

Since history touches on every facet of human experience, majors should also take courses in other areas. Required: 3 hours of philosophy and 12 additional hours chosen from at least three other social sciences (see Academic Organization, page 8). Students are urged to take six hours of advanced courses in the literature of their field of interest. History majors can easily take minors in one of these areas or in another area such as computer science or business.

See complete B.A. requirements, page 84.

A MINOR IN HISTORY consists of the successful completion of 18 semester hours in history, under advisement, including no more than six hours of introductory courses. At least six hours must be in residence.

TEACHING OF HIGH SCHOOL SOCIAL STUDIES, see page 401.

PHI ALPHA THETA: an international history honor society, see page 73.

COURSES

In addition to semester notations next to each course, a selection of courses is offered during the January and Summer sessions. Consult the January and Summer Sessions bulletins for these schedules.

1, 2. Arts and Artists 3 s.h. each
 Periodically

An interdisciplinary introduction to vital issues—especially for any artist—in aesthetics, art theory, history and criticism. Centered in the visual arts, inquiry extends to other arts and beyond. Typical themes include medium; form; style; representation; semeiotics; expressive value; pragmatics of the “art world”; historical contextualism versus an “eternal present”; criticism in theory and practice.

100. Arts of the Jazz Age 3 s.h.
 Periodically

The arts in America during the first quarter of the twentieth century. Emphasis is on the work of writers, musicians, artists and architects who captured the spirit of the country. Development of modern jazz; attention to the foregrounding of jazz of improvisation, arrangement and performance as important for artists and writers as well as musicians.

141. History of Photography 3 s.h.
 Every other year

From the invention of photography, its early processes and emergence as an independent art form. Its development in the 20th century into a dominant social force, and influences on painting, film and television. (Formerly History of Photography: the 19th and 20th Centuries.)

142. Fiction and Film 3 s.h.
 Periodically

Selected readings in the novel and analysis of films that have been made from these works.

201. Renaissance Art and Culture 3 s.h.
 Periodically

Painting, sculpture and architecture from the late medieval to the Mannerist style, examined in the context of contemporary European culture during the passage from feudalism to capitalism. Religious, philosophical and literary elements in the formation of humanism; artistic diffusion and provincialism; the problem of Mannerism. (Formerly Arts of the Early Renaissance.)

202. Baroque Art and Culture 3 s.h.
 Periodically

Painting, sculpture and architecture from about 1600 to the later eighteenth century, in the context of contemporary European culture. Classical and anticlassical currents of the Baroque, the Rococo and the Enlightenment in religious, philosophical, literary and musical, as well as artistic manifestations. (Formerly Arts of the High Renaissance and Baroque.)

203. Philosophy of Criticism 3 s.h.
 Spring

Problems of significance and value in art and culture; aesthetic and critical inquiry in theory and analytical practice. The course, which takes varying interdisciplinary emphasis is conducted in the form of a colloquium in which significant texts bearing on some principal theme are read and discussed in common, with individual reports. Required of all candidates for the M.A. in Humanities (open to other qualified students with the permission of the humanities graduate coordinator).

207. Art of the 19th Century 3 s.h.
 Periodically

A survey, mainly of painting, through the main period-styles of neoclassicism, romanticism, realism, naturalism, impressionism and postimpressionism, with attention to parallel developments in contemporary culture and society. Emphasis on French, Spanish, English, and German art, with some attention to graphics (drawing; early lithography and photography).

208. Art of the 20th Century 3 s.h.
 Periodically

A conceptual as well as stylistic overview of the major movements in painting, especially in Europe, since the avant-garde challenges to academic representation of the later 19th century. The formative role of French art and the emergence of rival centers; a crisis of abstraction and figuration between the World Wars; postwar rivalry with America; conceptualism; neoexpressionism; the lingering problem of modernism.

210. Studies in American Art and Culture Since 1900 3 s.h.
 Periodically

Interrelationships between literature and the visual arts in the United States. Representative works of major writers and artists are analyzed against the background of the attitudes, tastes and values of American society. (Formerly Art in America, 1900 to the Present.)

230. Modern Photography 3 s.h.
 Periodically

The development of photography with emphasis on style. Consideration is given to the interrelationships of photography with the visual arts, film and television—thus: aesthetic affiliations of photography with the other arts. Some direct scrutiny, as far as practicable, of original prints in the Hofstra Museum collection. (Formerly, 20th-Century Photography in America.)

231, 232, 233, 234. Interdisciplinary Studies in the Humanities 3 s.h. each

231, 232: Fall; 233, 234: Spring
 Analysis of style, significance and milieu in the various arts. While the program seeks to produce a cycle of related general themes, the content of these courses may vary from year to year. 231: antiquity and the classical tradition; 232: alternative traditions (e.g., Germanic expressionism); 233: Modernism and postmodernism; 234: modern architecture and design. May be repeated for credit when topics vary.

251. Readings 3 s.h.
Fall, Spring

In consultation and under the guidance of a faculty member, students prepare a list of readings on themes in humanities. Students and faculty periodically review readings and research. Limited to those who have attended at least one semester as a matriculated student in the M.A. in Humanities program. Permission of the humanities graduate coordinator required.

268. Internship 6 s.h.
Fall, Spring

Open only to students in the M.A. in Humanities program able to arrange for supervision of work substantially relevant to their studies at a museum, library, art gallery, journal or other appropriate institutional site. Permission of the humanities graduate coordinator as well as of the sponsoring supervisor is required. The student produces a written report (not a diary or notebook) on the academic significance of his or her activities for evaluation by the sponsor. Pass/Fail grade only.

301. Master's Essay 3 s.h.
Fall, Spring

Each candidate for the M.A. in Humanities is required to write a substantial master's essay (in addition to course papers) under the supervision of an appropriate adviser. This may consist of a fresh approach to known material, provided the same thoroughness of scholarship and scholarly presentation obtain as for a more traditional research thesis.

Interdisciplinary Studies at New College

MASTER OF ARTS PROGRAM (MAP) IN INTERDISCIPLINARY STUDIES: serves students with a bachelor's degree and a strong undergraduate record who share a commitment to the intellectual and practical dimensions of the liberal arts. Students are assisted in achieving their liberal arts goals through curricula more individualized in response to student needs and interests, more flexible in requirements and more varied in modes of learning than normally found in traditional graduate-level programs. Senior Assistant Dean Contreras, M.A.P. Administrator

Components leading to the degree are:

MAP 200. An Initial Study of research and performance skills at a graduate level through a series of on-campus seminars and a library-research project.

MAP 201-203. Three learning contracts, individually constructed with the assistance of University faculty members and supervised by professionals either at the University or at an appropriate site. Contracts include library research, field research, apprenticeships, internships, laboratory work, studio participation and course attendance.

MAP 204 and 205. A master's proposal and thesis, with the theme or topic approved by the Program's core faculty, a contractual project reflecting the accumulation of research and performance skills from the preceding three contracts. For additional information, consult the New College Master of Arts Addendum. See also page 103.

Interdisciplinary Undergraduate Programs

FIRST YEAR PROGRAM (FYP)

The Hofstra College of Liberal Arts and Sciences offers first-year and upper-class students several interdisciplinary programs that provide academic opportunities not available anywhere else in the curriculum. One of these programs, FYP or First-Year Program, is open to first-year students exclusively.

Each unit in FYP consists of three courses from different departments, offered in a cluster, where the instructors coordinate and integrate the subject matter and style of teaching. Those who enroll in one of these units have the advantage of joining a small community in which students get to know one another and work together throughout the semester. Because students take the same courses, they engage in a close and intimate learning experience. Information about these programs can be obtained from the University Office of Academic Advisement.

Units and courses include the following: (courses may change from semester to semester):

190. Honors Essay 3 s.h.
Fall, Spring
Research for and the writing of a substantial essay in the field of international business. Open only to senior international business majors who are eligible for and desire to graduate with departmental honors and who secure, before registration, written permission of the department chairperson. Prerequisites: a minimum grade-point average of 3.5 in international business and a 3.4 overall, IB 154.

210. *Environmental Analysis for International Business 3 s.h.
Periodically
An intensive course in the techniques of analyzing the complex aspects of foreign and global business environments. Emphasis on the cultural, political and social characteristics of foreign regions, and how these affect the multinational firm, its operations and decisions. The central focus is on systematic development of skills and tools (e.g., scanning, cultural assessment, forecasting, risk appraisal) that international managers find useful in analyzing environmental conditions, threats and opportunities. Awareness of complexities involved in international business decisions. Prerequisites: MGT 201C, MKT 201.

219. *Global Business Decision Making 3 s.h.
Fall, Spring
Course applies a cross-functional integrative approach to analyzing, formulating and implementing organizational strategy for different sizes and types of organizations in a global setting. Course reviews the concept of global strategy and analyzes the crucial linkages between strategy development and organizational design. Production, marketing, finance, accounting, information technology, and human resources strategies are formulated and implemented in the global context. Other topics include competitive analysis, industry and firm value chain, leadership, financial and market analysis, and organizational structure and culture in the context of technological, ethical and ecological factors affecting international and global organizations. Students assess the effectiveness of different approaches to strategy by using them to examine performance of multinational companies. Prerequisites: 12 s.h. in M.B.A. advanced core courses.

257. *A-Z. Seminar: Special Topics in International Business 3 s.h.
Periodically
An advanced in-depth treatment of special topics. Current topics are explored through a variety of methods, such as lectures, projects and case studies. Prerequisites: MKT 207, permission of department chairperson, and any additional prerequisites as stated in the course schedule.

As individual subjects are selected, each is assigned a letter (A-Z) which is affixed to the course number. Students may take up to two of these courses to fulfill their major requirements so long as each seminar has a different letter designation.

304. *Advanced Research Seminar in International Business 3 s.h.
Fall, Spring
(NOTE: IB 306-308 may be offered in place of 304.) Students write an integrative paper on an assigned topic based on secondary research and then formulate a written primary data research design to investigate a specific key issue. They must formulate research questions and hypotheses, construct survey instruments and experimental designs, draft sample plans, outline data handling procedures, and prepare a comprehensive research proposal, furnishing justifications for its theoretical as well as practical significance. An oral presentation of each project is required at the conclusion of the semester. Prerequisites: completion of all core competency courses, 21 s.h. of advanced core courses or above (including QM 210, IB 219†, and at least 6 s.h. of the required 15 s.h. in the area of concentration), and permission of department chairperson.

305. *M.B.A. Honors Research Thesis in International Business 3-6 s.h.
Periodically
Student selects and designs an integrative research project with the approval and guidance of a faculty member in the area of specialization. Student is required to justify the project's significance within a decision-making framework and define the management applications of the research findings. An oral report of the research findings is presented to a faculty committee. With joint permission of the department chairperson and thesis adviser, a student may expand the M.B.A. Honors Research Thesis from 3 to 6 s.h.; the additional 3 s.h. may be counted toward elective requirements in the area of concentration. Prerequisites: minimum cumulative grade point average of 3.5, completion of all core competency courses, 21 s.h. of advanced core courses or above (including QM 210, IB 219†, and at least 6 s.h. of the required 15 s.h. in the area of concentration), and permission of department chairperson.

306. *Case Focused Research Seminar in Business 3 s.h.
Periodically
Emphasis on multiple functional areas that are taught in the Zarb School of Business. A case study approach is utilized in this course, and students are challenged to understand how decisions and policies from different functional areas are integrated within an organization. Students present detailed recommendations toward resolution of complex business problems within an industry or company which must be supported by appropriate documentation of research and analysis. Written and oral reports are required. Prerequisites: completion of all core competency courses, 21 s.h. of advanced core courses or above (including QM 210, IB 219†, and at least 6 s.h. of the required 15 s.h. in the area of concentration), and permission of department chairperson. Same as ACCT 306, BCIS 306, FIN 306, MGT 306, MKT 306.

307. *Consulting Research Project 3 s.h.
Periodically
Under the supervision of an instructor and working singularly or in a small group, students are assigned to a client organization for one semester. The students and the client organization to which they are assigned will identify the client's specific problems and objectives. Students design and complete one or more integrative consulting projects involving various business principles and conduct research. A written consulting report and an oral presentation are made to a faculty committee and the senior management of the organization. Prerequisites: minimum cumulative grade point average of 3.5, completion of all core competency courses, 21 s.h. of advanced core courses or above (including QM 210, IB 219†, and at least 6 s.h. of the required 15 s.h. in the area of concentration), and permission of the Graduate Programs Office and the department chairperson. Same as ACCT 307, BCIS 307, FIN 307, MGT 307, MKT 307.

308. *Integrative Business Simulation 3 s.h.
Periodically
Course utilizes a comprehensive and integrative computer simulation to create a variety of complex multifunctional business problems to which students must respond under varying conditions of uncertainty. A team-based approach to decision making is used in resolving problems created by the computer model.

*Open only to matriculated Zarb School of Business graduate students and/or matriculated School of Education and Allied Human Services graduate students where appropriate.

†Full-time students may take IB 219 as a corequisite.

Students are required to provide detailed reports on decisions made and to provide quantitative and qualitative justifications for their decisions. These justifications must be supported through the use of research and must be presented orally and in writing. Prerequisites: completion of all core competency courses, 21 s.h. of advanced core courses or above (including QM 210, IB 219†, and at least 6 s.h. of the required 15 s.h. in the area of concentration), and permission of department chairperson. Same as ACCT 308, BCIS 308, FIN 308, MGT 308, MKT 308. (Formerly Computer Simulation (Management Game) in International Business.)

330. *Graduate Internship 3 s.h.
Fall, Spring
A work-study program open to graduate students who are specializing in international business.

Students work a minimum of 100 hours in the semester for selected business organizations in their area of specialization. A written evaluation of a complex international business decision is prepared by the student at the completion of the course. Most internship opportunities involve some form of monetary remuneration. Prerequisites: all core competency courses or approved equivalents, 24 graduate-level credits with a 3.3 average and permission of department chairperson. (Formerly GBUS 330.)

Italian (ITAL)

Administered by the Department of Romance Languages and Literatures. Professor Bussell-Thompson, Chairperson

Professor D'Acerno; Assistant Professors Dini, Ultsch.

Literature in Translation courses, see end of Italian course listings.

B.A. SPECIALIZATION IN ITALIAN: 24 semester hours beyond ITAL 4, plus 6 semester hours in comparative literature. The adviser may direct additional courses to provide an integrated program.

Credit in a language course cannot be given to a student who has already earned credit for a higher-numbered course in the same language when the course numbers in question indicate level of comprehension and ability in the introductory and intermediate study of that language.

NOTE: language laboratory work is required in all modern foreign language courses on the 1, 2, 3, 4, level.

A MINOR IN ITALIAN consists of the successful completion of 18 semester hours in Italian beyond level 2, under advisement, with at least 6 hours in residence.

SUMMER STUDY IN ITALY, see International Study, page 17.

TEACHING A FOREIGN LANGUAGE IN HIGH SCHOOL, see page 397.

COURSES

In addition to semester notations next to each course, a selection of courses is offered during the January and Summer sessions. Consult the January and Summer Sessions bulletins for these schedules.

1. Elementary Italian 3 s.h.
Fall, Spring
Fundamentals of structure. Oral drill.

2. Elementary Italian 3 s.h.
Fall, Spring
Continuation of 1; selected readings. Prerequisite: ITAL 1 or equivalent.

2R. Review of Elementary Italian 3 s.h.
See course description, page 451.

3. Intermediate Italian 3 s.h.
Fall, Spring
Structural review, readings and conversations on culture. Prerequisite: ITAL 2 or equivalent.

4. Intermediate Italian 3 s.h.
Spring
Readings from contemporary authors. Conversational topics. Prerequisite: ITAL 3 or equivalent.

5. Advanced Reading 3 s.h.
Periodically
Development of the reading skill. While the foreign language, spoken and written is the basis of classwork and written assignments, the course aims at attaining the stage of liberated reading.

13. Summer Workshop in Italian Language and Civilization 3-4 s.h.
Summer
Given in conjunction with the Hofstra Summer Program in Italy (see International Study, page 17). Conversational topics will be supplied by daily contact with Italian life and newspapers. Designed to train students in understanding contemporary Italian usage. Additional work can earn student an additional hour credit. Prerequisite: ITAL 2 or permission of instructor.

100. Honors Essay 3 s.h.
Fall, Spring
Research and writing of a substantial essay in the field of Italian. Open only to senior majors who are eligible for departmental honors and who secure, before registration, written permission of the faculty adviser who will supervise the essay.

Prerequisites for all courses numbered 101 through 106: successful completion of 4 or permission.

101 through 106. Advanced Italian Language 3 s.h. each
One course each semester

An integrated sequence of courses, rather than six individual courses, this sequence gradually develops the student's proficiency in the spoken language, in writing (including grammar) and in reading. Text material ranges from simple stories to more sophisticated language and includes culture and civilization topics. The individual student's needs and wishes determine the exact nature of each course. A detailed personal record is maintained to assure the development of each student's skills.

To be offered one per semester in a three-year cycle; may be taken in any order.

108. Individualized Oral Communication ½ s.h.
See course description, page 451.

109, 110. Italian Conversation and Oral Practice 3 s.h. each
Once a year
Intensive training in oral practice and self-expression. Prepared discussion on assigned topics with definite vocabulary preparation, oral reports and oral criticism of Italian literature.

111. Advanced Italian Grammar 3 s.h.
See course description, page 451.

116, 117. Advanced Readings 1 s.h. each
Periodically
Designed to help the student maintain proficiency in Italian and at the same time enhance the reading facility within the specific field. Prerequisites for the courses listed below: 101 and 102 or permission.

*Open only to matriculated Zarb School of Business graduate students and/or matriculated School of Education and Allied Human Services graduate students where appropriate.
†Full-time students may take IB 219 as a corequisite.

151 through 156. Masterpieces of Italian Literature 3 s.h. each

One course each semester

The primary object is to develop each student's ability in the critical reading of outstanding authors from the beginning to the present. Readings are chosen according to each student's prior experience and interests. Rather than a chronological approach, with division into literary movements, the student chooses, upon advisement, one or more themes (e.g., the artist and society, literature of social protest, the role of women, the search for identity) which is pursued by reports to the whole class. A detailed personal record of reading progress is maintained to assure the systematic development of each student's facility in literary criticism.

To be offered one per semester in a three-year cycle; may be taken in any order.

160. Translation I 3 s.h.

Every other year

Analysis and study of techniques and problems inherent to the translation process. Intensive exercises from Italian into English and English into Italian. Journalistic, editorial and literary texts are used.

LITERATURE IN TRANSLATION (ITLT): 40, 68, 69.

40. Nature, Gender, and Sin in Pre-Modern Italy # 3 s.h.

Once a year

Transformations in the concepts of sin, love, and nature and their implications for the representation of gender in the period from 1250 to 1600. Students study such authors as Vittoria Colonna, Gaspara Stampa, Jacopone da Todi, the stilnovisti, Dante, Petrarch, Boccaccio, Castiglione, Machiavelli, Ariosto, and Tasso. (Formerly LIT 67, Italian Literature of Medieval and Renaissance Periods.)

68. Highlights of Italian Literature 3 s.h.

Journalism (JRNL)

Administered by the Department of Journalism and Mass Media Studies

Professor Greene, Chairperson

Associate Professors Knowlton, Krein; Assistant Professors Fletcher, Frisina, Hey.

Candidates for graduation from the School of Communication with the degree of Bachelor of Arts must fulfill the B.A. requirements as listed under the School of Communication on page 116. In addition, students majoring in Journalism must complete the program requirements listed below plus a liberal arts minor from one of the following: any minor in the College of Liberal Arts and Sciences, or the Department of Speech Communication and Rhetorical Studies. The minor must consist of 18 semester hours as defined by that discipline, of which at least 6 hours must be taken in residence.

(NOTE: Major and minor fields will be listed on the student's record. Only courses acceptable for the major may be applied toward the minor, and only with grades of C- or better. Pass/D+/D/Fail credit will be given toward an academic minor for courses offered only on this basis.)

Journalism and Public Relations majors transferring to Hofstra may bring no more than six journalism credits from other schools for use in satisfying journalism major requirements at Hofstra. These six credits are subject to the approval of the Department of Journalism and Mass Media Studies of the School of Communication. Transfer credits are approved only for those courses meeting the department's curriculum requirements and course standards.

All department majors must have a minimum grade point average of 2.5.

B.A. MAJOR IN PRINT JOURNALISM: 36 s.h.

27 s.h.—SCO 2, JRNL 1, 11, 13, 15, 53, 72 or 50, 170, and MASS 104

9 s.h.—chosen under advisement from JRNL 20, 50, 54, 56, 58, 72, 80, 180-189, A-Z, and 199

The School of Communication also requires that Print Journalism majors take SCO 3 and SCO 4.

B.A. MAJOR IN BROADCAST JOURNALISM: 36 s.h.

30 s.h.—SCO 2, JRNL 1, 11, 13, 15, 16, 17, 170, AVF 26, and MASS 104

6 s.h.—chosen under advisement from JRNL 20, 21, 58, 72, 76, 80, 180-189, A-Z, and 199

The School of Communication also requires that Broadcast Journalism majors take SCO 3 and SCO 4.

For additional programs offered in the Department of Journalism and Mass Media Studies, see page 320.

A MINOR IN JOURNALISM consists of the successful completion of 18 semester hours in journalism, with at least 15 semester hours in residence, with the approval of the adviser. Only 3 s.h. (one course) in Journalism will be accepted as transfer credit for a minor in Journalism. Students who minor in Journalism must complete the following sequence of courses: 15 s.h. consisting of JRNL 1, 11, 13, 15; MASS 104; and 3 s.h. under advisement.

