ITLT 041: (LT) TO HELL AND BACK: DANTE’S INFERNOProfessor Lori Ultsch (lori.j.ultsch@hofstra.edu) CRN 23876 ONLINE ASYNCHRONOUS

Description: Much like Dante’s “hard journey” through the three realms of the afterlife, the course is an engaging and challenging journey that each student will take through the poetry of the Inferno as a reflection of medieval literature, concerns and preoccupations. As we follow the pilgrim in his quest for salvation and the poet in his quest for literary immortality, the class will engage in close readings that emphasize the ethical, religious, and political background of the medieval world. This course will be organized around three recurrent topics in the poem: free will and spiritual salvation, the poet’s moral responsibility in representing and shaping the transcendental as well as secular spheres, and the poet’s attention to classical epic tradition. Art and music inspired by the Inferno will also enrich our study of Dante's amazing epic poem. All readings and discussions are in English.

ITST --ITALIAN STUDIES: ALL MATERIALS ARE READ AND DISCUSSED IN ENGLISH
They can serve to complete your minor in Italian, your minor in Italian Studies, fulfill your AA or IS distribution requirement, and complete the Alternate Language Option.

SPAN 004: GATEWAY TO COMMUNICATION
Professor Natalia Chamorro (natalia.chamorro@hofstra.edu) MW 2:40-4:05 CRN 20036
ONLINE SYNCHRONOUS

Description: This course is intended for students who have achieved an intermediate level of Spanish (the equivalent of SPAN 003 at Hofstra). The course will help students improve in the three modes of communication: Interpersonal, Interpretive and Presentational. The class emphasizes communication, while at the same time reviewing some of the most challenging aspects of grammar. At the end of the course, students will have increased their ability to communicate in Spanish and will be eligible to take the whole array of advanced-level Spanish courses.

SPAN 005: ADVANCED READING IN SPANISH
Professor Maria Anastasio (maria.j.anastasio@hofstra.edu) TR 1:00-2:05 CRN 21396
HYBRID: FACE TO FACE/ONLINE SYNCHRONOUS INSTRUCTION

Description: The main goal of this course is to enhance your Spanish-language skills through reading, discussing, and analyzing a wide range of contemporary texts—including essays, investigative reports, chronicles, poems, short stories and narratives, films and documentaries—from different countries and continents of the Spanish-speaking world. Many of these readings come from online newspapers, magazines, blogs, and alternative electronic media, to which you will have access through the link provided in this syllabus. The rest of the readings will be available on Blackboard. We will also read some contemporary texts and short stories by Latinx writers in the United States, and we will discuss a number of recent films and documentaries, whose themes are relevant to contemporary debates in the Spanish-speaking world. In addition to Spanish reading skills, and the acquisition of new vocabulary, we will also emphasize conversation and writing skills, and will review some key grammatical points.

Some of the topics discussed include: art, culture, literature, sports, music, health, education, jobs and occupations, current events, and any other topic in which the student may have interest. No textbook is required, only the desire to speak Spanish.

SPAN 112: ADVANCED SPANISH WRITING
WRITING INTENSIVE (WI)
Professor Álvaro Enrigue (Alvaro.Enrigue@hofstra.edu) TR 2:40-4:05 CRN 21891
FACE TO FACE INSTRUCTION
Description: Students will develop oral and creative writing skills in a workshop environment designed for those with advanced Spanish training. Students will use a variety of techniques in a conversational context with a view toward improving their self-expression through writing. The aim is to maximize students' creativity while expanding their knowledge of the language.

SPAN 113A: CULTURES OF SPAIN
Professor Maria Anastasio (Maria.J.Anastasio@hofstra.edu) CRN 20395 TR 9:40-11:05
HYBRID: FACE TO FACE/ONLINE SYNCHRONOUS INSTRUCTION
Description: In this course, students will learn about the coexistence and the tensions between the different cultures of Spain throughout history. Students will also learn about how these tensions have shaped Iberian culture, including language, literature, art, music, etc. At the same time, students will learn about the physical and political environment that has made possible the existence and development of these different cultures.

