Reminder to Review Your Hofstra University Pension Plan Investments and Beneficiaries

The Office of Human Resources encourages employees enrolled in the University Pension Plan to review their Plan investments and beneficiary designations regularly.

Why is it important to review my investments?

It is important that you periodically review investment options and monitor fund performance because your investments may need to be modified as your time horizon, risk tolerance, and financial goals change. To that end, the Plan has an array of investment offerings and we encourage you to review the options periodically and to select the ones that best suit your individual goals.

Where can I review my investments?

To view your current investment allocation, log into your TIAA account at www.tiaa.org/hofstra. Then select Statements and Docs and review your investments on your most recent quarterly statement.

Who can assist me with my investment selection?

A TIAA financial advisor is available for individual phone or virtual counseling sessions. Schedule an appointment online at www.tiaa.org/schedulenow or call 800-732-8353.

How can I review my beneficiaries?

To view your current beneficiary designation, log into your TIAA account at www.tiaa.org/hofstra. Then in the search bar, type Manage Your Beneficiaries.
