A Message from Hofstra University Library

Many publishers have reached out to the academic community with offers to provide access to databases, electronic services, and ebooks at no charge. These are being added daily to the appropriate sections of the Library web page (http://hofstra.edu/library) Most can be found in the sections Database by Subject (left side) and eResources (right side).

Please be aware of these guides that offer easy access points to these resources as well as library services:

- Students: https://libguides.hofstra.edu/students
- Faculty: https://libguides.hofstra.edu/wecanhelp

Subject specialists have also prepared guides to library resources on a variety of subjects. Those guides can be found here: https://libguides.hofstra.edu/?b=s

Please reach out to your subject specialist (https://www.hofstra.edu/library/library_contact.html#facsubject) for help using these or any other library resource. Also, please be aware that librarians are live on chat 9 a.m. to 9 p.m. most of the week. Please encourage your students to reach out for any research support they may need, and avail yourself of this live assistance as well: https://libanswers.hofstra.edu/.

Just a reminder that the Bookstore has suggested RedShelf (https://redshelf.com/) as a possible source of a textbook. VitalSource (https://www.vitalsource.com/) is another place to try. Each requires registration using University credentials.

Please be advised that this transmittal may be a confidential communication or may otherwise be privileged or confidential. If you are not the intended recipient, please do not read, copy or re-transmit this communication. If you have received this Communication in error, please notify me.