B.A. MAJOR IN PUBLIC RELATIONS: 36 s.h.

33 s.h.—SCO 2, JRNL 1, 11, 15, 60, 62, 63, 64, 67, 170, SPCM 7

3 s.h.—chosen under advisement from JRNL 53, 56, 80

NOTE: The following Zarb School of Business courses are prerequisites for certain Public Relations courses:
MKT 101 for JRNL 62
MKT 131 for JRNL 63

The School of Communication also requires that Public Relations majors take SCO 3 and SCO 4.

Public Relations majors are strongly encouraged to take the following University core courses: ECO 7, PSC 1.

A MINOR IN PUBLIC RELATIONS consists of the successful completion of 18 semester hours in Public Relations, with at least 15 semester hours in residence, under advisement, and with the approval of the adviser. Students who minor in Public Relations must complete the following sequence of courses: JRNL 1, 11, 15, 60, 62, 63.

Fall, Spring

Introduction to news reporting and writing for radio and television; differing imperatives of broadcast and print journalism; equipment familiarity; the broadcast newsroom use of pictures and sound to convey news reports; emphasis on writing on time; structure of the broadcast news package. Outside community research and reporting time is required. Prerequisite: JRNL 13 or 60. No liberal arts credit. (Formerly COMM 78; Broadcast Journalism.)

16. Broadcast News II 3 s.h.
Fall, Spring

An intensive workshop where students use their journalism skills to research, write, report, and edit a weekly broadcast-quality news show (News and Views). With an emphasis on developing advanced writing skills and facing ethical problems, the course requires participants to work with advanced video/television students in the actual production of the newscast. Outside community research and reporting time are required. Prerequisites: JRNL 13 and 15; SCO 4; AVF 26. Same as JRNL 120. No liberal arts credit. (Formerly JRNL 120, Electronic News Laboratory I.)

17. Broadcast News III 3 s.h.
Fall, Spring

This course emphasizes interview techniques, the series, and short documentary news formats for radio and television and the writing and production of the videotape story for television news. Professional and ethical issues for the broadcast journalist are considered. Outside community research and reporting time is required. Prerequisite: JRNL 16. (Formerly COMM 193, Advanced Broadcast Journalism; Intermediate Broadcast Journalism; Advanced Broadcast News.)

20. Survey of News Issues 3 s.h.
Fall

An examination of six to ten important, current news stories—regional, national and international—their contexts, the issues involved, and how these stories are being pursued, developed, and presented by newspapers, radio, TV, online, and other mainstream news sources. A critical assessment of the various approaches to these stories provides the focus to evaluate the various factors influencing news handling, writing, editing, and play. Prerequisite for Journalism majors: JRNL 15 or permission of instructor. Same as MASS 20. (Formerly COMM 80: Survey of the News Media.)

21. Critical View of Broadcast Media 3 s.h.
Spring

Critical survey of the electronic media. Broadcast regulations and access, politics, news and investigative reporting, advertising and audience measurement, sex and violence, television drama, children's and public broadcasting are discussed and analyzed. Current issues and the electronic media's approach to them are also discussed. Outside community research and reporting time is required. Prerequisite: JRNL 15 or permission of instructor. (Formerly COMM 9, Critical View of the Electronic Media: Television, Cable and Radio; Critical View of Electronic Media.)

50. Feature and Magazine Writing 3 s.h.
Fall, Spring

Writing and reporting of feature news stories for print with special emphasis on stories intended for magazine publication. First section of a two-segment magazine writing sequence. This course may be substituted for JRNL 72. Outside community research and reporting time is required. Prerequisite: JRNL 13. (Formerly COMM 186; Feature Writing.)

53. Copy Editing 3 s.h.
Fall, Spring

An advanced course in preparing raw copy for publication, with the emphasis on newspaper and newsmagazine journalism. Skills emphasized include analyzing story structure, mastering paper and electronic research tools, spotting and filling "holes" in stories, improving language skills (punctuation, syntax, etc.) sharpening news judgment and writing headlines. Students learn to spot and correct unintended bias, illogical argumentation, unwarranted conclusions, historical fallacies and other pitfalls of undisciplined thinking, discourse and writing. Strong language skills required. Outside community research and reporting time is required. Prerequisite: JRNL 13.

54. Advanced Feature and Magazine Writing 3 s.h.
Fall, Spring

Workshop experience in the preparation of material for periodical publication from concept to final appearance in print. Each student will conceive, write and edit publishable nonfiction articles on a variety of topics. Prerequisite: JRNL 13 and 50. (Formerly COMM 188; Magazine Writing and Editing.)

56. Desktop Publishing 3 s.h.
Fall, Spring

Students learn the necessary skills to design their own publications, from newsletters to newspapers, employing state-of-the-art software that includes Quark, Adobe Photoshop and other publishing programs. No liberal arts credit.

58. Editorial and Review Writing 3 s.h.
Periodically

The theory and practice of writing opinion and criticism. Examination of the work of leading editorial writers and critics. Emphasis is placed on the reporting and writing required to marshal evidence to build a cogent and convincing case. Requires several evening assignments of cultural events. Outside community research and reporting time is required. Prerequisite: JRNL 13. (Formerly COMM 102, Critical Practices in the Communication Arts; Review Writing.)

60. Fundamentals of Public Relations 3 s.h.
Fall, Spring

Focusing on public information from two viewpoints—the communicator's and the receiver's—this course explores the dissemination of public information and its effect on contemporary culture. Lectures, discussions, and practical projects provide, from social and ethical perspectives, firsthand experience in the analysis of public information and media employed. Seminar-workshop includes student evaluation of case studies and guest lectures. Outside community research and reporting time is required. Prerequisite: JRNL 11. (Formerly COMM 190; Public Information and Public Response.)

62. Public Relations Research Methods and Assessment 3 s.h.
See course description, page 457.

63. Public Relations Copywriting 3 s.h.
See course description, page 457.

64. Public Relations Case Studies 3 s.h.
See course description, page 457.

67. Public Relations Campaigns 3 s.h.
See course description, page 457.

72. Investigative and Depth Reporting 3 s.h.
Spring
An introduction to investigative reporting and reporting in depth also known as explanatory reporting. Students study the role of investigative and public service reporting in the context of modern democracy. They learn advanced reporting techniques, compilation and analysis of data, and how to write and package longer stories and series for newspapers and magazines. Some material is presented in lecture, but much of the course involves individual, team, and classroom projects. By permission only. Prerequisite: JRNL 15.

76. Advanced Broadcast Journalism 3 s.h.
See course description, page 457.

80. Online Journalism 3 s.h.
See course description, page 457.

150, 151. Independent Study/Readings in Mass Media Studies 1-3 s.h. each
Fall, Spring, Summer
Individualized projects in mass media including historical, critical and analytical studies. Open only to juniors and seniors in the Department of Journalism and Mass Media Studies who secure, before registration, written permission of the instructor who will supervise the study. May be repeated up to 6 s.h. in different subject areas. Prerequisite: permission of department chairperson. (Formerly COMM 110, Readings in Communications.)

170, 171. Internships 3 s.h. each
Fall, Spring, Summer
An internship program that affords students an opportunity to apply their classroom experience in a professional work setting appropriate to their major field of study. Students must work 120 hours and complete a paper relevant to their work experience. Bi-weekly meetings with supervising faculty are required. Prerequisites: JRNL 13 and permission of adviser.

180-189, A-Z. Special Topics 1-4 s.h. each
Periodically
Designed to meet the needs of individual and specific groups of students interested in special topics not covered by other course offerings.

As individual subjects are selected, each is assigned a letter (A-Z) and added to the course number. Any course may be taken a number of times as long as there is a different letter designation each time it is taken.

Not all Special Topics courses in Journalism are for liberal arts credit.

199. Departmental Honors 3 s.h.
Fall, Spring
Research in and the writing of a significant publishable paper on a subject approved by the supervising professor. Open only to seniors in the Department of Journalism and Mass Media Studies who desire to graduate with departmental honors and who secure, before registration, written permission of the instructor who will supervise the essay or project. Cumulative grade point average must conform with departmental honors as defined on page 71 under eligibility requirements. (Formerly COMM 199.)

Labor Studies (LABR)

Administered by the Department of Economics/Geography.
Associate Professor Wiley, Chairperson

The world of work has, throughout history, been as controversial as it is crucially important in most people's lives. Labor Studies is an interdisciplinary program designed to offer students a broad background in the multiple perspectives on and different analytical approaches to labor issues in an international context. The program coordinates courses from departments throughout the university, and includes opportunities for independent course work and internships with business firms, nonprofit agencies, and labor unions. It prepares students for graduate programs in labor and industrial relations and in related areas of business, education, law, public administration, and the social sciences, as well as for a wide range of careers in business, government, law, teaching, and labor unions.

B.A. SPECIALIZATION IN LABOR STUDIES: 33 semester hours, with no more than 15 semester hours from a single major academic area, distributed as follows:

- 1) Required Courses: BLAW 114, ECO 141, HIST 157, LABR 1, 180, MGT 172
- 2) Elective Courses: total of 15 semester hours, with one chosen from each of the following categories (a-e):
 - a) Historical Context
 - HIST 114. *Europe 1848-1914
 115. The Afro-American in American History, 1619-1865
 116. The Afro-American in American History, 1865 to the Present
 140. *Economic History of the United States (credit given for this course or ECO 140, not both)
 149. *Women in America
 169. Immigrants & American Society
 - b) Unions, Management, and Dispute Resolution
 - BLAW 118. Litigation & Alternate Dispute Resolution
 - MGT 121. Human Resources Management
 122. Advanced Topics of Organizational Recruitment & Selection
 - LABR 170. Internship in Labor Studies
 - c) Work Force Diversity
 - ECO 121. Economics of Discrimination
 - SOC 134. Race Relations in the United States
 140. Social Inequality
 - d) Psychology and Sociology of Work
 - ANTH 115. Culture & Class: Transcultural Studies in Poverty
 - PSY 33. Industrial Psychology
 34. Organizational Psychology
 - SOC 106. Work, Alienation & Power in Social Life
 - e) The Global Labor Force
 - ANTH 112. Anthropology of the Global Economy
 - ECO 142. *International Economics
 145. Comparative Economic Systems
 - GEOG 103. Urban Geography
 135. Economic Geography

SOC 32. Women & Development (credit given for this course or ANTH 32, not both)

*With approval of the Labor Studies Director, based on appropriate course content.

A MINOR IN LABOR STUDIES consists of the successful completion of 18 semester hours with at least 6 semester hours in residence, distributed as follows: 3 semester hours of LABR 1. Introduction to Labor Studies; 9 semester hours of other Labor Studies courses required for the major; and 6 semester hours of Labor Studies electives (no more than 1 elective from each elective category, a-e), approved by a member of the Labor Studies Advisory Committee.

NOTES:

- 1) Since all courses are not offered every semester, consult the Class Schedule and an adviser from the Labor Studies Advisory Committee before registering for your program. Some required and elective courses have prerequisites, described in the Hofstra University Bulletin. Students should make themselves aware of any prerequisites in their advance planning for completion of the major or minor. Students should also be aware that prerequisites for many courses may be waived by the course instructor on a case-by-case basis.
- 2) Relevant special topics courses and independent studies given in any department may also be acceptable for the major and the minor, with the approval of the Labor Studies Director.
- 3) It is recommended (but not required) that students majoring in Labor Studies combine the major with a major or minor in a regular, non-interdisciplinary department. This ensures the recognition of a traditional discipline by graduate schools and prospective employers, as well as providing students with additional background in a related field.

COURSES

In addition to semester notations next to each course, a selection of courses is offered during January and Summer sessions. Consult the January and Summer Sessions bulletins for these schedules.

1. Introduction to Labor Studies 3 s.h.
 See course description, page 451.

170. Internship in Labor Studies 3 or 6 s.h.
 Fall, Spring, Summer

This course aims to deepen students' understanding of fundamental issues in labor studies through practical work experience in a labor union, corporation, or other for-profit or not-for-profit organization. The three-credit option requires students to work at an approved off-campus site six hours per week, and to spend another three hours weekly in related academic activities specified by the faculty adviser. The six-credit option requires twelve hours weekly at the approved off-campus organization and six hours of related academic work. Each internship will be organized and supervised by a full-time faculty member from the Labor Studies Advisory Committee. Prerequisites: permission of Labor Studies Director, a minimum gpa of 3.0 in Labor Studies courses and 3.0 overall, and completion of 18 s.h. of Labor Studies courses prior to beginning the internship.

180. Senior Seminar in Labor Studies 3 s.h.
 See course description, page 451.

Latin American and Caribbean Studies (LACS)

Administered by the College of Liberal Arts and Sciences. Program Director, Associate Professor Wiley, Department of Economics/Geography

Latin American and Caribbean Studies is an interdisciplinary program that offers a wide array of courses on Latin America, the Caribbean, and related diasporas in the United States. The program coordinates courses from departments throughout the University; it also offers senior seminars and opportunities for independent course work.

By studying the geography, politics, economies, histories and cultures of Latin American and Caribbean countries, LACS majors develop a solid knowledge of the region and its relations with both the United States and Europe. This knowledge is indispensable in the modern era of integrated economies and societies increasingly shaped by immigration and the coexistence of diverse cultures. Majoring in Latin American and Caribbean Studies thus prepares students to be more informed and effective citizens. It also prepares them for careers in translation, international business, law, and government, as well as for advanced study in Latin American and Caribbean Studies, and in the sub-fields that feed into it, such as geography, history, political science, or literature and culture.

B.A. SPECIALIZATION IN LATIN AMERICAN AND CARIBBEAN STUDIES: 33 semester hours, with no more than 15 semester hours from any one major academic area, distributed as follows:

1. 3 semester hours of an advanced reading course in Spanish or French (SPAN 5 or FREN 105), or demonstration of equivalent competency in these languages or in Portuguese. The advanced reading course is not counted as part of the 15 s.h. of courses allowed for any one major academic area.

2. 12 semester hours of the following primary courses; students must take at least one course from each category:

PRIMARY COURSES:

Economics and Geography

- ECO 110. Economics of Latin America (credit given for ECO 110 or SEG 60E, but not both)
- SEG 20. Political Economy of Contemporary Latin America (New College) (credit given for ECO 110 or SEG 20, but not both)
- GEOG 140. Geography of Latin America

Literature and Culture

- SPAN 113B. Culture and Civilization of Latin America
- SPLT 58. The Empire Writes Back: Autobiography and Resistance in Colonial Spanish America
- ANTH 105. Peoples and Cultures of Latin America (credit given for ANTH 105 or SAG 5 but not both)
- SAG 5. Peoples and Cultures of Latin America (credit given for ANTH 105 or SAG 5 but not both) (New College course)

History and Political Science

- HIST 142. Latin America: 1810 to the Present
- PSC 130. Latin American and Caribbean Politics

3. 15 semester hours of the following elective or comparative courses, 6 hours of which must be upper level or more specialized courses (marked with an asterisk*). Students are encouraged to take up to 6 hours of comparative courses, but no more than 6 hours of such courses can count toward the major. Students may take as electives any primary course except those taken to fulfill the primary requirement.

ELECTIVES

- *AFST 156. Economic and Social History of the Caribbean From Slavery to National Independence
- ANTH 105. Peoples and Cultures of Latin America (credit given for ANTH 105 or SAG 5, but not both)

A MINOR IN LATIN AMERICAN AND CARIBBEAN STUDIES consists of the successful completion of 18 semester hours, under advisement, with at least 6 hours in residence, divided as follows: 9 s.h. of primary courses and 6 s.h. of electives/comparative courses (only 3 hours of a comparative course), and 3 s.h. of the senior seminar. Students must take at least one primary course from each of the three areas, as outlined above in the section pertaining to the primary requirements for the major. See the B.A. Specialization in Latin American and Caribbean Studies for a complete listing of primary, elective, and comparative courses. Students may take as electives any primary course except those taken to fulfill the primary requirement. Language requirement: The student must satisfy the University language requirement in either French or Spanish or demonstrate equivalent competency in these languages or in Portuguese.

NOTE: Relevant special topics courses and independent studies given in any department are acceptable for the major with the approval of the LACS director.

COURSES

In addition to semester notations next to each course, a selection of courses is offered during January and Summer sessions. Consult the January and Summer Sessions bulletins for those schedules.

Liberal Arts Colloquia (LA)

Administered by the Dean and the curriculum committees of Hofstra College of Liberal Arts and Sciences.

15. Multidisciplinary Regional Study 3 s.h.
Periodically

A particular nation or region, for example Canada or the West Indies, presented for introductory study in a variety of approaches drawn from the disciplines of the social sciences and humanities. Reserved for nations or regions not already the focus of Hofstra programs. Particular subject for each offering announced in advance.

Liberal Arts Major

Administered by the Dean of Hofstra College of Liberal Arts and Sciences.

B.A. SPECIALIZATION IN LIBERAL ARTS: designed for students who wish to pursue studies in several areas rather than concentrate in one discipline. It offers more options than the traditional major for students with diverse interests.

The student chooses three areas of concentration from the departments and programs in the College of Liberal Arts and Sciences. The areas of concentration may be chosen from the same or from different divisions.

The major consists of at least 60 credits in the three areas of concentration in nonintroductory courses for which liberal arts credit is given, with a minimum of 18 credits in each of the three areas. Only courses permitted for the major or minor may be applied to the Liberal Arts major. In departments that require eight or more credits of introductory courses as a prerequisite for all further courses, only 15 credits above the introductory level are required, but the total of 60 credits still applies. (A list of introductory-level courses, which do not count toward this major, is available in the Office of the Dean of Hofstra College.)

At least six semester hours in each of the three areas of concentration must be completed in residence at Hofstra.

Candidates for this degree may take no more than one course among all three areas of study on a Pass/D+/D/Fail basis, not counting those courses normally given on the Pass/D+/D/Fail basis.

Students who wish to elect this major should apply to the Office of the Dean of the College, preferably no later than the sophomore year.

Transcripts will read Bachelor of Arts in Liberal Arts with the three areas of study listed.

See complete B.A. requirements, page 84.

Library Information and Technology (LIBR)

Administered by the College of Liberal Arts and Sciences Dean's Office.

1. Introduction to Technology and Information Literacy 1 s.h.
See course description, page 452.

Linguistics (LING)

Administered by the Department of Comparative Literature and Languages. Professor Donahue, Chairperson

Professor Leonard, Adviser

MINOR IN LINGUISTICS, see page 175.

MASTER OF ARTS IN APPLIED LINGUISTICS (TESL): this program is designed to broaden the theoretical and practical base of people involved in all aspects of working with adult or college-level non-native speakers of English including teaching, materials development and publishing or related areas. The program shares a common core of courses with the M.S. in Ed. program leading to primary and secondary school certification in TESL for New York State.

For further information, contact Assistant Professor Greaney, English Language Program.

ADMISSION REQUIREMENTS

- 1) A bachelor's degree from an accredited institution with a background in linguistics and a major in TESL, English, a foreign language, linguistics, reading or other related area;
- 2) Proficiency in English including reading, writing, and speaking;
- 3) 12 semester hours of foreign language study including at least 6 hours at the 100-level or equivalent;
- 4) A letter of recommendation from a college instructor and an interview with the coordinator of the master's program;
- 5) If the student's background shows deficiencies in foreign language study or linguistics, admission will be conditional until deficiencies are made up by taking some undergraduate courses without graduate credit, as specified by the adviser.

DEGREE REQUIREMENTS

- 1) The completion of a minimum of 36 semester hours, of which a total of 30 must be taken in the primary courses and linguistic track;

- 2) Completion of a supervised research project in conjunction with the LING 299 seminar course.

 Periodically
 Directed investigation of topics in any of the various subfields of linguistics such as phonological rules and representations, syntactic change, semantics, language and social/psychological behavior, and artificial intelligence and natural language processing. Subjects to be announced yearly. May be repeated when topics vary.

190. Formal Grammars 3 s.h.
 Periodically
 Natural language as a formal system. Various types of grammars: finite state, context-free and transformational grammars. These systems are studied from the algebraic, automata and the rewriting rule points of view. Prerequisite: a total of 6 s.h. from linguistics, mathematics or computer science courses.

210. Second Language Acquisition 3 s.h.
 Once a year
 Designed to familiarize students with current issues in second language acquisition. The course examines the linguistic, psychological and sociocultural processes that relate to second language acquisition. The relevance of such findings for classroom teachers is explored.

#Core course

212. Workshop: English Language Program 3 s.h.
Every other year

Field experience in the tutorial component of the English Language Program and classroom observations. Overview of the various methods and materials used in teaching English as a second language to college students.

262. Applied Linguistics 3 s.h.
Every other year

Application of current linguistic theory to problems in the teaching and learning of language. Topics include varieties, contrastive studies, the learner's language, the syllabus and pedagogic grammars, evaluation and testing and computer assisted language instruction.

299. Seminar: Applied Linguistics 3 s.h.
Every other year

Reading and analysis of research literature in applied linguistics. Individual supervised research and discussions of investigations undertaken by students in their areas of specialization. Prerequisite: 15 s.h. in linguistics or related areas in 200-level courses.

Literacy Studies (LYST)

Due to changes in the New York State teacher certification regulations, students completing (finishing) degree programs after December 2003 and who are seeking Hofstra's recommendation for teacher certification, may have to complete additional requirements for their program of study.

