Dear Subscriber,

TED Talks are widely respected for bringing together some of the most fascinating and forward-thinking minds in areas from technology, science, and global issues to entertainment, design, and business. More than 360 titles are available through the library’s Films On Demand database in a variety of subject areas, from anthropology to technical education.

Highlights among the TED Talks titles include architect Daniel Libeskind; filmmaker Morgan Spurlock; religious scholar Karen Armstrong; inventor and futurist Ray Kurzweil; physician and author Dean Ornish; theoretical physicist Stephen Hawking; climate change prophet Al Gore; behavioral economics founder Daniel Kahneman; writer Elizabeth Gilbert; positive psychologist Mihaly Csikszentmihalyi; tech visionary Nicholas Negroponte; singer-songwriter Andrew Bird; and ecology, biology, and history scholar Jared Diamond, to name just a few of the distinguished speakers. Like many of the other videos in Films On Demand, TED Talks titles are:

- categorized by subject area
- divided into predefined clips so users can find content more easily--perfect for in-class use
- closed-captioned and feature interactive transcripts.