Consult your faculty adviser for information pertaining to your particular program.

The following areas are administered by this department and listed independently: Reading, and Writing.

Professor Taylor, Chairperson

Assistant Professor Flurkey, Director of the Reading/Writing Learning Clinic

Special Associate Professor Lima: Assistant Professors Cohen, Goodman, Henry, Zaleski; Special Assistant Professor Garcia.

The Department of Literacy Studies offers a Master of Science in Education in Literacy Studies with either an elementary or secondary emphasis; a Master of Science in Education in Literacy Studies and Special Education; a Master of Arts in Reading, Language, and Cognition; a Master of Arts in the Teaching of Writing; a Certificate of Advanced Study in Reading; a Certificate of Advanced Study in the Teaching of Writing; a Doctor of Education in Reading, Language, and Cognition; and a Doctor of Philosophy in Reading, Language, and Cognition.

Program Statement

The faculty in Literacy Studies is committed to the exploration of issues of literacy and social justice. Our degree programs have been updated and are designed to maximize opportunities for students to work closely with a faculty that is committed to excellence in teaching. The faculty has received national and international recognition for their research and scholarship. They are committed to providing students in Literacy Studies with opportunities to participate in intellectual discussions that frame current understandings of school literacy practices and literacy practices that occur in family and community settings. The Literacy Studies Department provides support for families and communities as well as teachers and students in public schools on Long Island and in the New York Metropolitan area.

MASTER OF SCIENCE IN EDUCATION IN LITERACY STUDIES BIRTH THROUGH GRADE 6 AND GRADE 5 THROUGH 12 CERTIFICATION

The degree has been updated to meet the new regulations on teacher education proposed by New York State. These programs prepare students to meet the educational requirements for K through 12 reading certification and are designed to meet the requirements for the new certification of Teachers of Literacy, Birth through Grade 6; or Teachers of Literacy, Grades 5 through 12. The degree provides students with the opportunity to participate in classes that focus on the most current understandings of literacy and pedagogical practices. Students are prepared for the following teaching positions:

1. Classroom teachers with advanced preparation in literacy instruction.
2. Literacy specialists with advanced preparation in one-on-one and small group instruction in literacy processes.
3. Literacy specialists prepared to work collaboratively with classroom teachers in designing and implementing effective literacy instruction in inclusive environments.

ADMISSION REQUIREMENTS

(1) B.A. or B.S. degree, with minimum GPA of 3.0; (2) two letters of recommendation; (3) interview with faculty member in Literacy Studies; (4) possession of a New York State Initial Teaching Certificate.

Notes: (1) Admission to graduate study requires a baccalaureate degree with a general core in liberal arts in order to meet New York State certification requirements. See department for details. (2) Graduate students who enter a program of study on a nonmatriculated basis are limited to a maximum of twelve semester hours of course work. (3) A maximum of 6 semester hours of advanced standing will be accepted for relevant course work taken elsewhere.

DEGREE REQUIREMENTS

(1) Completion of minimum of 36 semester hours in prescribed courses with a minimum grade point average of 3.2; (2) successful presentation of final portfolio to faculty committee.

LITERACY STUDIES: BIRTH THROUGH GRADE 6

Program of Study

The sequence presented below is recommended. However, Phase I courses must be completed before entering Phase II. LYST 300 must be taken as part of the first 12 semester hours of study. LYST 301 must be taken as part of the final 12 semester hours of study. Electives may be taken at any time.

Phase I: 19 semester hours

- LYST 210. Introduction to Literacy Studies, 3 s.h.
211. Language & Literacy in Urban Settings, 3 s.h. or
212. Ethnicity, Family & Schooling: Implications for Literacy Instruction, 3 s.h.
213. Introduction to Bilingual & Biliteracy Instruction for Children & Adolescents, 3 s.h.
214. Language & Literacy in Early & Middle Childhood, 3 s.h.
216. Literacy Learning at Home & at School, 3 s.h. or
218. Reading & Writing Practices in Early & Middle Childhood, 3 s.h.
220. Literature in the Lives of Young Children, 3 s.h.
300. Introduction to Portfolio Preparation, 1 s.h.

Phase II: 13 semester hours

- LYST 240. Assessment & Evaluation of Reading & Writing, 3 s.h.
 241. Miscue Analysis & Retrospective Miscue Analysis, 3 s.h.
 242. Literacy Practicum: Assessing the Complexity of Student Learning (Birth through Grade 6) 3 s.h.
 250. Literacy Teacher as Researcher, 3 s.h. or
 251. Children & Adolescents as Ethnographers in Communities & Schools, 3 s.h.
 301. Portfolio Advisement & Presentation, 1 s.h.

Electives: 4 semester hours

Any graduate course in the School of Education and Allied Human Services or the University may be chosen under advisement. However, the following electives are recommended:

- LYST 223. Introduction to Critical Literacy & Critical Media Studies, 3 s.h.
 244. Advanced Retrospective Miscue Analysis, 3 s.h.
 245. Revaluing Struggling Readers, 3 s.h.
 351. International Scholars' Forum, 1 s.h.

LYST 211, 212, 216, 218, 250, 251, if not taken as requirements, may also be considered for elective credit.

Note: Students who specialize in Birth through Grade 6, may subsequently specialize in Grades 5-12 by taking the following sequence of courses subsequent to completion of the Master of Science program:

- LYST 215. Reading With Adolescents & Young Adults, 3 s.h.
 217. Language, Culture & Identity: Issues for Adolescent & Young Adult Writers, 3 s.h.
 219. Reading & Writing Workshop for Teachers, 3 s.h.
 221. Literature for Adolescents & Young Adults, 3 s.h.

LITERACY STUDIES: GRADE 5 THROUGH 12Program of Study

The sequence presented below is recommended. However Phase I courses must be completed before entering Phase II. LYST 300 must be taken as part of the first 12 semester hours of study. LYST 301 must be taken as part of the final 12 semester hours of study. Electives may be taken at any time.

Phase I: 19 semester hours

- LYST 210. Introduction to Literacy Studies, 3 s.h.
 211. Language & Literacy in Urban Settings, 3 s.h. or
 212. Ethnicity, Family & Schooling: Implications for Literacy Instruction, 3 s.h.
 213. Introduction to Bilingual & Biliteracy Instruction for Children & Adolescents, 3 s.h.
 215. Reading With Adolescents & Young Adults, 3 s.h.
 217. Language, Culture & Identity: Issues for Adolescent & Young Adult Writers, 3 s.h. or
 219. Reading & Writing Workshop for Teachers, 3 s.h.
 221. Literature for Adolescents & Young Adults, 3 s.h.
 300. Introduction to Portfolio Preparation, 1 s.h.

Phase II: 13 semester hours

- LYST 240. Assessment & Evaluation of Reading & Writing, 3 s.h.
 241. Miscue Analysis & Retrospective Miscue Analysis, 3 s.h.
 242. Literacy Practicum: Assessing the Complexity of Student Learning (Birth through Grade 6) 3 s.h.
 250. Literacy Teacher as Researcher, 3 s.h. or
 251. Children & Adolescents as Ethnographers in Communities & Schools, 3 s.h.
 301. Portfolio Advisement & Presentation, 1 s.h.

Electives: 4 semester hours

Any graduate course in the School of Education and Allied Human Services or the University may be chosen under advisement. However, the following electives are recommended:

- LYST 223. Introduction to Critical Literacy & Critical Media Studies, 3 s.h.
 244. Advanced Retrospective Miscue Analysis, 3 s.h.

LYST 211, 212, 217, 219, 250, 251, if not taken as requirements, may also be considered for elective credit.

Note: Students who specialize in Grades 5-12, may subsequently specialize in Birth through Grade 6, by taking the following sequence of courses subsequent to completion of the Master of Science program:

- LYST 214. Language & Literacy in Early & Middle Childhood, 3 s.h.
 216. Literacy Learning at Home & at School, 3 s.h.
 218. Reading & Writing Practices in Early & Middle Childhood, 3 s.h.
 220. Literature in the Lives of Young Children, 3 s.h.

MASTER OF SCIENCE IN EDUCATION IN LITERACY STUDIES AND SPECIAL EDUCATION

The Master of Science in Literacy Studies and Special Education prepares students to meet the educational requirements for K through 12 reading certification and is designed to meet the requirements for the new certification of 1) Teachers of Literacy, Birth through grade 6; or Teachers of Literacy, grades 5 through 12; and Teacher of Students with Disabilities. The literacy component of the degree has been updated to meet the new regulations on teacher education proposed by New York State. The special education component is currently under revision to meet the New York State regulations.

ADMISSION REQUIREMENTS

(1) B.A. or B.S. degree, with minimum GPA of 3.0; (2) three letters of recommendation, one of which must be from a supervisor familiar with applicant's teaching competency; (3) interview with faculty member in both Special Education and in Literacy Studies; (4) possession of a New York State Initial Teaching Certificate or Transitional Certificate.

Notes: (1) Admission to graduate study requires a baccalaureate degree with a general core in liberal arts in order to meet New York State certification requirements. See Department for details. (2) Graduate students who enter a program of study on a nonmatriculated basis are limited to a maximum of twelve semester hours of course work. (3) A maximum of 6 semester hours of advanced standing in Literacy Studies and/or Special Education will be accepted for relevant course work taken elsewhere.

DEGREE REQUIREMENTS

(1) Completion of a minimum of 48 semester hours in prescribed courses with a minimum grade point average of 3.2; (2) successful presentation of final portfolio to faculty committee in Literacy Studies; (3) satisfactory score on the comprehensive examination in Special Education.

LITERACY STUDIES: BIRTH THROUGH GRADE 6 AND GRADE 5 THROUGH 12Program of Study

The sequence presented below is recommended. However, Phase I of LYST courses must be completed before entering Phase II. LYST 300 must be taken as part of the first 12 semester hours of study. LYST 301 must be taken as part of the final 12 semester hours of study. Courses in Special Education and courses in Literacy Studies may be taken concurrently.

Literacy Studies Courses (Birth through Grade 6 Certification): 26 semester hours

Phase I: 13 semester hours

- LYST 210. Introduction to Literacy Studies, 3 s.h.
 211. Language & Literacy in Urban Settings, 3 s.h. or
 212. Ethnicity, Family & Schooling: Implications for Literacy Instruction, 3 s.h. or
 213. Introduction to Bilingual & Biliteracy Instruction for Children & Adolescents, 3 s.h.
 216. Literacy Learning at Home and In School, 3 s.h. or
 218. Reading & Writing Practices in Early & Middle Childhood, 3 s.h.
 220. Literature in the Lives of Young Children, 3 s.h.
 300. Introduction to Portfolio Preparation, 1 s.h.

Phase II: 13 semester hours

- LYST 240. Assessment & Evaluation of Reading & Writing, 3 s.h.
 241. Miscue Analysis & Retrospective Miscue Analysis, 3 s.h.
 242. Literacy Practicum: Assessing the Complexity of Student Learning (Birth through Grade 6) 3 s.h.
 245. Revaluing Struggling Readers, 3 s.h.

COURSES

In addition to semester notations next to each course, a selection of courses is offered during January and Summer sessions. Consult the January and Summer Sessions bulletins for these schedules.

100. Literacy, Health, and Physical Education 1 s.h.
 Fall, Spring

This course on language, literacy and learning is designed for reflective scholar-practitioners in the fields of health education and physical education. Emphasis is also placed on home and school literacies of native English language speakers and English language learners, on reading and writing as language processes, on language variation and the linguistic abilities and strengths of children and adolescents, and on the impact of various approaches to literacy instruction and reading and writing assessment on the health and well being of both students and their families.

101. Literacy for Middle/High School Teachers 3 s.h.
 Fall, Spring

The course focuses on the role of language and literacy in the lives of middle school/high school students. This course explores a range of issues related to language and literacy for middle school/high school classrooms including: reading and writing as language processes, the linguistic abilities and strengths of middle school and high school students, the potential of young adult literature for middle school/high school content classrooms, and learning/teaching strategies for speaking, listening, reading and writing in content area classes. The course involves a field component where preservice teachers observe students in middle and high school classrooms.

102. Literacy, Art, and Music 1 s.h.
 Fall, Spring

This course on language, literacy, and learning is designed for students in the Fine Arts Education and Music Education programs leading to certification as a teacher of visual arts in grades PreK-12 or as a teacher of music PreK-12 in New York State. Emphasis is placed on school literacies, on reading, writing, listening, and speaking as language processes, the linguistic abilities and strengths of children and adolescents, and the impact of various approaches to literacy instruction and reading and writing assessment on the fields of art and music. This course meets the revised NYS teacher certification standards for language acquisition and literacy development by native English speakers and students who are English language learners.

200. Writing With Adolescents and Young Adults 3 s.h.
 Fall, Spring

Focuses on leading edge theory viewing writing as a fluid process heavily influenced by the personal, social, cultural, and political contexts in which writers, and their readers, function. Explores how writing, as well as reading and related language processes, serve as foundations for lifelong learning/inquiry, with emphasis on writing about reading. Topics include assessment/evaluation of, and response to, student writing and instruction. (Formerly WRIT 200, Theories and Research in the Teaching of Writing.)

200A. Introduction to Literacy Studies 3 s.h.
 Fall, Spring, Summer

This course seeks to unravel some of the meanings we give to "literacy," through an investigation of key assumptions, including socio-cultural, historical, and political learning theories. Reading selections and reflective writing focuses on personal literacies, the interrelationships of language, culture, and schooling, and major thinkers. (Formerly LYST 210; READ 220, Reading, Writing, and Cognition.)

201. Long Island Writing Project Invitational Summer Institute 3 or 6 s.h.
 Summer
 The Long Island Writing Project Summer Institute is an intensive summer program designed to assist practicing K-12 teachers from all subject areas in deepening their theoretical understandings of writing processes and writing as a cross-disciplinary tool of inquiry, within the context of exploring their own writing and by developing suitable instructional approaches/activities for the students they teach. Conducted as an experiential workshop and professional seminar. Students taking the course for 6 s.h. of credit are required to complete additional coursework. Prerequisite: permission of instructor.
202. Literacy for Special Subjects Teachers 1 s.h.
 Fall, Spring, Summer
 This course addresses current issues in literacy studies of concern to teachers of art, music, health or physical education. The course addresses: reading and writing as constructive language processes, language and literacy learning, and the relationship between literacy and other sign systems (such as art, music, or movement). Pre-service and in-service special subjects teachers will explore how they can collaborate with classroom teachers to provide opportunities for students to construct meaning in a variety of expressive systems.
204. Language, Culture, and Identity: Issues for Young Writers 3 s.h.
 Fall, Spring
 Course examines the ways in which writing, as well as reading and other language processes, can become tools with which young children negotiate socially imposed linguistic borders based on class, race, ethnicity, previous educational attainment and/or expectations, peer regard, gender, country of origin, etc. Course explores the roles of writing, dialect, bilingualism, and related language processes in identity formation, values clarification, and critical consciousness.
205. Teaching Creative Writing 3 s.h.
 Fall, Spring
 Focuses on developing classroom structures and teaching strategies for the acquisition and development of literary techniques and traditions through writing poetry and fiction. Special emphasis on the relationship between creative writing and critical analysis of literary works. Course requires participation in an experiential poetry and fiction writing and reading workshop in which students read from and write in these genre.
206. Teaching Memoir, Autobiography, and Personal Narrative 3 s.h.
 Fall, Spring
 Course emphasizes teaching strategies and examines the genre distinctions between memoir, autobiography, and personal narrative writing, as well as the role of fact, truth, and truthfulness, in these literary non-fiction genres. Course requires participation in an experiential personal narrative writing and reading workshop in which students read from and write in these genres.
207. Teaching Non-Fiction Writing 3 s.h.
 Fall
 Focuses on developing classroom structures and teaching strategies for teaching multidisciplinary, source supported non-fiction writing. Topics include: inquiry-learning; writing to learn; writing as a well-informed non-expert, and developing research strategies and techniques. Course requires participation in an experiential writing workshop.
208. Language and Literacy in Urban Settings 3 s.h.
 Spring
 This course focuses on how people use language and learn language in the communities where we live and teach. Sociolinguistic perspectives on language variation among diverse populations are examined to expose common myths and to understand the language experiences of students from multilingual and multidialectal urban settings. Course topics include language systems (phonological, orthographic, syntactic, semantic, pragmatic), language variation, language learning/language acquisition, and discourse in and outside of classrooms. Attention is given to the construction of pedagogies that promote access to language and literacy in schools. A ten hour field experience is required. (Formerly LYST 211.)
209. Language, Culture and Identity: Literacy Issues for Adolescents and Young Adults 3 s.h.
 Fall, Spring
 Course examines the ways in which writing, as well as reading and other language processes, can become tools with which adolescents and young adults negotiate socially imposed linguistic borders based on class, race, ethnicity, previous educational attainment and/or expectations, peer regard, gender, country of origin, etc. Course explores the roles of writing, reading, and related language processes, in identity formation, values clarification, and critical consciousness. Topics include discourse theory, oral and written language variation, as well as close examination of the language strengths and needs of learners who are biliterate, bilingual, and/or bidialectal. A ten hour field experience is required. (Formerly LYST 217, Language, Culture, and Identity: Issues for Adolescent and Young Adult Writers.)
212. Family, Community, and School Literacies: Cultural Perspectives 3 s.h.
 Fall, Spring, Summer
 Participants in this course consider the research on family literacy and explore pedagogical practice that are sensitive to the local and vernacular literacies of families and their children. Emphasis is placed on the importance of culturally responsive literacy instruction and on the importance of encouraging families to participate in the education of their children who are attending public schools. Field experience are intended to provide participants with theoretically grounded pedagogical practices, which lead to more people working together, celebrating their own literacies while at the same time using the many forms of literacy available to them to support the literacy learning of all children in school. A ten-hour field experience is required. (Formerly READ 222. Literacy in Families and Communities; Ethnicity, Family and Schooling: Implications for Literacy Instruction.)
213. Introduction to Bilingual and Biteracy Instruction for Children and Adolescents 3 s.h.
 Fall, Spring, Summer
 This course explores the cultural, linguistic, political and pedagogical aspects involved in the process of developing school literacies in bi/multicultural classrooms. Literacy development is discussed in the perspective of supporting learners to use bilitery as a tool to understand, to extend, and to act upon their worlds. Topics include the relationship between oral and written language processes in bilingual/biliterate students, and the interaction between languages during literacy and language learning. The course examines the literate pedagogical needs and assessment procedures of bilingual and biliterate learners within special and general education contexts. All theoretical explorations are nested in the learning processes of individuals with bicultural literacy experiences, including students who are considered to have special education needs. A ten hour field experience is required. (Formerly READ 223. Advanced Reading Instruction for Teachers of Bilingual Children and Adolescents.)
214. Language and Literacy in Early Childhood and Childhood 3 s.h.
 Fall, Spring, Summer
 This course investigates issues in language and literacy for children from birth to grade six. Readings and discussions of the language processes (listening, speaking, reading, and writing) are grounded in theoretical perspectives in the areas of psychosociolinguistics, social/cultural literacies, the transactional nature of literature, and critical literacy. Language development is studied in readings and field experiences with an emphasis on the role of language and culture in learning to read and write. Students are expected to develop their own theories of how children learn to read and write in schools and communities. A ten hour field experience is required. (Formerly READ 245, Teaching Reading in the Content Areas; Language and Literacy in Early and Middle Childhood.)

215. Reading With Adolescents and Young Adults 3 s.h.
Fall, Spring

Focuses on leading edge theory about the nature of the reading process, and ways in which reading and literary theory can be developed into effective multidisciplinary reading and/or English education instruction for adolescent and young adult learners. Includes critical perspectives on canonical and academic literacies, censorship, assessment and "remediation," student reading choice, avid reading, disenfranchised readers, and personal literacies. (Formerly READ 225. Teaching Reading on the Secondary Level.)

215A. Language and Literacy in Middle Childhood and Adolescence 3 s.h.
Fall, Spring, Summer

This course investigates issues in language and literacy, focusing on grades 5-12. Readings and discussion of the language processes (listening, speaking, reading, and writing) are grounded in the theoretical perspectives in the areas of psycho-sociolinguistics, social/cultural literacies, the transactional nature of literature, and critical literacy. Language and literacy development of middle school and high school students is studied through readings and field experiences. There is an emphasis on the role of cultural and linguistic diversity in literacy learning and teaching. Students are expected to develop their own theories of literacy learning in schools and communities. A ten hour field experience is required.

216. Literacy Learning at Home and in School: Social Contexts of Young Children Learning to Read and Write 3 s.h.
Fall, Spring, Summer

This course explores how the many literacies that occur in family settings can inform the ways in which we create literacy environments for children in school. Focuses on the social processes and ways of knowing through which parents and children create personal and shared literacy configurations. Explores the complexities of young children's uses of print and the functions and forms of their early symbolic representations. The interrelationships between children's early writing development and the emergence of phonemic awareness are examined. Particular attention is given to the literacy learning at home and in school of children of special needs. A ten hour field experience is required. (Formerly Literacy Learning at Home and in School.)

217A. Reading and Writing With Adolescents 3 s.h.
Fall, Spring, Summer

Focuses on current theory about the nature of the reading and writing processes, and ways in which reading, writing, and literacy theory can be developed into effective reading, writing, and/or English education instruction for adolescents and children in middle childhood. Includes critical perspectives on canonical and academic literacies, language variation, standardized testing, censorship, assessment and "remediation," student reading/writing choice, avid reading/writing, disenfranchised readers/writers, and personal literacies. A ten hour field experience is required. (Formerly LYST 215, Reading With Adolescents and Young Adults.)

218. Reading and Writing Practices in Early Childhood and Childhood 3 s.h.
Fall, Spring, Summer

This course investigates reading and writing practices in the early and middle childhood years. The focus is on developing teaching strategies and learning experiences for engaging children in reading and writing a wide variety of meaningful texts, including media and technology across the curriculum. Students explore the connections among oral language, reading, writing, and children's literature in a theoretically grounded literacy framework. Teaching strategies and learning practices focus on recognizing learners' linguistic understandings and reading and writing strategies, and developing opportunities for all readers to interrogate their world, explore their questions, and use language to act upon their learning. A ten hour field experience is required. (Formerly READ 224. Teaching of Reading; Reading and Writing Practices in Early and Middle Childhood.)

219. Reading and Writing Workshop for Teachers 3 s.h.
Fall, Spring, Summer

This experiential course provides in-service and pre-service teachers with opportunities to read and write in an integrated reading/writing workshop in order that they will experience: the underlying structures that make student-centered workshops feasible; how workshops promote student growth and development in reading and writing; the mechanics of running workshops and whole language instruction. Instruction features explicit modeling and feed back.

220. Literature in the Lives of Young Children 3 s.h.
Fall, Spring, Summer

This course engages readers in meaningful response through reading, talking, and writing about literature for children and young adults. Understandings of identity, social justice, and equity are investigated through discussions of what counts as literature, whose stories are told and who gets to tell them. Objectives for this course include critically and aesthetically reading from a wide variety of texts, while also participating in intensive reading with others in literature groups. This course focuses on children from birth to fifth grade. LYST 221 is recommended for students interested in working with readers from sixth grade to young adult. Prerequisite: LYST 200A; corequisite: Phase I courses. (Formerly READ 235. Strategies in Teaching Children's Literature.)

221. Literature for Adolescents and Young Adults 3 s.h.
Fall, Spring, Summer

This course engages readers in meaningful response through reading, talking, and writing about literature for adolescents and young adults. Understanding of identity, social justice, and equity are investigated through discussions of what counts as literature, whose stories are told and who gets to tell them. Objectives for this course include critically and aesthetically reading from a variety of texts, while also participating in intensive reading with others in literature groups. This course is recommended for students interested in working with readers from sixth grade to young adult. (Formerly READ 236.)

223. Introduction to Critical Literacy and Critical Media Studies 3 s.h.
January

Exploration of literacy instruction in relation to larger social purposes of teaching, and in relations to the forces of acculturation in society. Information received from print and electronic media sources is critiqued and ways in which the words we hear and read, and the images we view, shape our subjectivities and our understanding of the world around us are explored. Participants engage the possibility of teaching in ways that open up possibilities for a more conscious and liberating approach to literacy instruction and schools and society.

240. Assessment and Evaluation of Reading and Writing 3 s.h.
Fall, Spring, Summer

This course provides participants with an overview of ethnographic literacy assessment theory and practice. Topics for study include ethnography, authentic classroom assessment, transactional view of language, and a critical examination of standardized tests and testing practices. Participants consider teaching, learning, and schooling from the perspective of the learner as they develop and put into practice a student advocacy model of instructional assessment which values ethnic and linguistic diversity. Prerequisite: completion of Phase I Literacy Studies courses. (Formerly READ 248.)

241. Miscue Analysis and Retrospective Miscue Analysis 3 s.h.
Fall, Spring, Summer
This course takes a sociopsycholinguistic perspective on the reading process and recognizes that the meanings that readers construct are both personal and social. By engaging in several close-grained observations of oral reading events, participants use miscue analysis techniques to document readers' uses of cognitive strategies and language cue systems. Additionally, participants select and teach strategy lessons and conduct retrospective miscue analysis sessions with one student. Prerequisites: completion of Phase I courses. A 20 hour practicum at the Saltzman Reading/Writing Learning Inst. is required. (Formerly READ 241. Case Studies in Reading (K-12).)
242. Literacy Practicum: Assessing the Complexity of Student Learning (Birth Through Grade 6) 3 s.h.
Fall, Spring, Summer
This practicum provides participants with the opportunity to establish a critical site of inquiry for the study of ethnographic approaches to literacy assessment. Participants develop biographic literacy profiles by using close-grained observations of literacy processes (ethnographic assessment, miscue analysis, retrospective miscue analysis and strategy lessons) to determine how individuals use literacy to solve problems in community and school settings. Participants develop and put into practice a student advocacy model of instructional assessment that values ethnic and linguistic diversity. Emphasis on grades K-6. Prerequisites: completion of Phase I Literacy Studies courses and LYST 240, 241. A 30 hour practicum at the Saltzman Reading/Writing Learning Inst. is required. (Formerly READ 242. Reading Clinic Internship.)
243. Literacy Practicum: Assessing the Complexity of Student Learning (Grades 5-12) 3 s.h.
Fall, Spring, Summer
This practicum provides a critical site of inquiry for the study of ethnographic approaches to literacy assessment. Participants create biographic literacy profiles by using close-grained observations, miscue analysis, writing document analysis, retrospective miscue analysis and strategy lessons) to solve problems in community and school settings. Participants develop and put into practice a student advocacy model of instructional assessment that values ethnic and linguistic diversity. Emphasis on middle school, high school, and young adult students. Prerequisites: completion of Phase I courses, LYST 240 and 241. A 30 hour practicum at the Saltzman Reading/Writing Learning Inst. is required.
244. Advanced Retrospective Miscue Analysis 3 s.h.
Summer
Retrospective Miscue Analysis is a powerful tool, which enables teachers and researchers to engage in a close-grained study of a reader's processing of written text. In this procedure, the teacher/researcher employs miscue analysis techniques to engage readers to bring the use of reading strategies at a conscious level. Teachers and students work together as co-explorers of the reading process. In this course participants are involved in planning and executing several RMA sessions and associated reading strategy lessons with a specific instructional or research focus in mind. Prerequisites: Phase I courses and LYST 241.
245. Revaluing Readers and Writers 3 s.h.
January
In this course, the construct of learning disability is critically examined in terms of its social contexts and the cultural space in which it operates. This course embraces social, linguistic and transactional views of reading and writing, language, learning, teaching, and, curriculum and "normality" shape our responses to those perceived as "struggling." This course addresses the following strands: revaluing students who struggle with reading and writing, strategies for supporting and scaffolding meaning-making processes, and the nature of reading and language. Prerequisites: Phase I courses. (Formerly READ 251. Teaching Reading to the Learning Disabled and the Indifferent Learner; Revaluing Struggling Readers.)
247. Language, Discourse, and Cinema: Implications for Schooling 3 s.h.
January
Explores the techniques of cinematography—the "language of film"—in order to examine how film conveys meaning, as well as how this expressive system has become one of the most rapidly evolving forms of symbolic communication. This sort of knowledge base is a prerequisite to any deeper exploration of specific aspects of cinema, such as the second focus of the course, which is to consider the language within film by examining a selection of English-language motion pictures for linguistic insights about the relationship between language, culture, and identity. Course culminates in an exploration of the pedagogical implications of these linguistic/cinematic insights on language and literacy instruction in American schools.
250. Literary Teacher as Researcher 3 s.h.
Fall, Spring
This course explores classroom-based teacher inquiry in literacy education as a method of professional development and responsive teaching. Students develop a baseline knowledge of the philosophical underpinnings and methodological techniques for conducting and critically responding to teacher research. A ten hour field experience is required. Prerequisite: completion of Phase I courses.
251. Children and Adolescents as Ethnographers in Communities and Schools 3 s.h.
Fall, Spring
This course focuses on the ways in which teachers can engage children and adolescents in ethnographic and sociolinguistic research to explore the literacies of their communities and schools. Focuses on how ethnographic and sociolinguistic research is linked to social action and can become an essential part of reading and writing instruction in schools and can be linked to social action. A ten hour field experience is required. Prerequisite: Phase I courses.
- 280 through 289, A-Z. Advanced Workshop in Literacy Studies 1-3 s.h. each Fall, January, Spring, Summer
Designed to meet the needs of classroom teachers, literacy specialists, and literacy educators in positions of leadership. Focuses on 1) literacy practices in schools; 2) in families and communities; and 3) the relationships between literacy and issues such as social class, ethnicity, race, gender, poverty, language of origin and disability.
As individual subjects are selected, each is assigned a letter (A-Z) and added to the course number. These workshops may be taken a number of times so long as there is a different letter designation each time it is taken. (Formerly READ 280 through 289, A-Z.)
300. Introduction to Portfolio Preparation 1 s.h.

An introduction to the strategic planning process and an insight into its nature. Background for line managers who will do such planning, staff who will aid in the process and others interested in understanding present and future corporate performance. As the components of the organization are increasingly integrated into an effective strategic management system, creative strategic planning becomes a major management tool for (1) formulation and implementation of corporate strategy, (2) discovery and development of opportunity and growth, and (3) avoidance of confrontations with society over unintended impacts from the corporate operations. Prerequisites: MGT 202, FIN 202.
217. *Developing Leadership and Communication Skills 3 s.h.
Fall, Spring
A cross-functional integrative approach for examining, assessing, and developing practical and personal leadership skills in an experiential forum. Participants are guided in linking cognitive models of "people skill" techniques, awareness exercises of personal skill proficiency, and skill improvement workshops. Topics include personal problem-solving skills, motivating others, communicating supportively, negotiating, gaining power and influence, managing stress, and bridging multicultural differences in the workplace. Prerequisite: MGT 201C or approved equivalent.
220. *Organizational Development and Change 3 s.h.
Once a year
Examines planned approaches to organizational change as an ongoing, interactive process. Topics include introduction to organization development, theory and concepts underlying organization development, goal setting, planning, research findings dealing with the results of OD interventions, OD approaches in different types of organizations and consultant-client relationships. Prerequisite: MGT 202.
257. A-Z. *Seminar: Special Topics in Management 3 s.h.
Periodically
An advanced in-depth treatment of special topics. Current topics are explored through a variety of methods, such as lectures, projects and case studies. Prerequisites: MGT 202, permission of department chairperson, and any additional prerequisites as stated in the course schedule.
As individual subjects are selected, each is assigned a letter (A-Z) which is affixed to the course number. Students may take up to two of these courses to fulfill their major requirements so long as each seminar has a different letter designation.
262. *Seminar in Business Management 3 s.h.
Periodically
Analysis of problems of top management. Discussions and written reports based on individual student research. Prerequisites: MGT 202 and permission of department chairperson.
274. *Labor Relations and the Law 3 s.h.
Once a year
Federal and state labor legislation affecting wages and conditions of all employees unionized or not, management's interest in constructive employee relations within the frame of the Labor Management Relations Act, dispute settlement techniques. Prerequisite: MGT 202.
275. *Alternatives to Litigation 3 s.h.
Periodically
Nature and sources of conflicts amenable to alternative dispute resolution techniques. Examination of the techniques of negotiations, conciliation, mediation, fact-finding, med-arb and arbitration; fashioning procedures for handling recurring conflicts in particular business organizations and settings. Emphasis on developing skills and understandings needed to effectively resolve disputes normally handled in civil litigation. Students engage in mock problem situations. Prerequisite: MGT 202.

*Open only to matriculated Zarb School of Business graduate students and/or matriculated School of Education and Allied Human Services graduate students where appropriate.

304. *Advanced Research Seminar in Management 3 s.h.
Fall, Spring
(NOTE: MGT 306-308 may be offered in place of 304.) Students write an integrative paper on an assigned topic based on secondary research and then formulate a written primary data research design to investigate a specific key issue. They must formulate research questions and hypotheses, construct survey instruments and experimental designs, draft sample plans, outline data handling procedures, and prepare a comprehensive research proposal, furnishing justifications for its theoretical as well as practical significance. An oral presentation of each project is required at the conclusion of the semester. Prerequisites: completion of all core competency courses, 21 s.h. of advanced core courses or above (including QM 210, IB 219†, and at least 6 s.h. of the required 15 s.h. in the area of concentration), and permission of the department chairperson.
305. *M.B.A. Honors Research Thesis in Management 3-6 s.h.
Periodically
Student selects and designs an integrative research project with the approval and guidance of a faculty member in the area of specialization. Student is required to justify the project's significance within a decision-making framework and define the management applications of the research findings. An oral report of the research findings is presented to a faculty committee. With joint permission of the department chairperson and thesis adviser, a student may expand the M.B.A. Honors Research Thesis from 3 to 6 s.h.; the additional 3 s.h. may be counted toward elective requirements in the area of concentration. Prerequisites: minimum cumulative grade point average of 3.5, completion of all core competency courses, 21 s.h. of advanced core courses or above (including QM 210, IB 219†, and at least 6 s.h. of the required 15 s.h. in the area of concentration), and permission of department chairperson.
306. *Case Focused Research Seminar in Business 3 s.h.
Periodically
Emphasis on multiple functional areas that are taught in the Zarb School of Business. A case study approach is utilized in this course, and students are challenged to understand how decisions and policies from different functional areas are integrated within an organization. Students present detailed recommendations toward resolution of complex business problems within an industry or company which must be supported by appropriate documentation of research and analysis. Written and oral reports are required. Prerequisites: completion of all core competency courses, 21 s.h. of advanced core courses or above (including QM 210, IB 219†, and at least 6 s.h. of the required 15 s.h. in the area of concentration), and permission of department chairperson. Same as ACCT 306, BCIS 306, FIN 306, IB 306, MKT 306.
307. *Consulting Research Project 3 s.h.
Periodically
Under the supervision of an instructor and working singularly or in a small group, students are assigned to a client organization for one semester. The students and the client organization to which they are assigned will identify the client's specific problems and objectives. Students design and complete one or more integrative consulting projects involving various business principles and conduct research. A written consulting report and an oral presentation are made to a faculty committee and the senior management of the organization. Prerequisites: minimum cumulative grade point average of 3.5, completion of all core competency courses, 21 s.h. of advanced core courses or above (including QM 210, IB 219†, and at least 6 s.h. of the required 15 s.h. in the area of concentration), and permission of the Graduate Programs Office and the department chairperson. Same as ACCT 307, BCIS 307, FIN 307, IB 307, MKT 307.

308. *Integrative Business Simulation 3 s.h.
Periodically
Course utilizes a comprehensive and integrative computer simulation to create a variety of complex multifunctional

business problems to which students must respond under varying conditions of uncertainty. A team-based approach to decision making is used in resolving problems created by the computer model. Students are required to provide detailed reports on decisions made and to provide quantitative and qualitative justifications for their decisions. These justifications must be supported through the use of research and must be presented orally and in writing. Prerequisites: completion of all core competency courses, 21 s.h. of advanced core courses or above (including QM 210, IB 219†, and at least 6 s.h. of the required 15 s.h. in the area of concentration), and permission of department chairperson. Same as ACCT 308, BCIS 308, FIN 308, IB 308, MKT 308. (Formerly Computer Simulation (Management Game) in Management.)

309. Research Seminar in Human Resources Management 3 s.h.
Periodically
Supervised research leading to the preparation of a formal paper on an approved topic in the field of human resources management. Students review the relevant literature to formulate a research question on an approved topic and specify how they would answer the question. Students submit a written research proposal that includes their literature review and the appropriate methodological design and sampling techniques they would use to address their research question. An oral presentation of the research proposal is required at the end of the semester. Prerequisite: completion of 21 s.h. of graduate course work, in the area of concentration.

330. *Graduate Internship 3 s.h.
Fall, Spring
A work-study program open to graduate students who are specializing in management.

Students work a minimum of 100 hours in the semester for selected business organizations. A written evaluation of a complex managerial decision is prepared by the student at the completion of the course. Most internship opportunities involve some form of monetary remuneration. Prerequisites: all core competency courses or approved equivalents, 24 graduate-level credits with a 3.3 average and permission of department chairperson. (Formerly GBUS 330.)

401. *Operations Management 2 s.h.
Periodically
An examination of the processes organizations use to transform resources into high quality goods and services that satisfy consumers. Techniques for designing production and operation systems that are efficient as well as effective are included.

402. *Managing Contemporary Organizations 4 s.h.
Periodically
Issues of organizational behavior and design in all types of corporations, nonprofit institutions, and governmental agencies are discussed. Emphasis is placed on motivational systems, intra-group and intergroup communications, power relationships, and the management of change. The effects of cultural diversity on organizational dynamics are also considered.

 Fall, Spring
 (NOTE: MKT 306-308 may be offered in place of 304.) Students write an integrative paper on an assigned topic based on secondary research and then formulate a written primary data research design to investigate a specific key issue. They must formulate research questions and hypotheses, construct survey instruments and experimental designs, draft sample plans, outline data handling procedures, and prepare a comprehensive research proposal, furnishing justifications for its theoretical as well as practical significance. An oral presentation of each project is required at the conclusion of the semester. Prerequisites: completion of all core competency courses, 21 s.h. of advanced core courses or above (including QM 210, IB 219†, and at least 6 s.h. of the required 15 s.h. in the area of concentration), and permission of department chairperson.

305. *M.B.A. Honors Research Thesis in Marketing 3-6 s.h.
 Periodically
 Student selects and designs an integrative research project with the approval and guidance of a faculty member in the area of specialization. Student is required to justify the project's significance within a decision-making framework and define the management applications of the research findings. An oral report of the research findings is presented to a faculty committee. With joint permission of the department chairperson and thesis adviser, a student may expand the M.B.A. Honors Research Thesis from 3 to 6 s.h.; the additional 3 s.h. may be counted toward elective requirements in the areas of concentration. Prerequisites: minimum cumulative grade point average of 3.5, completion of all core competency courses, 21 s.h. of advanced core courses or above (including QM 210, IB 219†, and at least 6 s.h. of the required 15 s.h. in the area of concentration), and permission of department chairperson.

306. *Case Focused Research Seminar in Business 3 s.h.
 Periodically
 Emphasis on multiple functional areas that are taught in the Zarb School of Business. A case study approach is utilized in this course, and students are challenged to understand how decisions and policies from different functional areas are integrated within an organization. Students present detailed recommendations toward resolution of complex business problems within an industry or company which must be supported by appropriate documentation of research and analysis. Written and oral reports are required. Prerequisites: completion of all core competency courses, 21 s.h. of advanced core courses or above (including QM 210, IB 219†, and at least 6 s.h. of the required 15 s.h. in the area of concentration), and permission of department chairperson. Same as ACCT 306, BCIS 306, FIN 306, IB 306, MGT 306.

307. *Consulting Research Project 3 s.h.
 Periodically
 Under the supervision of an instructor and working singularly or in a small group, students are assigned to a client organization for one semester. The students and the client organization to which they are assigned will identify the client's specific problems and objectives. Students design and complete one or more integrative consulting projects involving various business principles and conduct research. A written consulting report and an oral presentation are made to a faculty committee and the senior management of the organization. Prerequisites: minimum cumulative grade point average of 3.5, completion of all core competency courses, 21 s.h. of advanced core courses or above (including QM 210, IB 219†, and at least 6 s.h. of the required 15 s.h. in the area of concentration), and permission of the Graduate Programs Office and the department chairperson. Same as ACCT 307, BCIS 307, FIN 307, IB 307, MGT 307.

308. *Integrative Business Simulation 3 s.h.
Periodically

Course utilizes a comprehensive and integrative computer simulation to create a variety of complex multifunctional business problems to which students must respond under varying conditions of uncertainty. A team-based approach to decision making is used in resolving problems created by the computer model. Students are required to provide detailed reports on decisions made and to provide quantitative and qualitative justifications for their decisions. These justifications must be supported through the use of research and must be presented orally and in writing. Prerequisites: completion of all core competency courses, 21 s.h. of advanced core courses or above (including QM 210, IB 219†, and at least 6 s.h. of the required 15 s.h. in the area of concentration), and permission of department chairperson. Same as ACCT 308, BCIS 308, FIN 308, IB 308, MGT 308. (Formerly Computer Simulation (Management Game) in Marketing.)

309. Research Seminar in Marketing 3 s.h.
Periodically

Supervised research leading to the preparation of a formal paper on an approved topic in the field of marketing. Specifically, the student identifies key marketing issues surrounding the topic and conducts comprehensive secondary research on them. Based on the results, the student then proposes and formulates a primary research plan to address the issues. The research plan includes, where appropriate, key findings from the secondary research, hypotheses relating to the issues, primary research design/methods, sampling procedures, a data collection instrument, data analysis procedures, and the theoretical and practical implications of the potential findings. An oral presentation of the project is required at the conclusion of the semester. Prerequisites: completion of 15 s.h. of graduate course work in marketing. Corequisite: MKT 245. Open only to matriculated M.S. in Marketing students.

310-311. Thesis in Marketing Research 3 s.h. each
Periodically

Student designs and executes a marketing research study for a company or not-for-profit organization to help it solve a marketing problem or evaluate a marketing opportunity. The student works individually under the guidance of a thesis adviser on a one-on-one basis. After consultation with the thesis adviser who will approve the specific topic, the student must present the proposal to the department chairperson before registering for MKT 310. The student is required to prepare a written report of the findings and make an oral presentation to a faculty committee and/or the company executives. Prerequisites: 9 s.h. of marketing courses including MKT 245, QM 210, QM 250 and permission of department chairperson. Corequisite: MKT 280.

330. *Graduate Internship 3 s.h.
Fall, Spring

A work-study program open to graduate students who are specializing in marketing.

Students work a minimum of 100 hours in the semester for selected business organizations in their area of specialization. A written evaluation of a complex marketing decision is prepared by the student at the completion of the course. Most internship opportunities involve some form of monetary remuneration. Prerequisites: all core competency courses or approved equivalents, 24 graduate-level credits with a 3.3 average and permission of department chairperson. (Formerly GBUS 330.)

401. *Marketing Analysis and Management 4 s.h.
Periodically

Major focus on the role and functions of marketing in modern society, strategic planning and marketing and the types of marketing decisions made by executives. Topical coverage includes the broad scope of marketing; the development of strategic marketing plans; marketing information systems; marketing in a global context; ethical, societal, and environmental considerations; consumer behavior and market segmentation; tactical decisions relating to products, pricing, distribution, and promotion; the integration and coordination of marketing planning with other functional areas; and marketing audits.

Marriage and Family Therapy (MFT)

Administered by the Department of Health Professions and Family Studies. Associate Professor Schwartz, Chairperson

Professor Atwood, Program Director and Adviser

MASTER OF ARTS: MARRIAGE AND FAMILY THERAPY AND PROFESSIONAL DIPLOMA IN MARRIAGE AND FAMILY THERAPY CERTIFICATE IN FAMILY THERAPY ADVANCED CERTIFICATE IN SEX COUNSELING

The M.A. program in Marriage and Family Therapy provides the skills necessary to function as a marriage and family therapist. Marriage and family therapy is one of the fastest growing mental health fields and focuses on the emotional life of the family unit rather than the individual client. The program at Hofstra combines classroom instruction with intensive field experience and includes individual supervision in a field setting. The program, which was approved by the New York State Education Department in 1982, has been designed in accordance with the guidelines of the professional organizations.

The Professional Diploma in Marriage and Family Therapy provides the student with a diploma beyond the master's level. This program is available to experienced practitioners who, at the time of application, are currently employed in therapy activities.

The Professional Diploma is awarded after a candidate has completed individualized program of study. Candidates for this diploma may transfer a maximum of 30 semester hours of courses on the graduate level taken at Hofstra or elsewhere if they satisfy the program requirements. All candidates are interviewed by a faculty member to assess depth of knowledge and practice skills.

MASTER OF ARTS: MARRIAGE AND FAMILY THERAPY

ADMISSION REQUIREMENTS

1. Bachelor's degree from an accredited institution.
2. Graduate record examination scores of 450 on the verbal and 900 on the combined verbal and numerical tests.

COURSES

In addition to semester notations next to each course, a selection of courses is offered during January and Summer sessions. Consult the January and Summer Sessions bulletins for these schedules.

- 204. Family Life Cycle Development 3 s.h.
Periodically
Eight stages of family-life cycle are examined at three different levels of analysis: individual, systemic and relational ethical. Major psychological tasks of each stage are presented with an examination of the potential problems. Family dysfunctions at each stage are considered from a systemic point of view as compared to other, more individually-oriented theories such as behaviorism, psychodynamic and developmental theories. (Formerly MFC.)
- 205. Historical and Sociocultural Aspects of Family Development and Theory 3 s.h.
Fall
Study of the institution of family and marriage from the 18th century to the present with emphasis on the effect of differing social and economic conditions on the written and implied marital contract, and their relation to current theories of marriage and family therapy. (Formerly MFC.)
- 206. The Social Construction of the DSM (Diagnostic and Statistical Manual): A Course for Family Therapists and Other Mental Health Professionals 3 s.h.
Fall
This course is designed for marriage and family therapists and mental health professionals who work in an agency setting or in private practice. The focus is on the historical development and the social construction of the diagnostic and statistical categories used in traditional psychotherapy. There is also a presentation on how family systems theory arose in direct opposition to the DSM categories and a comparison of the two models. Topics covered include: an exploration of the problematic foundations of diagnosis, the politics of diagnosis, the diagnostic and statistical manual as it is utilized in agencies and by insurance companies, the specific codes used, and how marriage and family therapists could best utilize these codes in order to function most effectively in these milieus.

207. Parent Education for Educators 1½ s.h.
Fall

This course examines the more relevant socio-historical changes in parenting roles. It explores different parenting styles in terms of providing children with maximum growth potential, taking into account cultural and gender similarities and differences. A main focus of this course is to assist educators and school personnel with the information, tools, and skills necessary to design a parent education program. A life-cycle perspective is the backdrop of the presentations.

232. Family Therapy With Children of Divorce 1½ s.h.
Once a year

Teaches therapists how to counsel parents about various problems their children may have during separation and divorce. Focus on how to counsel children who are going through the divorcing process. Discussion of the various denial processes a child may use, feelings of abandonment a child may experience when his/her parents are separating or divorcing and the therapeutic techniques associated with each. (Formerly MFC, Family Counseling With Children of Divorce.)

233. Therapy With Families in Crisis: a Clinical Approach 3 s.h.
Once a year

Explores various symptoms of families in crisis who are seen in a clinical setting. Major theoretical approaches are examined, along with intervention strategies for helping these families. Some family crises explored are suicide, child or spouse abuse, rape, natural and accidental disaster, illness, relationship dissolution and death. (Formerly MFC, Counseling Families in Crisis: a Clinical Approach.)

233A. Therapy With Families in Crisis: a Clinical Approach 1½ s.h.

Once a year
Provides non-Marriage and Family Therapy majors with information on crisis counseling in various situations such as suicide, child or spouse abuse, rape, natural or unnatural disasters, illness, relationship dissolution, domestic violence, and death. The course educates the student about recognizing the symptomology of each situation; provides information on initial steps to be taken and gives them guidelines for appropriate referral sources. Credit given for this course or MFT 233, not both. (Formerly MFC, Counseling Families in Crisis: A Clinical Approach.)

234. Brief Family Therapy 3 s.h.
Once a year

Focus is on the potency and efficacy of brief family therapy as a therapeutic model which promotes change in families who have become stabilized around the maintenance of a symptom or a problem in one or more of its members. (Formerly MFC, Brief Family Counseling.)

236. Family Therapy and Ethnicity 3 s.h.
Spring

Ethnicity relates family process to the broader context in which it evolves. Coming to terms with ethnicity for therapists is necessary in order to gain a perspective on the relativity of our belief systems. Cultural groups vary in the emphasis they place on different transitions. Different groups vary as to what behaviors they see as problematic as well as solutions to problems. Describes the difference between various groups with regard to problems typically presented in therapy. Specific interventions are discussed with the primary goal being to help therapists understand people's behavior in an ethnic context. (Formerly MFC, Family Counseling and Ethnicity.)

238. Couple Therapy 4 s.h.
Fall

Comprehensive and thorough couple therapy workshop. Through the use of role playing, videotape, lectures and demonstrations, students are exposed to relevant theories of couple therapy. Focus is on interviewing, assessment of interactional dynamics and intervention. Topics covered are: creation of positive expectancies and exchanges, cognitive restructuring, contingency contracting and marriage enrichment. Treatment strategies are examined for a variety of problem areas such as sexual dysfunctions, child-rearing problems, partner abuse (emotional and physical), jealousy and conflicts regarding affiliation and independence. Prerequisite: COUN 223 or permission of the program coordinator. (Formerly MFC, Couple Counseling.)

239. Families in Transition 3 s.h.
Spring, Summer

Separating, divorcing and families suffering a loss through death of a member are the focus of this course. Relevant theories of separation and divorce are considered, along with incidences and sociocultural information. Emotional responses, identity change, responses of children and family structural changes are discussed, with the appropriate treatment approaches. Also considered are familial grief responses and short-term crisis intervention with families. (Formerly MFC.)

240. Family Therapy and Chemical Dependency 3 s.h.
Once a year

This course provides an overview of chemical dependency and its systemic effect upon family roles and functions. It provides a bio-psycho-social model of understanding of addiction in adolescence and adulthood and its concomitant family codependency issues. Students learn about planned intervention, relapse prevention, 12-step recovery, and alternative clinical management strategies of short/long-term systemic family treatment goals.

251, 252. Readings 2-3 s.h. each
Fall, Spring, Summer

Directed readings on topics of interest to the student. Prerequisite: permission of instructor.

260. Sexual Issues in Marriage and Family Therapy 3 s.h.
Spring

This course is separated into three sections in the field of sexuality issues on marital and family therapy. 1) Describes the history of sex research and sex therapy, developing a historical context for the contemporary field of sex therapy, along with a consideration of the methodological problems inherent in this type of research. 2) It defines the common sexual issues and sexual dysfunctions seen by marriage and family therapists. In so doing, it presents a thorough, detailed investigation of the basic traditional therapeutic models for the treatment of such problems. 3) And most importantly, the course explores the systemic basis of sexual issues placing them in a relational, interpersonal context, and describes systemic assessment, diagnosis, and treatment. In so doing, the possibility of combining of the fields of sexual and marital therapy is examined. Prerequisites: MFC 266 and either an undergraduate course in Human Sexuality or COUN 279 and permission of the adviser.

266. Family Therapy 4 s.h.
Fall, Summer

Course includes an intense examination of theories, rationale, assumptions, goals and interventive strategies used in family treatment. Students are introduced to concepts and techniques of the family approach to therapy through family roleplaying, videotapes, readings and demonstrations. Prerequisite: COUN 223 or permission. (Formerly MFC, Family Counseling.)

267, 268. Seminar: Diagnosis, Assessment and Intervention in Marriage and Family Therapy 4 s.h. each

Fall, Spring
Intense and thorough examination of diagnosis, assessment and treatment strategies from each of the major schools of family therapy. Demonstrations of various assessment techniques such as the genogram, eco-map and sculpting. Various types of dysfunctional family systems are presented and analyzed. Treatment strategies explored. Therapeutic-alliance patterns, destructive interactions and distracting subgroups are examined. Prerequisites: MFT 238, 266 or permission. (Formerly MFC, Seminar: Diagnosis, Assessment and Intervention in Marriage and Family Counseling.)

269, 270. Practicum in Marriage and Family Therapy 3 s.h. each

Fall, Spring
Practice in marriage and family therapy. Classroom presentation of case material. Through student involvement in role playing, videotapes and demonstrations of frequently observed marriage and family problems, clinical techniques, strategies and interventions used to deal with specific problems are presented and explored. Prerequisites: MFT 267, 268 or permission. (Formerly MFC, Practicum in Marriage and Family Counseling.)

280 through 289, A-Z. Workshops 1-4 s.h. each
Periodically
Designed to meet the needs of specific groups of students or educators.

As individual subjects are selected, each is assigned a letter (A-Z) and added to the course number. Any course may be taken a number of times so long as there is a different letter designation each time it is taken. (Formerly MFC.)

298, 299. Individual Supervision in Marriage and Family Therapy 3 s.h. each

Fall, Spring
Practice in marriage and family therapy in a social agency. Fieldwork supervision is provided by an agency staff member approved by the University. The student is supervised on a weekly basis by a faculty member. Assignment is determined by the student's interest and readiness. A minimum of 300 hours is required. Prerequisites: MFT 267, 268. (Formerly MFC, Individual Supervision in Marriage and Family Counseling.)

311. Family Therapy With the Single-Parent Family System 1½ s.h.

Periodically
Study of the phenomena of the single, custodial-parent family system, how it has evolved, how this family differs in function and structure from the traditional two-parent family. The unique qualities and problems of the single-parent family are examined in relation to family roles, alliances, interactional patterns and therapeutic interventions. (Formerly MFC, Family Counseling with the Single-Parent Family System.)

312. Family Therapy With Psychosomatic Families 3 s.h.
Periodically

Course presents the treatment of psychosomatic families as done in the Structural, Strategic and the Milan Systemic Schools. Similarities and differences in the approaches are examined, along with an examination of attempts to do verifiable research. Prerequisite: MFT 266 or permission of instructor. (Formerly MFC.)

Mass Media Studies (MASS)

Administered by the Department of Journalism and Mass Media Studies.

Associate Professors Drucker, Kelly; Assistant Professor Hey.

Candidates for graduation from the School of Communication with the degree of Bachelor of Arts must fulfill the B.A. requirements as listed under the School of Communication on page 116. In addition, students majoring in Mass Media Studies must complete the program requirements listed below plus a liberal arts minor from one of the following: any minor in the College of Liberal Arts and Sciences or the Department of Speech Communication and Rhetorical Studies. The minor must consist of 18 semester hours as defined by that discipline, of which at least 6 hours must be taken in residence.

(NOTE: Major and minor fields will be listed on the student's record. Only courses acceptable for the major may be applied toward the minor, and only with grades of C- or better. Pass/D+/D/Fail credit will be given toward an academic major and minor for courses offered only on this basis.)

B.A. MAJOR IN MASS MEDIA STUDIES: 36 s.h.

15 s.h.—SCO 2; MASS 11, 112; JRNL 1 and 11

12 s.h.—selected from MASS/JRNL 20; MASS 101, 104, 109, 120, 130

9 s.h.—Chosen under advisement from MASS 150, 151, 180-189, 199, or no more than one course from each of the other departments in the School of Communication, provided that prerequisites have been met.

For additional programs offered in the Department of Journalism and Mass Media Studies, see page 293.

A MINOR IN MASS MEDIA STUDIES consists of the successful completion of 18 semester hours in mass media studies with at least 15 semester hours in residence, under advisement and with the approval of the adviser.

All department majors must have a minimum GPA of 2.5.

COURSES

In addition to semester notations next to each course, a selection of courses is offered during January and Summer sessions. Consult the January and Summer Sessions bulletins for these schedules.

11. Mass Communications in Contemporary Society 3 s.h.
Fall, Spring

An intensive study of various tested theories and modes of analysis. Analyzes the functions, nature, and content of the media and the social, political and economic impact of modern communication technologies. Examines the effects of media on our political, legal, economic, social, and value systems. The emphasis is on ideas, relationships and issues. Prerequisite: SCO 2. (Formerly COMM 100.)

20. Survey of News Issues 3 s.h.
Periodically

An examination of six to ten important, current news stories—regional, national and international—their contexts, the issues involved, and how these stories are being pursued, developed, and presented by newspapers, radio, TV, online, and other mainstream news sources. A critical assessment of the various approaches to these stories provides the focus to evaluate the various factors influencing news handling, writing, editing, and play. Outside community research and reporting time is required. Prerequisite for Journalism majors: JRNL 15, or permission of chairperson. Same as JRNL 20. (Formerly COMM 80; Survey of the News Media.)

101. Understanding Global Media and News Systems 3 s.h.
Once a year

Focuses on the mass media, global news flows, problems of international journalism and challenges to press freedoms. The course is designed to enhance understanding of intercultural dynamics and their relationship to the media systems of other countries and to international communication in general. Prerequisites: MASS 11 and PSC 1, or permission of instructor. (Formerly COMM 101, International Communication and Cultural Exchange; Global Communication and Cultural Exchange.)

104. Media and the Law 3 s.h.
Fall, Spring

This course is designed to acquaint the student with censorship issues and the way in which the United States Supreme Court has dealt with these cases. Sample cases will be analyzed with a view to understanding the evolution of certain attitudes and policies regarding freedom of speech and press in the United States. Controversial subjects, such as prior restraint, obscenity, public access to the media, invasion of privacy, libel, etc., will be discussed. Prerequisite: MASS 11 or permission of instructor. Prerequisite for Journalism majors: JRNL 15. (Formerly Censorship and the Media; COMM 104, Censorship and Communications.)

109. The Mass Media, Politics and Policy Making 3 s.h.
Fall

This course focuses on the media's role in politics. It is designed to enhance the student's research, writing, and analytical skills while increasing awareness of the mediated political process. Topics include theories of persuasion, the spin-doctor phenomenon, and the coverage and impact of extraordinary events on political decision making. Students simulate a presidential campaign, applying theories of politics and mass media. Prerequisites: SCO 2 and PSC 1.

112. Surveying Public Opinion: Introduction to Public Opinion Research 3 s.h.

Once a year
Introduction to the subject of commercial, social and political opinion research; methodologies and their pitfalls; uses of public opinion studies; relationship between such studies and their influence in the marketplace of ideas, services and products. Other topics include effect of the polling phenomenon on the press and how news is created out of polling results. Prerequisites: MASS 11 and PSC 1, or permission of instructor. (Formerly COMM 107.)

120. Research in Mass Media Studies 3 s.h.
Fall, Spring

Written and oral reports on selected topics concerning major issues relating to the functions and influence of mass communications. Comprehensive studies of areas not covered or only briefly touched in preceding courses. Open only to juniors and seniors. Prerequisite: MASS 11. (Formerly COMM 105, Research Seminar in Communication Problems.)

130. Media Technologies and Public Policy 3 s.h.
See course description, page 457.

Fall, Spring, Summer
Individualized projects in mass media including historical, critical and analytical studies. Open only to juniors and seniors in the Department of Journalism and Mass Media Studies who secure, before registration, written permission of the instructor who will supervise the study. May be repeated up to 6 s.h. in different subject areas. Prerequisite: permission of department chairperson. (Formerly COMM 110, Readings in Communications.)

170, 171. Internships 1-3 s.h. each
 Fall, Spring, Summer
 Application of theory and classroom training in an appropriate professional setting. Students must complete a minimum of 120 hours and fulfill other requirements as designated by the sponsoring professor. Prerequisites: majors with junior standing and permission of adviser.

180-189, A-Z. Special Topics 1-4 s.h. each
 Periodically
 Designed to meet the needs of individual and specific groups of students interested in special topics not covered by other course offerings.

As individual subjects are selected, each is assigned a letter (A-Z) and added to the course number. Any course may be taken a number of times as long as there is a different letter designation each time it is taken.

199. Departmental Honors 3 s.h.
 Fall, Spring
 Students research and write a significant scholarly paper. Open only to seniors in the Department of Journalism and Mass Media Studies who desire to graduate with departmental honors and who secure, before registration, written permission of the instructor who will supervise the essay or project. Cumulative grade point average must conform with departmental honors as defined on page 71 under eligibility requirements. (Formerly COMM 199.)

Mathematics (MATH)

Professor Ostling, Chairperson

Professors Bumcrot, Costenoble, Grassi, Greenwell, Hastings, Waner, Weiss, Wu; Associate Professors Akbik, Bhargava, Bohannon, Elston, Eswarathasan, Michaels, Orr; Assistant Professors Imailescu, Seabold, Silberger.

The mathematics major or minor can be an entry to many fields. Recent graduates with majors in mathematics have gone on to careers in industry, medicine and law as well as in school and university teaching and actuarial science. The department offers a wide range of courses in order that students be adequately prepared for the career or future study of their choice. Students should develop a plan of studies in consultation with an adviser in the mathematics department as early as possible in their undergraduate program. Although guidelines cannot replace professional advice, here are a few guidelines.

The Department offers the following programs:

B.A. in Mathematics

B.S. in Mathematics with a choice of seven options:

Mathematics: for students with a strong interest in mathematics, an option for those interested in careers requiring graduate education in mathematics.

Actuarial Science: for students interested in actuarial science and related careers. Prepares the student for the first examinations administered by the Society of Actuaries, and thus begins the path toward Fellowship in the Society of Actuaries.

Applied Mathematics: for students with a strong interest in applied mathematics, an excellent option for those interested in careers requiring graduate education in applied mathematics or the sciences.

Four options for students with a strong interest in the following sciences: Chemistry, Computer Science, Engineering, Physics.

B.S. in Computer Science and Mathematics (jointly with the Department of Computer Science)
 M.A. in Mathematics
 M.S. in Applied Mathematics

All of the undergraduate mathematics major programs have a common foundation: three semesters of calculus (MATH 19, 20, and 29), advanced Engineering Mathematics I (MATH 143), and linear algebra (MATH 135A). Majors should complete these courses by the end of their sophomore year. The mathematics minor also has three semesters of calculus courses as a foundation. In addition, students should satisfy University requirements early in their careers, especially science and foreign language. Taking a mathematically-oriented science course (physics is especially recommended for B.S. students) in parallel with the calculus sequence will enhance student performance in both areas. Students interested in careers in actuarial science, applied mathematics, science or industry should also take some computer science courses under advisement.

Students interested in actuarial science should take the statistics sequence, MATH 137 & 138, in their junior year. With appropriate study and advice, they may be able to complete several actuarial examinations before graduation. Summer internships in actuarial science are widely available for students with good records through the junior year. Professor Ostling advises actuarial students.

Students seeking careers in elementary and secondary education should consult the Department of Curriculum and Teaching in the School of Education to be advised on the education sequence that culminates with student teaching. Students seeking careers in elementary education should also consult the mathematics department chairperson as early as possible. Professor Whitton of the Department of Curriculum and Teaching acts as adviser with Department of Mathematics advisers for these students.

Careers such as college teaching and advanced industrial research require the Ph.D. degree. Our best students frequently qualify for fellowships for Ph.D. study. Students seeking these careers are encouraged to obtain research and science experience early in their careers. Many internships are available for well qualified students after their junior year. Interested students should see the chairperson of the mathematics department during their junior year.

Students seeking careers in medicine or law should consult University advisers in these areas. Premedical students should take a one-year sequence in each of the following: biology, general chemistry, organic chemistry and physics.

B.A. SPECIALIZATION IN MATHEMATICS: mathematics courses including MATH 135A, 143, 145, 171, 146 or 172, 3 additional hours in intermediate or advanced mathematics numbered 100 or above, and 9 additional hours in advanced mathematics numbered 110 or above, chosen under advisement. Physics 11A and B and at least 3 additional semester hours chosen from the category of natural sciences core courses as listed on page 87. Mathematics majors are advised to take at least one course in computer science.

All mathematics courses presented toward the fulfillment of the degree must be completed with a minimum grade of C-.

See complete B.A. requirements, page 84.

B.S. SPECIALIZATION IN MATHEMATICS: candidates for graduation must fulfill the following requirements:

1. The successful completion of at least 124 semester hours and a cumulative grade-point average of 2.0 in work completed at Hofstra.
2. At least 62 semester hours of liberal arts courses. At least 55 of these credits must be completed in courses other than mathematics.

- There are two requirements that must ordinarily be completed in residence at Hofstra: 15 semester hours in the major field of specialization and the last 30 semester hours. The 15 semester hours need not be included within the last 30 hours.
- The following general requirements:

ENGL 1-2*

Humanities electives, 6 s.h. of core courses including 3 semester hours from the appreciation and analysis category, and 3 semester hours from the creative participation category

Foreign language (same as for B.A., see page 84)

Social science electives, 6 s.h. of core courses including 3 semester hours from behavioral sciences, and 3 semester hours from history and philosophy

Physics 11A and B and at least 3 additional semester hours of natural science core courses, excluding mathematics and computer science.

- The successful completion of all mathematics courses required for the B.A. in Mathematics including MATH 135A, 143, 145, 171 and 146 or 172, 3 additional hours in intermediate or advanced mathematics numbered 100 or above, and 9 additional hours in advanced mathematics numbered 110 or above, chosen under advisement.
- The successful completion of one of the options listed below. It is the intent of the science options to allow students interested in the applications of mathematics to develop that interest.

Mathematics Option: completion of 9 additional hours of advanced mathematics courses, chosen under advisement.

Actuarial Science Option: completion of 9 additional hours of advanced mathematics courses including at least two courses selected from MATH 137 & 138, 147, 181, or 188. Students are strongly recommended to include MATH 103 and 172 in their programs.

Applied Mathematics Option: completion of 9 additional hours of advanced mathematics, including within the program at least four courses selected from MATH 137 & 138, 141 & 142, 147, 163, 165, or 166. Demonstrated ability in computer applications, a requirement which may be met by MATH 147, CSC 16, or an appropriate project within another mathematics class.

Chemistry Option: completion of CHEM 3A & 4A, 3B & 4B, 141-142.

Computer Science Option: completion of CSC 15, 16, and three courses selected from CSC 110, 111, 112, 120.

Engineering Option: completion of PHYS 11A & 12A, 11B, 12B, and at least 9 hours of ENGG with MATH 131 as a prerequisite or corequisite.

Physics Option: completion of PHYS 11A & 12A, 11B, 12B, plus 2 courses selected from PHYS 104, 118, 140. All mathematics courses and all advanced courses in other areas presented toward the fulfillment of the B.S. in Mathematics must be completed with a minimum grade of C.

B.S. SPECIALIZATION IN COMPUTER SCIENCE AND MATHEMATICS: candidates for graduation with this dual major must fulfill the following requirements:

- The successful completion of at least 134 semester hours and a cumulative grade point average of at least 2.0 in work completed at Hofstra.
- At least 40 semester hours must be completed in the liberal arts excluding courses in computer science or mathematics.
- There are three requirements that must ordinarily be completed in residence at Hofstra: 15 semester hours in computer science, 15 semester hours in mathematics, and the last 30 hours. The computer science and mathematics hours need not be included within the last 30 hours.
- The following general requirements:
ENGL 1-2; (If the ENGL 1-2 requirements is fulfilled by passing the placement examination, 3 semester hours in literature or literature in translation must be taken with adviser's approval. See University Degree Requirements, page 66.)

- 6 s.h. Humanities core (3 hours in appreciation and analysis (literature), 3 hours in creative participation).
- 6 s.h. Social Science core (3 hours in History and Philosophy, 3 hours in Behavioral Social Sciences).
- 3 s.h. Cross-Cultural core.
- 3 s.h. Humanities and/or Social Science (not limited to core).
- Foreign language: completion of level 2, or placement beyond level 2.
- CSC 14, 15, 16, 24, 110, 110A, 112, 120, 123, 132, 161, 163, 190 and 9 semester hours in computer science electives numbered higher than 100.
- MATH 19, 20, 29, 135A, 143, 145, 171, 146 or 172. Additionally, 3 semester hours in intermediate or advanced mathematics numbered 110 or above, and 6 semester hours in advanced mathematics numbered 110 or above, chosen under advisement of the department of mathematics.
- CSC 185 or MATH 137
- CSC 102 or MATH 147
- Natural Science requirements: 12 semester hours in natural sciences to include either PHYS 11A & 12A (with 11B, 12B laboratories) or CHEM 3A-4A (with 3B-4B laboratories). All natural science electives must be acceptable towards majors in their respective departments.
- A grade of C- or better in all courses required for the major.

TEACHING OF HIGH SCHOOL MATHEMATICS, see page 398.

A MINOR IN MATHEMATICS consists of the successful completion of 18 semester hours including MATH 19, 20 and 29; 3 credits of intermediate or advanced mathematics courses numbered 100 or above; 3 credits of advanced mathematics courses numbered 110 or above. At least six hours must be in residence.

CERTIFICATE PROGRAM IN NATURAL SCIENCES

Post-Baccalaureate Premedical Studies

This program provides the opportunity for students who hold a bachelor's degree and who have not previously studied the sciences to prepare for entrance into a medical profession of their choice. Students may also retake science courses to demonstrate an improved mastery of those subjects. Courses offered in biology, chemistry, mathematics, and physics; see page 358.

KAPPA MU EPSILON: a national mathematics honor society, see page 73.

MASTER OF ARTS IN MATHEMATICS: designed for students with interests in a broad spectrum of mathematics and its applications, as well as the natural sciences mathematically-oriented components of the social sciences, and mathematics education.

ADMISSION REQUIREMENTS

Applicants must hold a baccalaureate degree from an accredited institution with a strong background in mathematics including Linear Algebra (MATH 135A) and Advanced Calculus (MATH 171), and at least two additional courses in advanced mathematics. Motivated students with less mathematical background will be considered for provisional admission.

DEGREE REQUIREMENTS

A total of 30 semester hours of courses distributed as follows:

- At least 18 semester hours of 200-level mathematics courses including the following:

*See University Degree Requirements, page 69.

Completion of this option automatically fulfills the natural science requirements (in 4 above).

- a) MATH 211 and 221;
 - b) any two of MATH 202, 203, 223, 241, 261;
 - c) at least one of MATH 212, 222, 242, 262, 267
2. The remaining credits, subject to the approval of the coordinator of the program, may be chosen from any of the following: biology, computer science, business, or other appropriate graduate areas.
 3. Completion of an oral comprehensive examination or a master's thesis including an oral defense (in which case, MATH 301 may be counted as part of requirement 2 above).

See complete graduate information, page 75.

MASTER OF SCIENCE IN APPLIED MATHEMATICS: this program is designed to meet the needs of those individuals who seek to initiate or enhance a career in applied mathematics in industry. It is also appropriate for students who may wish to seek the Ph.D. degree.

ADMISSION REQUIREMENTS

Applicants must hold a baccalaureate degree from an accredited institution, with a strong background in mathematics which includes Differential Equations (MATH 131), Linear Algebra (MATH 135A) and Advanced Calculus (MATH 171). Students who are not mathematics majors but who have a strong mathematical background are encouraged to apply.

DEGREE REQUIREMENTS

1. Thirty-three semester hours of 200-level courses of which at least 24 must be in mathematics. The remaining credits, subject to the approval of the coordinator of the program, may be chosen from biology, computer science, economics, finance or other appropriate graduate areas.
2. Satisfactory completion of MATH 211, 221, 241, 261; at least one course chosen from MATH 212, 222 or 242, and at least one course chosen from MATH 223, 262 or 267.
3. At least one course in computer programming or equivalent proficiency as determined by the department.
4. Completion of a master's thesis, requiring approval of two departmental readers and an oral defense.

See complete graduate information, page 75.

COURSES

In addition to semester notations next to each course, several courses are offered during the January and Summer sessions. Consult the January and Summer Sessions bulletins for these schedules.

NOTE: without the consent of the department, a student may not take a prerequisite of a completed course. Credit will not be granted for any two courses which are wholly or partly equivalent to each other.

INTRODUCTORY UNDERGRADUATE COURSES

- 3A. Discovering Mathematics 2 s.h.
- 3B. Discovering Mathematics 1 s.h.
Periodically
These courses, which must be taken concurrently, are open to all students. Designed to overcome mathematical anxiety and to develop mathematical skills. Topics include the nature of mathematical systems, logic and reasoning through an analysis of verbal problems, transfinite arithmetic, ordinary arithmetic, statistics, topology, and number theory. Does not fulfill the mathematics distribution requirements. Pass/D+/D/Fail grade only. No degree credit for either 3A or 3B.
- 3C. Elementary Mathematics 2 s.h.
- 3D. Elementary Mathematics 1 s.h.
See course description, page 452.

- 4A. Intermediate Algebra 2 s.h.
- 4B. Intermediate Algebra 1 s.h.
Fall, Spring

These courses, which must be taken concurrently, cover arithmetic properties of real numbers; algebra of fractions and polynomials; exponents, roots and radicals; solution of first and second degree equations and applications, functions and their graphs. No degree credit for 4A.

- 8. Elementary Mathematical Statistics 3 s.h.
Fall, Spring

Frequency distributions, averages, graphical representations, moments, measures of dispersion, types of distribution, curve fitting and correlation theory. Prerequisite: intermediate algebra with ability to use logarithms and exponents. Credit given for this course or BIO 100 or QM 1 or PSY 140 or SOC 180 or New College S 91 or QTB 2.

- 9. Linear Mathematics and Matrices # 3 s.h.
Fall, Spring

Matrix Algebra, systems of linear equations, linear programming, Markov processes, and game theory. Applications to business and the biological and social sciences are included. Prerequisite: either level 9 placement on the mathematics department placement examination or MATH 4A and 4B. (Formerly Linear Mathematics and Precalculus.)

- 10. Basic Calculus # 3 s.h.
Periodically

Functions, analytic geometry of the plane, limits, differentiation and integration. Applications to business and the biological and social sciences are included. May not be taken after MATH 19. For those interested in continuing with calculus, see MATH 19B. Prerequisite: MATH 11 or another precalculus course in high school or college.

- 10E. Basic Calculus with Applications # 4 s.h.
Fall, Spring

Limits, differentiation, integration and applications to business and the biological and social sciences. No credit for mathematics or physics majors. May not be taken after MATH 19. For those interested in continuing with calculus, see MATH 19B. Prerequisite: MATH 11 or another precalculus course in high school or college.

- 12. Mathematical Excursions # 3 s.h.
Fall, Spring

A serious study of a limited number of topics designed to give the student a more than superficial, though elementary, appreciation of mathematics from the working mathematician's point of view. Some typical topics: algebraic systems, finite geometries, number theory, infinity, games and puzzles. Prerequisite: a willingness to explore mathematical ideas; also level 12 placement on the mathematics department placement examination, or successful completion of MATH 4A and 4B. Credit given for this course or MATH 16, not both.

- 13C. Elementary Mathematical Models Through Computers # 3 s.h.
See course description, page 452.

- 15. Elementary Set Theory, Logic and Probability # 3 s.h.
Fall, Spring

Sets, logic, probability. Prerequisite: Level 15 placement on mathematics department placement examination, or successful completion of MATH 4A and 4B.

- 16. Explorations in Mathematics # 3 s.h.
Periodically

Designed for students majoring in areas other than mathematics or science. This course uses a problem-solving approach for exploring the development of the real number system (including the properties of a field), number theory (including modular arithmetic), and geometry. Optional topics include probability and statistics. Prerequisite: two years of high school mathematics or permission of instructor. It is recommended that elementary education majors take this course prior to taking ELED 128. Credit given for this course or MATH 12, not both. (Formerly Number Systems and Algebraic Structure.)

#Core course

PRECALCULUS AND CALCULUS COURSE SEQUENCES

Placement of students in precalculus and calculus courses is determined by the Department of Mathematics. Some students may be required to take 11 (Precalculus) before continuing with 19 (Analytic Geometry and Calculus I). The sequence 19, 20, 29 represents an integrated approach to the differential and integral calculus of functions of one and several variables, including applications and some theory.

11. Precalculus # 4 s.h.
Fall, Spring

A function-based approach to the study of algebra and trigonometry, with particular focus on the polynomial, rational, trigonometric and exponential/logarithmic functions. The concepts studied in this course are fundamental to the study of Calculus and most of the mathematical applications to the sciences. Prerequisites: High School Sequential Mathematics II or equivalent.

19. Analytic Geometry and Calculus I # 4 s.h.
Fall, Spring

Limits, derivatives, techniques of differentiation, trigonometric, exponential, logarithmic, and inverse trigonometric functions, curve sketching, applications of the derivative, introduction to integration. Meets five hours each week. Prerequisite: MATH 11 with a grade of C- or better or departmental placement. Credit given for MATH 19 or New College NMB 1 or QTB 3. Students wishing credit for both MATH 10 or 10E and MATH 19 must receive prior permission from the department chairperson. See MATH 10E. (Formerly 19 & 20, Analytic Geometry and Calculus I and II.)

20. Analytic Geometry and Calculus II # 4 s.h.
Fall, Spring

Integrals, applications of the integral, techniques of integration, improper integrals, infinite sequences and series, parametric equations, polar coordinates. Meets five hours each week. Prerequisite: MATH 19 with a grade of C- or better, or both MATH 10E and 19B, each with a grade of C- or better. (Formerly 19 & 20, Analytic Geometry and Calculus I and II.)

19B. Bridge to Calculus II 1 s.h.
See course description, page 452.

19C. Computing Supplement to Calculus 1 s.h.
Periodically

Numerical aspects of introductory calculus are studied with the aid of computers. Topics may include a brief introduction to computers and programming, numerical differentiation and integration, locating zeros of functions, graphing functions, approximating functions and symbolic calculations by computers. No computing experience is necessary. Prerequisite: MATH 10E or 19.

29. Analytic Geometry and Calculus III # 4 s.h.
Fall, Spring

Three-dimensional analytic geometry, elementary vector analysis, partial derivatives, multiple integrals, vector fields, parametric curves and surfaces, theorems of Green, Gauss, Stokes. Meets five hours each week. Prerequisite: MATH 20 with a grade of C- or better.

INTERMEDIATE UNDERGRADUATE COURSES

101. Logic in Mathematics 2 s.h.
Periodically

Basic logical processes in mathematical practice; informal analysis of mathematical language and its abuses; nature of proof, proof procedures and problem-solving. Prerequisite: MATH 20.

103. Applications of Calculus and Probability to Actuarial Problems 2 s.h.
Periodically

Preparation for course 1 of the examinations given by the Society of Actuaries. Prerequisite or corequisite: MATH 29 and MATH 137. (Formerly Applications of Calculus to Actuarial Problems.)

107. Mathematical Problem Solving 1 s.h.
Periodically

Techniques and principles for solving mathematical problems. May be taken more than once for credit. Prerequisite or corequisite: MATH 29.

ADVANCED UNDERGRADUATE COURSES

119. Mathematics of Computer Graphics 3 s.h.
Periodically

Mathematical techniques for computer graphics studied in terms of the underlying mathematical principles. Includes two and three-dimensional geometry, projections, perspective, curvilinear projections, fractals, irregular surfaces. Prerequisites: MATH 29 and CSC 15 or permission.

131. Elementary Differential Equations 3 s.h.
Fall, Spring

Methods for the solution of elementary types of ordinary differential equations with geometrical, physical and chemical applications. Prerequisite: MATH 29 or equivalent.

133. Geometry 3 s.h.
Fall

Foundations of Euclidean and non-Euclidean geometry. Axioms and models. Topics include triangles and circles, geometric transformations, projective and hyperbolic geometries. Use of geometry software. Prerequisite: MATH 29 or equivalent. (Formerly Euclidean Geometry.)

134. Topics in Geometry 3 s.h.
Periodically

An in-depth study of one or more topics from Euclidean, non-Euclidean or differential geometry. Prerequisite: MATH 135A. Note: this course can be taken without MATH 133. (Formerly Non-Euclidean Geometry.)

135A. Linear Algebra 4 s.h.
Fall, Spring

Systems of linear equations, matrices, vector spaces, linear transformations, scalar products. Topics selected from determinants, game theory, graph theory, linear programming, Markov chains. Applications to one or more of curve fitting, economics, genetics, population distribution, production and assignment problems. Prerequisite: MATH 20.

136. Theory of Numbers 3 s.h.
Every other year

Properties of integers, congruences, diophantine equations, algebraic number fields. Prerequisite: MATH 29 or equivalent.

137 & 138. Mathematical Probability and Statistics 3 s.h. each
137: Fall; 138: Spring

Discrete and continuous probability distributions, characteristics of distributions, sampling theory, estimation, hypothesis testing, correlation, regression and other topics. Prerequisite or corequisite: MATH 29.

141 & 142. Applied Finite Mathematics 3 s.h.
Periodically

Applications of finite mathematical models to problems in the social sciences, business, ecology and computer science. Techniques of counting, network flows, design of experiments, graphs and diagraphs, Markov chains, game theory and decision making. Prerequisites: MATH 29 and 135A.

143. Engineering Mathematics I 3 s.h.
Fall, Spring

Systems of linear equations, row operations, Gauss Jordan reduction, matrix algebra, inversion, determinants, eigenvalues and eigenvectors, solutions of linear ODE's, algebra of the complex plane, polar representation and DeMoivre's theorem, the complex exponential and logarithmic functions, Fourier Series, the solution of the heat and wave equations by Fourier Series, Bessel functions and applications. Prerequisite: MATH 29 or higher. (Formerly MATH 143 & 144.)

144. Engineering Mathematics II 3 s.h.
Fall, Spring

Analytic functions, Cauchy-Reimann equations, Cauchy's integral formula, Laurent series, theory of residue, conformal mappings, linear fractional transformations, applications to fluid flow and electric field theory, Fourier integrals, applications to the heat equation. Prerequisite: MATH 143. (Formerly MATH 143 & 144.)

145 & 146. Higher Algebra 3 s.h. each
145: Fall; 146: Spring

Abstract algebraic structures including groups, rings and fields and their application to the study of number systems, polynomial rings and solvability of equations. Prerequisite: MATH 135A.

147. Numerical Methods 3 s.h.
Fall, Spring

Same as ENGG 101 and CSC 102. Prerequisite: CSC 15 or ENGG 10. Corequisite: MATH 131.

151 & 152. Special Problems in Higher Mathematics 1-3 s.h. each

151: Fall; 152: Spring
Independent and advanced nature in a field of mathematics. Topics vary from year to year. Prerequisite: permission of department chairperson.

155. History of Mathematics 3 s.h.
Every other year

Development of mathematical ideas and symbolism. Prerequisite: MATH 29 or permission of instructor.

163. Intermediate Ordinary and Partial Differential Equations 3 s.h.

Every other year
Simple existence and uniqueness theorems, linear equations, power series and numerical solutions, eigenvalue problems, classical equations. Boundary value problems in partial differential equations, generalized Fourier series, transform methods. Green's functions, initial value problems. Prerequisite: MATH 131.

165, 166. Mathematical Modelling 3 s.h. each
Periodically

An introductory course including the following topics. 165: Differential and difference equations as models, population growth models, linear systems and matrix models, Markov models. 166: Random-walk and diffusion models, analytic versus simulation models, introduction to hypothesis testing, selected topics from the literature. Prerequisites: MATH 131 and ability to program in BASIC, FORTRAN or PL/1.

167. Elementary Topology 3 s.h.
Every other year

Basic properties of sets and mappings in euclidean space such as continuity, compactness, connectedness. Metric spaces. Topological spaces and metrizable. The fundamental group functor. Prerequisite: MATH 29.

171 & 172. Advanced Calculus 3 s.h. each
171: Fall; 172: Spring

Topics more advanced than those of the beginning calculus sequences. Stress is placed on limits, continuity, uniform continuity, uniform convergence, implicit function theory, line integrals, series, partial differential, multiple integrals and Fourier series. Prerequisite: MATH 135A. Prerequisite for 172: MATH 131.

173. Theory of Functions of a Complex Variable 3 s.h.
Every other year

Complex numbers and the geometry of the complex plane: analytic, harmonic and other functions; power series, analytic continuation; mappings and applications. Prerequisite or corequisite: MATH 135A, 171.

181. Multivariate Analysis 3 s.h.
Periodically

An introduction to statistical analysis with applications to quantitative business methods and other areas. Factor analysis and analysis of variance are among the important techniques studied. Prerequisite or corequisite: MATH 138.

188. Operations Research Optimization Techniques 3 s.h.
Periodically

Same as ENGG 188. Prerequisite: ENGG 185 or MATH 137. Recommend taking CSC 187 prior to taking this course.

190. Departmental Honors 3 s.h.
See course description, page 452.

191. Introduction to Set Theory 3 s.h.
Periodically

Naive and axiomatic set theory as a foundation for mathematics; ordinal and cardinal numbers; well-ordering and the principle of choice; glimpses of results on consistency and independence. Prerequisite: MATH 135A or 101.

198, 199, A-Z. Special Studies in Mathematics 3 s.h. each
See course description, page 452.

GRADUATE COURSES

It is expected that students taking graduate courses will have taken courses equivalent to MATH 135A, 145, 171 & 172. Undergraduates wishing to take graduate courses must first obtain permission from the chairperson of the department.

202. Mathematical Logic 3 s.h.
Periodically

The propositional calculus: truth tables and axiomatizations. First order theories: completeness theorem, formal number theory, Goedel's incompleteness theorem. Same as CSC 201A. Prerequisite: MATH 145.

203. Topology 3 s.h.
Periodically

Topological spaces, convergence and completeness, separation axioms, homeomorphisms, metric spaces, compactness. Prerequisite: MATH 172 or permission of instructor.

211. Linear Algebra 3 s.h.
Every other year

Review of matrices and linear equations, solution of linear equations, applications, vector spaces and linear transformations, eigenvalues and geometry, canonical forms, linear machines. Prerequisites: MATH 131, 135A.

212. Applied Algebra 3 s.h.
Every other year

Finite state machines, relations and graphs, rings and Boolean algebras with applications, semigroups, groups and coding theory, linear machines, finite fields and algebraic coding theory. Prerequisite: MATH 211.

221, 222. Analysis I, II 3 s.h. each
Every other year

Analysis of functions of one and several variables with an introduction to functional analysis.

221: Euclidean space, differentiation and integration, vector-valued functions of several variables and applicable integration techniques. 222: Hilbert spaces, linear and convex programming, linear operators and semigroups, introduction to optimal control theory. Prerequisites: MATH 131, 135A, 171.

223. Complex Analysis 3 s.h.
Periodically

Formal power series, analytic functions, analytic continuation, complex integration and applications to evaluation of integrals, conformal mappings, flows and boundary conditions, polynomials and finding zeros. Prerequisite: MATH 171 or permission of instructor.

241. Probability 3 s.h.
Every other year

Graduate introduction to the basic concepts of probability theory aimed towards later applications. Review of needed set theory, counting principles, discrete and continuous probability, random variables, expectations, moment generating functions, distributions, central limit theorem. Prerequisites: MATH 131, 135A, 171.

242. Statistics 3 s.h.
Every other year

Applications of probability theory, inference, Bayesian techniques, hypothesis testing, regression, design of experiments, robustness, computer programs and packages, applications tailored to student interest. Prerequisites: MATH 241, or 131, 135A, 137 & 138 and 171.

251 & 252. Independent Reading 1-4 s.h. each
251: Fall; 252: Spring

Independent study course, under the guidance of a member of the department.

254. Seminar 3 s.h.
Periodically

Introduction to the literature of mathematical research. Prerequisite: consent of department.

261. Ordinary Differential Equations 3 s.h.
Every other year

Solutions to first and second-order equations, linear differential equations, transforms, systems, stability. Emphasis on interplay between theory and numerical methods. Prerequisites: MATH 131, 135A, 171.

262. Partial Differential Equations 3 s.h.
Every other year

Existence of solutions, basic techniques, Hilbert space and transform techniques, classification of equations, the Cauchy and Dirichlet problems, properties of solutions. Prerequisite: MATH 261 or permission of instructor.

265. Numerical Methods I: Analysis 3 s.h.
Periodically

Floating-point arithmetic. Finite-difference calculus. Polynomial, inverse, spline interpolation. Approximation: least-squares, polynomial, Chebyshev, rational functions. Numerical integration and differentiation. Solution of nonlinear equations. Solution of ordinary differential equations. Same as CSC 265. Prerequisite: CSC 102 or ENGG 101 or MATH 147.

267. Optimal Control Theory 3 s.h.
Every other year

Discussion of the maximum principle, maximum principle for nonautonomous systems, fixed time problems, system of variational equations and adjoining systems, linear time optimal processes, maximum principle and calculus of variations. Problems of Lagrange, optimal processes with restricted phase coordinates. Prerequisite: MATH 261.

271, 272. Mathematical Models in the Natural Sciences 3 s.h. each

Every other year

271: types of models, differential and difference equations as models: population growth models, linear systems and matrix models, Markov models.

272: random-walk and diffusion models, analytic versus simulation models; statistical hypothesis testing; selected topics from the literature. Prerequisites: MATH 131, 171 and ability to program in BASIC, FORTRAN or PL/1.

NOTE: courses numbered 280-288 carry no credit toward the M.A. in Mathematics.

280, A-Z. Workshop: Pre-College Mathematics 1-3 s.h. each
Once a year

Intended for middle and secondary school teachers with a desire to strengthen their command of current and emerging mathematics curricula, for example, as put forward in the National Council of Teachers of Mathematics Standards. Topics taken from probability and statistics, number theory, geometry and graph theory, discrete mathematics, problem solving, the human dimension in mathematics, mathematics through computers, mathematical systems and the mathematics of change. Prerequisite: permission of department. No credit toward M.A. in Mathematics or M.S. in Applied Mathematics.

As individual subjects are selected, each is assigned a letter (A-Z) and added to the course number. Any course may be taken a number of times so long as there is a different letter designation each time it is taken. (Formerly 280, Workshop: Integrated Mathematics Sequence.)

285. History of Ancient and Medieval Mathematics 1 s.h.
Once a year

Mathematics from the dawning of human intelligence through the discoveries of the Renaissance. Designed for participants in a Hofstra teacher enhancement program or by permission of department. No credit toward M.A. in Mathematics or M.S. in Applied Mathematics.

286. Development of Modern Mathematics 2 s.h.
Once a year

Mathematics from the 17th century to modern times. Applications to the classroom. Designed for participants in a Hofstra teacher enhancement program or by permission of department. No credit toward M.A. in Mathematics or M.S. in Applied Mathematics.

287. Problem Solving Through Computers and Calculators 3 s.h.
Once a year

Problem-solving heuristics, estimation, discovery and pattern recognition via programming languages (e.g. BASIC, Pascal and Logo), spreadsheets, interactive software and hand-held calculators. Applications to the classroom. Designed for participants in a Hofstra teacher enhancement program or by permission of department. No credit toward M.A. in Mathematics or M.S. in Applied Mathematics. (Formerly Problem Solving Through Pascal.)

288. Finite Mathematics and the Computer 3 s.h.
Once a year

Finite mathematical bases of computing including binary arithmetic, elementary combinatorics, etc. A calculus based probability and statistics segment in which students write programs in Pascal and are introduced to statistics software. Monte Carlo methods random number generating algorithms, regression. Applications to the secondary school classroom. Open only to participants of the Teacher Training Institute or by permission of department chairperson. No credit toward M.A. in Mathematics. Prerequisites: MATH 287 or knowledge of Pascal and departmental permission.

298, 299, A-Z. Advanced Topics 2 or 3 s.h. each
Periodically

Subjects to be announced. Prerequisite: MATH 172 or permission of instructor.

As individual subjects are selected, each is assigned a letter (A-Z) and added to the course number. Any course may be taken a number of times so long as there is a different letter designation each time it is taken.

301. Master's Thesis 3 s.h.

Meteorology (METR)

Administered by the Department of Physics and Astronomy.
Professor Hastings, Chairperson

Staff

1, 2. Physical Meteorology and Climatology 3 s.h. each
Periodically

Conditions pertinent to weather phenomena and climate. Analysis of factors that enter into weather and climate; study of world-wide patterns: past, present and probable for the future.

Middle Eastern and Central Asian Studies (MECA)

Administered by the Department of History.
Professor Kern, Chairperson

COURSES

In addition to semester notations next to each course, a selection of courses is offered during January and Summer sessions. Consult the January and Summer Sessions bulletins for these schedules.

Military Science (MS)

Professor LTC Gaylor, Chairperson

Assistant Professors LTC Cleland and Major Hadad

The Hofstra Army Reserve Officer's Training Corps (ROTC) program qualifies students for appointment as an officer of the United States Army, Army Reserve or Army National Guard. Students attend military science classes during their regular course of studies. Students develop maturity, responsibility and dependability while earning the Gold Bar of an Army Second Lieutenant.

Army ROTC offers two different programs to all qualified college and university students. The traditional four-year program gives students the opportunity to take ROTC courses in each of their four years of college. The two-year program is available for any students who did not take ROTC during their first two years of college.

The four-year program consists of the Basic Course (MS 1C, 1E, 2C, 2E and associated leadership laboratories) and the Advanced Course (MS 3C, 3E, 4C, 4E and associated leadership laboratories). The Basic Course is open to all Hofstra students. It consists of training in leadership, management, military skills and physical fitness. Students learn to apply these skills both inside and outside the classroom. In addition, a variety of outside social and professional enrichment activities are available. ROTC textbooks, uniforms, and other essential materials for the Basic Course are furnished to the students. Sophomores who did not take the first year courses may compress the first and second year courses and laboratories to complete the Basic Course. There is no military obligation for enrolling in the Basic ROTC Course.

After they have completed the Basic Course, students who have demonstrated the leadership potential to become an officer and who have met the physical and scholastic standards are eligible to enroll in the Advanced Course. The Advanced Course is usually taken during the final two years of college. It includes instruction in management, tactics, ethics and further leadership development. Textbooks and uniforms in the Advanced Course are also furnished to students.

During the summer between their junior and senior years of college, Advanced Course cadets attend a paid five-week leadership/training session called Advanced Camp. Advanced Camp gives cadets the chance to practice what they have learned in the classroom, and introduces them to Army life "in the field."

Additionally, a special leadership/training session, Basic Camp, is designed for students who did not take ROTC during their first two years of school or students entering a two-year post-graduate course of study. To enter this two-year program, students must first attend the paid five-week Basic Camp, normally held during the summer between their sophomore and junior years of college. After they have successfully completed Basic Camp, students who meet all the necessary enrollment requirements are enrolled in the Advanced Course.

Active Army veterans, members of the National Guard, and the Reserves may qualify for credit for the Basic Course and be enrolled directly into the Advanced Course pending their individual academic standing.

To receive full semester credit for the Advanced Course and Advanced Camp (12 semester hours) a student must be commissioned as a Second Lieutenant in the Army upon course completion. Partial credit may be awarded at the chairperson's discretion if the student fails to complete the Advanced Course.

NOTE: all Military Science courses include the appropriate number of class hours, plus a required leadership laboratory and additional sessions of physical training each week. A field leadership exercise of approximately two days provides practical experience in small organization leadership. All students are expected to attend the leadership laboratory, physical training and the field leadership exercise.

ARMY ROTC SCHOLARSHIP PROGRAM

The Army Reserve Officers' Training Corp (ROTC) Scholarships offer significant assistance toward meeting costs of school. Scholarships are awarded for four, three and two years, strictly on merit to the most outstanding students who apply as follows:

- Tuition and mandatory educational fees up to $16,000.
- A specific amount for miscellaneous fees such as laboratory, student activity, transcript and graduation fees.
- A flat rate for textbooks, classroom supplies and equipment (approximately $225 per semester).
- A monthly allowance during the 10-month school year each year the scholarship is in effect; currently $200 per month.

For further information write or call the Hofstra University Military Science Department, 265 Physical Fitness Center, Hempstead, New York 11549-1300, (516) 463-5648 or FAX (516) 463-4937.

CREDIT TOWARD A LIBERAL ARTS DEGREE

MS 1C, 1E, 2C, 2E, courses and laboratories, totalling two semester hours credit, are designated nonliberal arts courses. MS 3C, 3E, 4C, 4E, courses and laboratories, along with Advance Camp at Fort Lewis, Washington, totalling 12 semester hours credit, are designated liberal arts courses.

ARMY COMMISSIONING REQUIREMENTS

In order to be commissioned as a Second Lieutenant, students must satisfactorily complete the Basic Course, Advanced Course and Advanced Camp or their equivalents. Students must also receive their college degree and ensure they have taken an approved course in written composition, human behavior, military history, computer fundamentals and mathematical reasoning. Cadets must be recommended for a commission by the Military Science department chairperson.

COURSES

BASIC COURSE

1C. Introduction to the United States Army ½ s.h.
Fall

Instruction is designed to offer an in-depth look at the organization of the military, specifically the Army, within the United States. An introduction to roles, branches organization and customs of the United States Army is covered. Instruction also includes basic issues related to military skills, duties of officers, warrant officers, non-Commissioned Officers, and civic responsibilities of all citizens. Leadership and team building exercises are developed through hands on leadership opportunities. Students may also participate in many activities that build skills in rappelling, orienteering, first aid, marksmanship, and physical fitness. Classroom activity is one hour per week plus the Leadership Laboratory (Lead Lab) where hands on experiences are provided. Students have the opportunity to challenge their skill and confidence at the Leadership Weekend at Fort Dix, NJ. No liberal arts credit (Formerly MS 1A.)

1D. Leadership Laboratory no credit
Exercises to accompany MS 1C. Must be taken concurrently with course. No credit for lab.

1E. Foundations of Leadership ½ s.h.
Spring

This course continues to build upon the principles and skills introduced during the fall semester. Leadership ethics and Army values are discussed as their importance in the military and as leaders in any career position. Communication skills involving both oral presentations and writing requirements are developed to improve both individual performance and group interaction. Emphasis is placed on the four Army Leadership styles and applications of ethical conduct. Skills in land navigation, small unit leadership, physical fitness, and other individual character building exercises continue. Classroom activity is one hour per week plus a required Leadership Laboratory (Lead Lab). Students once again have the opportunity to challenge their skill and confidence at the Leadership Weekend at Fort Dix, NJ. No liberal arts credit. (Formerly MS 1B.)

1F. Leadership Laboratory no credit
Exercises to accompany MS 1E. Must be taken concurrently with course. No credit for lab.

2C. Principles of Leadership ½ s.h.
Fall

This course provides greater depth of instruction on the organization and missions of the United States Army, principles of leadership as an officer and as a citizen, understanding the Army writing style, military skills development and preparation for movement into the Advanced Course Officer Training Program. Continuation of military skill development during the second year program is designed to focus on oral and written communication skills, planning, and execution of small group events along with the continued development of individual leadership and organizational skills. Leadership Laboratory (Lead Lab) continues with the second year students assuming leadership roles while challenging themselves learning practical individual and group skills. Classroom activity is one hour per week. The fall Leadership Weekend at Fort Dix, NJ is offered to all military science students as the opportunity to learn more about the Army, gain confidence in their leadership abilities and military skills. No liberal arts credit. (Formerly MS 2A.)

2D. Leadership Laboratory no credit
Exercises to accompany MS 2C. Must be taken concurrently with course. No credit for lab.

2E. Requirements of the Junior Officer ½ s.h.
Spring

This course is a continuation of the fall semester Leadership Principles and builds on the information and skills introduced. The focus on military skill development to pass Army standards continues. This course also provides more depth of instruction on small unit tactical movements introduced in the spring freshman military science course. Students move from the more detailed classroom and now assume leadership roles of the small groups during the Leadership Lab. Classroom activity is one hour per week plus a required Leadership Laboratory (Lead Lab). Students again have the opportunity to challenge their skill and confidence at the Leadership Weekend at Fort Dix, NJ. No liberal arts credit. (Formerly MS 2B.)

2F. Leadership Laboratory no credit
Exercises to accompany MS 2E. Must be taken concurrently with course. No credit for lab.

BASIC CAMP

Basic Camp Leadership/Training Session is used to give students who were not enrolled in the Basic Course (MS 1C, 1E, 2C, 2E courses and laboratories) an opportunity to receive placement credit to enter the Advanced Course. This is a voluntary five-week session conducted at Fort Knox, Kentucky. The Basic Camp gives the student an in-depth look at the United States Army and an opportunity to demonstrate their leadership potential. Students receive instruction in a wide variety of basic military skills and leadership techniques. Successful completion of Basic Camp allows the student to enroll in the Advanced Course and compete for a 2-year scholarship.

ADVANCED COURSE PHASE

3C. Advanced Camp Preparation I 3 s.h.
Fall

Course examines in detail the leadership and military skills necessary to succeed at Advanced Camp. The Leadership and military skills learned in the Basic Course are thoroughly reviewed. Cadets are expected to achieve Army standards in all areas introduced and developed during the Basic Course. Emphasis is placed on Troop Leadership Procedures and leadership responsibilities required to lead small groups in situations of increasing complexity. Application of Army Leadership Doctrine, individual leadership skills and technical skills are incorporated into "hands-on" leadership positions in class and through leadership laboratories. Through classroom instruction and leadership laboratory students learn to plan, resource and execute effective coordinated training. Both oral and written requirements continue. Classes are twice a week (one hour per session) plus cadets must participate in leadership positions through all Leadership Labs and during the fall Leadership Weekend FTX at Fort Dix, NJ. Prerequisites: Basic Course completion and permission of the Chairperson. (Formerly MS 3A.)

3D. Leadership Laboratory no credit
Exercises to accompany MS 3C. Must be taken concurrently with course. No credit for lab.

3E. Advanced Camp Preparation II 3 s.h.
Spring

Course examines the problems associated with situational ethics and control of small organizations. Continues to build on the skills of the fall semester class in developing leadership and military skills necessary to succeed at Advanced Camp. Throughout this semester the students are required to draft and develop correspondence, conduct formal military oral presentations, and prepared management programs which they develop, conduct, and evaluate. Leadership laboratory continues this semester with emphasis on leading small group of personnel through a wide variety of challenging situations, using general leadership abilities and specific military skills. Classes are twice a week (one hour per session) plus cadets must participate in leadership positions throughout all Leadership Labs and during the spring Leadership Weekend FTX at Fort Dix, NJ. Prerequisites: Basic Course completion and MS 3C. (Formerly MS 3B.)

3F. Leadership Laboratory no credit
Exercises to accompany MS 3E. Must be taken concurrently with course. No credit for lab.

ADVANCED CAMP

Advanced camp training gives the student an understanding of the practical aspects of Army life and supplements the theoretical work given during the school year. This is a five-week, fully paid session conducted at Fort Lewis, Washington. Successful completion of the Advanced Camp is a commissioning prerequisite. Subjects covered include practical exercises in the following:

- leadership
- weapons qualification
- land navigation
- infantry tactics and techniques
- drill, parades and ceremonies
- physical training

Training is intensive in character, and methods are the same as followed in training units under field conditions. Emphasis on the development of leadership and individual confidence as will be required of a commissioned officer regardless of branch.

4C. Organizational Command 3 s.h.
Fall

Course examines roles and responsibilities of command and staff at the organizational level. Troop leading procedures continue to be emphasized. Fundamentals of training, supply, and personnel management are presented and practiced during the planning and conduct of Leadership Laboratories. Throughout this semester students plan, organize, and coordinate actual training and social events. The students are additionally required to apply military style written and oral presentations while planning and coordinating the training and social events. Students are mentored by Army officers and NCOs and incorporate Army values into leadership experiences. Classes are twice a week (one hour per session) plus cadets must participate in leadership positions throughout all Leadership Labs and during the Leadership Weekend FTX at Fort Dix, NJ. Prerequisites: Basic Course completion and MS III year. (Formerly MS 4A.)

4D. Leadership Laboratory no credit
Exercises to accompany MS 4C. Must be taken concurrently with course. No credit for lab.

4E. Organizational Effectiveness 3 s.h.
Spring

Course continues with the practice of command and staff through the planning, organization, and execution of training and social events at the organizational level. Ethical standards are discussed as the guide for effective leadership. Fundamentals of training, supply, and personnel management continue to be learned and practiced during the planning and conduct of Leadership Laboratories. Military style writing and presentation requirements continue. Mentoring by Army officers and NCOs on the application of Army values into leadership experiences continue. Classes are twice a week (one hour per session) plus cadets must participate in leadership positions throughout all Leadership Labs and during the Leadership Weekend FTX at Fort Dix, NJ. Prerequisites: Basic Course completion, MS III year, and MS 4C. (Formerly MS 4B.)

4F. Leadership Laboratory no credit
Exercises to accompany MS 4E. Must be taken concurrently with course. No credit for lab.

Music (MUS)

Associate Professor Cinnamon, Chairperson

Professors Boonshaft, Hettrick, Lalama; Assistant Professors Anson-Cartwright, Carter, Muro, Robinson; Instructors Fryling, Myers.

Acceptance by the Music Department requires an audition in the candidate's principal area of performance, and completion of placement tests in music theory and ear training prior to enrollment.

B.A. SPECIALIZATION IN MUSIC: 40 to 44 semester hours of music courses as follows: MUS 48, 61 & 62 or 61A & 62A, 63-64, 69 or 69A, 70A, 71-72, 143, 144.

- 2 semester hours, as advised, from the following: MUS 21, 22, 23, 24, 25;
- 2 semester hours, as advised, chosen from MUS 20 or in a 100-level music course;
- 6 semester hours of Private Instruction (P); MUS 35 & 35A, if required;

The humanities requirement may not be fulfilled by additional music courses.

See complete B.A. requirements, page 84.

B.S. SPECIALIZATION IN MUSIC: candidates for graduation must fulfill the following requirements:

1. The successful completion of at least 128 semester hours and a cumulative grade-point average of 2.0 in work completed at Hofstra.
2. At least 65 hours must be completed in liberal arts courses with no fewer than 40 outside the Department of Music.
3. There are two requirements that must ordinarily be completed in residence at Hofstra: 15 semester hours in the major field of specialization and the last 30 semester hours. The 15 semester hours need not be included within the last 30 hours.
4. The following general requirements:

	Sem. Hrs.
ENGL 1-2*	6
Humanities electives (excluding music)	6
3 semester hours must be in a core appreciation and analysis course. (For listing of core courses, see page 86.)

behavioral sciences and 3 semester hours in history and philosophy core courses, except that 1) music education majors take PSY 1 plus 3 semester hours in a history and philosophy core course and 2) music merchandising majors must take ECO 1, 2 as their social science requirement.

Natural science core course 3
 Mathematics/computer science core course 3
 Foreign language (fulfillment of B.A. language requirement, see page 84.)

5. The fulfillment of the following major requirements: 62-78 hours of music courses as follows: all music requirements for B.A. Specialization in Music including MUS 20, plus 154, and 145 or 169. The completion of the courses in one of the following concentrations:

A. PERFORMANCE

14 hours of music performance (advanced private instruction) with senior recital; at least 6, but not more than 12, hours of music elective courses, as advised. Piano performance students must take MUS 142 and 171.

B. THEORY/COMPOSITION

MUS 107, 108, 157, 165 or 166, 169; six hours of advanced private instruction; six hours of advanced theory courses as advised; 6-8 hours of music elective courses.

C. HISTORY/LITERATURE

18 additional hours in music history/literature courses as advised; independent study in music bibliography; MUS 193.

D. MUSIC MERCHANDISING

2 semesters of basic skills (MUS 31-38A), under advisement. (MUS 30 to be taken once with basic skills, no credit given.) MUS 154, 190, 191; 145 or 169 may be substituted for by 3 hours of music electives, under advisement. Business courses: ACCT 101, QM 1, MKT 101, 124, 131 or 141, MGT 101, FIN 101. The social science requirement is ECO 1, 2.

E. JAZZ AND COMMERCIAL MUSIC

MUS 105A, 105B, 107, 122, 157, 159, 160A, 160B; 6 semester hours of Advanced Private Instruction (101C-122C).

B.S. IN EDUCATION—SPECIALIZATION IN MUSIC EDUCATION, see page 399.

A MINOR IN MUSIC consists of the successful completion of 18 semester hours in music, with at least six hours in residence, under advisement by the chairperson of the Music Department. Students may select any music course except MUS 1, 3, 100, 153, 154, 165, 166, 169, 172.

NOTES

- Students who intend to enroll in MUS 61 or 61A and/or 69 or 69A or 70A must take a departmental entrance examination in rudiments, elements of theory and aural perception before registering. A remedial course may be recommended.
- Students are assigned to MUS 61A in place of 61 and/or MUS 69A in place of 69 by departmental advisement based on the entrance examination in aural perception. Credit will not be granted for both 61 and 61A, 62 and 62A or MUS 69 and 69A.
- Students without previous keyboard experience should enroll in MUS 35 and 35A during the freshman year.
- Ensemble* (MUS 20), University Band (MUS 21), University Symphony Orchestra (MUS 22), University Mixed Chorus (MUS 23) and University Wind Ensemble (MUS 24) are organized for participation by the general student body, for credit or as cocurricular activities, as well as by music majors. Open to all qualified students by audition; students desiring credit must register in advance. (Credit of ½ s.h. per semester is on a Pass/D+/D/Fail basis only.) No more than 6 semester hours may be applied to any degree.

- All music majors must take Ensemble (MUS 20), under faculty advisement, for six semesters for a total of 3 s.h. All music majors must also participate every semester, under advisement, in their principal performing area, University Band (MUS 21), University Symphony Orchestra (MUS 22), University Mixed Chorus (MUS 23), Hofstra Chorale (MUS 25), or University Wind Ensemble (MUS 24) with six semesters taken for credit for a total of 3 s.h. Candidates for the B.S. in Education (Music Education) degree who are band or orchestra instrumentalists are also required to participate for four semesters (either with or without credit) in one or more of the following choral organizations: University Mixed Chorus (MUS 23), Hofstra Chorale (MUS 25), Chamber Singers, or the Collegium Musicum chorus.
- All music majors must consult with the Music Department regarding Private Instruction (P) and must enroll in the course of their major performance area during the freshman and sophomore years. A special fee (see page 27) in addition to the semester-hour tuition will be charged for P and is nonrefundable.
- No more than 6 semester hours in P may be applied to the B.A. or B.S. in Education degree.
- Music courses numbered 30 through 39A, 101C-122C, 101D-120D, 122D, 107, 108, 160A, 160B, 172, 190 and 191 may not be applied toward liberal arts credit. Students will be enrolled in the appropriate courses only after consultation with an adviser.

NONMAJOR—the following courses are suited for the non-major:

Music appreciation and literature: MUS 1, 3, 48, 105A, 122, 123, 127, 128, 129, 130, 134, 135, 136, 140, 142, 145, 146, 157, 158.

Performance: MUS 20, 21, 22, 23 (see Note 4).

Basic Skills: MUS 31 through 38A, 173, 174 (these courses are designed for students without background or experience in the specific performance area; see Note 8).

PI KAPPA LAMBDA: a national music honor society, see page 74.

COURSES

In addition to semester notations next to each course, a selection of courses is offered during January and Summer sessions. Consult the January and Summer Sessions bulletins for these schedules.

1. Introduction to Music # (for nonmajors) 3 s.h.
 Fall, Spring

The elements of music. Emphasis on basic theory, chord structure, melody line, form and stylistic devices. Attendance at concerts and recitals may be required.

3. Music Appreciation # (for nonmajors) 3 s.h.
 Fall, Spring

A fundamental approach to the development of music listening skills through a study of representative Western musical masterpieces and of the principal genres, forms and styles of world music. Independent listening and attendance at concerts required.

20. Ensemble # ½ s.h.
 Fall, Spring

Special projects in music designed to give qualified students an opportunity to study performance techniques and to increase knowledge in the chamber literature of their instrument. Includes Collegium Musicum, Opera Theatre, Jazz Ensemble and Chamber Singers. Credit on Pass/D+/D/Fail basis only. See Note 4 and Musical Organizations, page 330.

#Core course

21. University Band # ½ s.h.
Fall, Spring

Band plays at concerts, commencements and special events. Through practice and performance of band literature, students broaden their musical experience and raise the level of proficiency. Audition required. Credit on Pass/D+/D/Fail basis only. See Notes 4, 5.

22. University Symphony Orchestra # ½ s.h.
Fall, Spring

Orchestra plays a range of literature, both classic and contemporary, and performs at concerts, assemblies and special affairs. Open to students, faculty and staff of the University, and to members of the community. Audition required. Prerequisite: permission of instructor. Credit on Pass/D+/D/Fail basis only. See Notes 4, 5.

23. University Mixed Chorus # ½ s.h.
Fall, Spring

Chorus sings at assemblies, concerts, commencements and similar campus activities. Designed to provide significant musical experience for all participants. Credit on Pass/D+/D/Fail basis only. See Notes 4, 5.

24. University Wind Ensemble # ½ s.h.
Fall, Spring

A traditional wind ensemble of 35-38 players representing the finest woodwind, brass, and percussion performers at the University. The Ensemble consists of one or two performers on a part, playing music from various periods designed to be performed by a wind ensemble. The Ensemble offers performances on and off campus. Audition required. Prerequisite: permission of instructor. Credit on Pass/D+/D/Fail basis only.

25. University Choral ½ s.h.
See course description, page 453.

For courses numbered 30 through 39A, see Note 8.

30. Conducting Ensemble 1 s.h.
Fall

The practical application of conducting skills and rehearsal procedures for students enrolled in MUS 107, Orchestral Conducting. The ensemble is to consist of students who are registered for one of the following courses: 31, 32, 33, 34. Must be taken concurrently with 107 for the first time, but 30 may be required for more than one semester. No liberal arts credit.

NOTE: students enrolled in 31, 32, 33, 34 must participate in the required laboratory session, MUS 30.

NOTE: students without previous keyboard experience should enroll in 35 & 35A during the freshman year.

31. String Class 1 s.h.
Fall, Spring

No liberal arts credit.
Prerequisite: ability to read music.

32. Percussion Class 1 s.h.
Fall, Spring

No liberal arts credit.
Prerequisite: ability to read music.

33. Woodwind Class 1 s.h.
Fall, Spring

No liberal arts credit.
Prerequisite: ability to read music.

Fall, Spring
No liberal arts credit.
Prerequisite: ability to read music.²

35 & 35A. Piano Class 1 s.h. each
Fall, Spring

No liberal arts credit.
Prerequisite: ability to read music.

35B. Intermediate Piano Class 1 s.h.
See course description, page 453.

35C. Advanced Piano Class 1 s.h.
See course description, page 453.

36 & 36A. Voice Class 1 s.h. each
Fall, Spring

No liberal arts credit.
Prerequisite: ability to read music.

37A. Recorder Class 1 s.h.
Spring

No liberal arts credit.
Prerequisite: ability to read music.

38A. Guitar Class 1 s.h.
Fall, Spring

No liberal arts credit.
Prerequisite: ability to read music.

39A. Singing for the Theater 2 s.h.
Once a year

Development of the voice as a musical instrument for use in the theater. Open to music or drama students. Prerequisite: permission of instructor. No liberal arts credit.

48. Musical Styles and Structures 3 s.h.
Fall, Spring

A survey of the elements of music, the main formal structures and the principal musical genres found in the various style periods of Western music.

61 & 62. Elementary Eartraining 2 s.h. each
Once a year

Melodic and harmonic dictation, sightsinging and rhythmic training. See Notes 1, 2.

61A & 62A. Elementary Eartraining 3 s.h. each
Once a year

Melodic and harmonic dictation, sightsinging and rhythmic training. See Notes 1, 2.

Natural Science (NSC)

Administered by the Department of Chemistry. Associate Professor Finzel, Chairperson

Professor Cassidy, Coordinator

COURSES

These courses are sometimes offered during January and Summer sessions. Consult the January and Summer Sessions bulletins for these schedules.

1-2. The Physical Sciences: from Aristotle to Einstein 4 s.h. each
Periodically

A more intensive version of 11, 12. Credit not given for both these courses and 11 or 12. Credit given for NSC 1-2 or New College NPG 1.

11. The Physical Sciences # 3 s.h.
Fall, Spring

Ideas in astronomy, physics and chemistry that have changed the world from the Greek era to the space age. Emphasis on the nature of science; historical and humanistic backgrounds; current science-related issues. (2 hours lecture, 2 hours laboratory-recitation.) For nonscience majors.

12. Energy and Atoms # 3 s.h.
Fall, Spring

Examination of the concept of energy, the relationship between matter and energy, and some ideas from contemporary physical theories. Emphasis on the nature of science; historical and humanistic backgrounds; current science-related issues. (2 hours lecture, 2 hours laboratory-recitation.) For nonscience majors. Credit given for this course or New College NPG 1 or QTG 5. (Formerly The Physical Sciences.)

13, 14. Our Physical Universe 3 s.h. each
See course description, page 453.

201 & 202. Philosophy and Implications of Scientific Inquiry 3 s.h. each

201: Fall; 202: Spring

First semester: selected continuities in the history of science. Second semester: hypothesis, observation and experimentation, the concepts and objects of science; scientific language; laws, theories. Interrelationships of the sciences; the scientific attitude. Prerequisite: permission of director.

203, 204. Science for Elementary School Teachers 3 s.h. each
Periodically

Recent innovations, scientific background, practical laboratory experiences, field trips. Limited to elementary school teachers.

205. Science Technology for Precollege Teachers 3 s.h.
Summer

Recent innovations and technological development of laboratory skills and experience with modern research instrumentation; introduction to investigative research projects and scientific software. Limited to in-service secondary school science teachers.

New Opportunities at Hofstra (NOAH)

Cynthia Diaz-Wilson, Assistant Provost and Executive Director
Cecilia Cardenas, Robert Tucker, Senior Assistant Deans

New Opportunities at Hofstra (NOAH) is an admission and developmental program designed to identify and admit minority and other nontraditional students whose educational experience and economic status did not provide them with an opportunity to demonstrate or develop scholastic abilities to the level requisite for undergraduate admission and study at Hofstra. The program was initiated in 1964.

When students are admitted to the program, the NOAH staff devises individual plans to help them develop their scholastic abilities to the fullest extent by providing counseling in academic and other areas to promote a smooth transition to the highly competitive academic environment at Hofstra; instructional services and tutoring to help students develop academic skills and general supportive services, not the least of which is to provide sufficient funds so that the students' college experience will not be a financial hardship.

The support services available to NOAH students are extensive and include the assistance of reading specialists; instructors in writing and English, mathematics and social sciences; counselors and tutors in virtually all subject matters.

The completion of special developmental core courses are required before enrolling in relevant or required University courses. Individual programs of required developmental courses are planned by the student's counselor, but may be waived by the Executive Director, depending on the student's status.

PROBATION

NOAH students will be placed on probation if they have attempted less than 25 semester hours and have a grade-point average below 1.3; attempted 25-57 semester hours and have a grade-point average of 1.5; attempted 58-87 semester hours and have a grade-point average below 1.9; attempted 88 or more semester hours and have a grade-point average below 2.0.

DISMISSAL

NOAH students will be dropped from the University if they have attempted less than 25 hours and have a cumulative grade-point average below 1.0;

#Core course

attempted 25-57 hours and have a cumulative grade-point average below 1.3;
 attempted 58-87 hours and have a cumulative grade-point average below 1.7; attempted 88 or more hours and have a cumulative grade-point average below 1.9.

MINIMUM PERFORMANCE REQUIREMENTS NECESSARY FOR NOAH FRESHMEN AND SOPHOMORES TO CONTINUE AT HOFSTRA UNIVERSITY

NOAH freshmen and sophomores are evaluated at the end of every semester. Recommendations for continuance are made by the NOAH faculty and administrative staff to the Executive Director of the NOAH program. Final recommendations are forwarded to the Academic Records Subcommittee of the University Senate Academic Affairs Committee by the Executive Director.

Minimum performance requirements necessary for NOAH freshmen and sophomores to continue at Hofstra University are:

1. Grade-point average within the ranges outlined above.
2. Satisfactory participation and completion of all required seminars and workshops with a grade of Pass.
3. Satisfactory participation and completion of all developmental courses with a grade of C or better (this includes attendance requirements).
4. Fulfillment of the terms outlined in the New Opportunities at Hofstra Agreement.
5. Satisfactory completion of all NOAH Learning Resource Center contracts.
6. Attendance at all NOAH forums unless excused by the Director.

Students failing to meet these minimum performance requirements may, upon the recommendation of the Executive Director and action by the Academic Records Subcommittee, be dismissed from the NOAH program and the University. NOAH students who have accumulated 36 semester hours or less, independent of grade-point average, or who have accumulated more than 36 but less than 57 semester hours with a grade-point average of less than 2.5, will be dropped from the roll of the University if they are dismissed from the NOAH program for failing to meet the minimum performance requirements.

For additional information contact The Executive Director Dr. Diaz-Wilson, 132 Gallon Wing.

COURSES

NOTE: open to NOAH students only. Students must have authorization from the NOAH Office before registering for the following courses. The code used for registering for these courses is DEVL.

| 1, 1A. Developmental Reading Workshop I, II 2 s.h.
 Fall, Spring
 Lecture/discussion/workshop course designed to refine, increase, expand and enrich students' reading skills and to develop ability to master those skills necessary in reading materials in varied disciplines. Emphasis on finding and understanding main ideas, supportive information and details; determining tone and implications. Individual instruction. No credit granted. 2, 2A. Developmental American English Writing Skills I, II 2 s.h.
 Fall, Spring
 Lecture/discussion course designed to increase students' American English writing skills to the level of proficiency requisite to beginning undergraduate study. Practice in writing short compositions, term and/or research papers and other written discourse. Attention is given to sentence structure, paragraphing, essay formation and organization. Individual instruction. No credit granted. | 3, 3A. Developmental Basic Mathematics I, II 2 s.h.
 Fall, Spring
 Lecture/discussion/workshop course designed to improve and expand students' basic computational skills. Develop ability to perform fundamental mathematical tasks (adding, subtracting, multiplying and dividing) with whole numbers, fractions, positive and negative numbers. Individual instruction. No credit granted. 4. Developmental Mathematics and Science 2 s.h.
 Fall
 Lecture/discussion/workshop course designed to help students in their mastery of fundamental concepts and computations in mathematics and science. Attention is directed to basic arithmetic, problem-solving and study techniques. Emphasis on the importance of attitude, motivation and perseverance in overcoming anxieties about and deficiencies in mathematics and science. Individual instruction. No credit granted. 5, 5A. Developmental Study Skills I, II 2 s.h.
 Fall
 Lecture/discussion course designed to refine; increase, expand and enrich one's ability to understand information taught in classes. Emphasis on techniques and procedures for improving skills in recognition, recall, drawing conclusions, and written and/or oral presentation in regard to new information. No credit granted. 6, 6A. Developmental Freshman Orientation I, II 1 s.h.
 Fall, Spring
 Discussion/workshop course designed to assist students to adapt socially, academically, psychologically and financially to the college environment. Emphasis on the roles and interrelationships of people, information and experiences affecting individual ideas and actions; and the use and/or abuse of options and resources in the college experience. No credit granted. 7. Developmental English Reading Skills 3 s.h.
 Once a year
 This course, a cooperative effort to combine reading and writing into one course, seeks to accomplish two goals. First, it allows for the reading process, both analytical and developmental, to improve student comprehension input with an eye toward what that input process must entail as a basic step toward oral and written communication. Second, it allows for output, the expression of ideas and words both oral and written, to be completed with careful guidance and instruction from both the reading and writing specialists. Designed for continuing students, this lecture/discussion course continues supportive services in a comprehensive way and sharpens those skills that may go undeveloped. Essential skills for good reading interpretation and written expression are the course focus. No credit granted. 8. Developmental Social Science 2 s.h.
 Fall
 Lecture/discussion course designed to expand knowledge of social science with emphasis on overcoming one's academic weaknesses. Help students in coping with problems related to assignments. Since social science courses tend to involve a great deal of writing, attention is given to written expression. No credit granted. 9. Developmental Career, Professional and Graduate School Preparation 2 s.h.
 Spring
 Lecture/discussion/workshop course consisting of discussions of various career options, resume preparation, interviewing techniques, academic preparation for graduate and professional schools, procedure for applying to graduate and professional schools, and graduate and professional school entrance examinations. Open to juniors and seniors. No credit granted. |

Philosophy (PHI)

Associate Professor Dardis, Chairperson

Professors Cernic, Godlove, Jurist, Wallace; Associate Professors Frisina, Holland; Assistant Professors Acampora, Karofsky, Mandair, O'Byrne, Singer; Special Assistant Professor Mollgaard.

THE SARDARNI KULJIT KAUR BINDRA ENDOWED CHAIR IN SIKH STUDIES is held by Dr. Arvind-pal Singh Mandair, Assistant Professor of Philosophy. See page 472.

Philosophy is a disciplined form of reflection about ourselves and the world. Philosophy includes the study of reasoning itself, seeking to establish standards for good thinking in every field of human inquiry, as well as the critical examination of our most general beliefs about life, religion, ethics, politics, science and art. Its special concern is with problems for which there are no easy answers. The study of philosophy increases self-understanding, as well as fundamental analytical, critical and interpretive capacities applicable in any profession, and in any human situation. A major or minor in philosophy is valuable preparation for careers in law, medicine, education, business, government, the ministry, and computer and information sciences.

Students may major or minor in philosophy or in one of several interdisciplinary areas, or simply take courses in areas of special interest. PHI 10 is a general introduction which provides the student with a broad picture of the subject, together with the tools and intellectual foundations required for further study in philosophy. PHI 14 and 20 also serve as good general introductory courses. PHI 150 and 154 focus on the fundamentals of good reasoning; other basic courses provide general perspectives for studies in many other disciplines. Courses in the history of philosophy and in systematic areas of philosophy concentrate on aspects of the history of philosophy, on particular philosophical problems (e.g., the nature of God), and on special fields of philosophical inquiry (e.g., theory of knowledge, philosophy of feminism, philosophy of science, philosophy of literature). Some advanced courses have a prerequisite (typically PHI 10 or 14) while others are open to any interested student.

B.A. SPECIALIZATION IN PHILOSOPHY: 30 hours in philosophy courses as follows:

- 18 hours selected from the following: PHI 10, 14, 141, 143, 154, 180
- at least 3 hours selected from the following: PHI 145, 147, 148, 160, 161, 163, 164, 165, 166, 167, 170
- 9 additional hours in any philosophy courses.

At least 18 of the 30 hours must be 100-level courses. A grade of C- or better is required for each course in the 30 hours.

It is recommended that the student specializing in philosophy take at least one seminar (PHI 183 or 184; topic varies every semester). Students who take PHI 183 or 184 in partial satisfaction of a philosophy major or minor may take it on a Pass/D+/D/Fail basis. It is also possible to build a concentration in an area within the B.A. in consultation with an adviser. Some possible areas of concentration are contemporary philosophy, history of philosophy, ethics, philosophy and religion. Every student who is interested in either a major or minor in philosophy should consult with a department adviser about the program of study.

A student may major or minor in philosophy with a focus toward Prelaw Studies. The department urges interested students to meet with a departmental adviser early in their undergraduate careers. Courses include: Social and Political Philosophy (PHI 20); Introduction to Ethics I (PHI 14); Contemporary Ethical Dilemmas (PHI 90); Philosophy of Law (PHI 120); Philosophical Views on Crime and Punishment (PHI 121); Morality and the Law (PHI 122); Practical Logic (PHI 150); and Introduction to Symbolic Logic (PHI 154).

A MINOR IN PHILOSOPHY consists of the successful completion of 18 semester hours in philosophy, under advisement in the department, including no more than nine hours of introductory courses. At least six hours must be in residence.

An interdisciplinary MINOR IN PHILOSOPHY OF SCIENCE is administered by the Philosophy Department. For information, see page 340. Students should consult with Associate Professor Holland.

An interdisciplinary MINOR IN RELIGIOUS STUDIES is administered by the Philosophy Department. For information, see page 384. Students should consult with Associate Professor Frisina.