SPAN 123: (LT) POLITICS IN THE HISPANIC WORLD
Benita Sampedro (Benita.Sampedro@hofstra.edu) CRN 23878 MW 4:20-5:45
HYBRID: FACE TO FACE/ONLINE INSTRUCTION
Description: This course centers on cultural production, social change, and political critique in various places of the global Hispanic world –including Latin America, the Caribbean, the United States, Equatorial Guinea, and Spain. It will address pressing issues of global concern, such as border politics, migration and frontiers, indigenous resistance to environmental degradation, and radical gender and feminist proposals against regionally imposed economic neoliberal designs and policies. The overarching theme and connecting thread for all readings discussed will be the concept of precariousness, understood as a global condition and not limited to the so-called Hispanic World. Our sources of study will include essays, chronicles, oral narratives, investigative reports, films, documentaries, and photography. Readings will be in Spanish or English; class discussions will be in Spanish.
ROMANCE LANGUAGES AND LITERATURES SPRING 2021 COURSES

SPAN 143: (CC) SPANISH IN OTHER LANGUAGES
Professor Vicente Lledo-Guillem (Vicente.Lledoguillem@hofstra.edu) MW 2:40-4:05 CRN 23879
ONLINE SYNCHRONOUS

Description: This course examines the ways in which the Spanish language has been influenced and transformed through contact with other languages in the Iberian Peninsula, the Americas, Africa, and Asia. Students will examine the linguistic, social, political, and cultural consequences of this contact. We will also learn the most important structural and sociolinguistic theoretical concepts needed to analyze the situations of languages in contact. The course is taught in Spanish.

SPAN 180H: (LT) SPC TOPICS COURSE: SOR JUANA, THE GIANT
Prof. Alvaro Enrigue (Alvaro.Enrigue@hofstra.edu) CRN 24022 TR 11:20-12:45
FACE TO FACE INSTRUCTION

Description: Sor Juana Inés de la Cruz published with enormous global success erotic LGBTQ+ poems and brilliant plays at the late 17th century. She was a famous polemicist and a rigorous thinker. In this monographic course we will read Sor Juana’s lyrical and dramatic works, as much as the pieces of polemic writing in which she defended the women’s right to education and a productive job, as early as in 1691.

SPANISH IN TRANSLATION (SPLT) COURSES: ALL MATERIALS ARE READ AND DISCUSSED IN ENGLISH
They can serve to fulfill your literature (LT) distribution requirements and to complete the Alternate Language Option of the Foreign Language Requirement. 3 SPLT sh can be applied towards the Spanish major. SPLT courses do not count towards the minor in Spanish, but many of them count towards the major and minor in LACS.

SPLT 050G: (LT) MAGIC AND WITCHRAFT IN SPANISH LITERATURE
Prof. Vicente Lledo-Guillem (Vicente.Lledoguillem@hofstra.edu) CRN 24023
MW 11:20-12:45 ONLINE SYNCHRONOUS

Description: This course will analyze literary works and episodes in which there is a clear reference to magic, sorcery, demonic possessions, and any kind of spiritual heterodoxy that has a direct influence on human behavior. On the one hand, we will focus on how the “Devil” is asked for help in the name of love or simply to achieve one’s goals and how sometimes the “Devil” takes the initiative. On the other hand, unorthodox ways to achieve divine contact between the human soul and God will be analyzed. This is a fascinating course that offers new ways to approach the study of literature. At the end of the course students will be able to define concepts such as miracle, Devil, demonic possession, philocaptio, mysticism and Neoplatonism. Moreover, they should explain how religion faced and judged these issues during the Medieval and Early Modern Periods. Finally, students will be able to compare the ideology of these periods with the views that are dominant nowadays.

Latin American and Caribbean Studies (LACS) at Hofstra University offers a wide array of courses on Latin America, the Caribbean, and related diasporas in the United States. The LACS major requires 33 semester hours, while the minor requires 18 total semester hours. Additionally, these courses may also be used to fulfill the interdisciplinary course or cross-cultural course requirement at Hofstra.

LACS 001: (IS, CC) PUTTING LATIN AMERICAN AND THE CARIBBEAN ON THE MAP: GEOGRAPHY, POLITICS, AND LITERATURE
Professor Brenda Elsey (Brenda.Elsey@hofstra.edu) MW 4:20-5:45 CRN 22904
Online Synchronous
Description: This course is intended to introduce students to the two diverse regions with which North Americans share the Western hemisphere: Latin America and the Caribbean. The course offers a multifaceted approach to various dimensions of the countries lying to the south of the United States. The geography, history, politics, socioeconomic projects, cultures, languages and literatures of these societies will be analyzed in an interdisciplinary fashion. In this course students will demonstrate the ability to think critically and creatively, will apply analytical reasoning across academic disciplines, and will demonstrate an awareness of—and sensitivity towards—Latin American and Caribbean issues in a global context.

LACS 015N: (CC, IS): LATINX COMMUNITIES OF NEW YORK
Professor Benita Sampedro (Benita.Sampedro@hofstra.edu) MW 2:40-4:05 CRN 23789
Hybrid: Face to Face/Online
Description: The City of New York is home to some of the largest and most vibrant Latinx and Hispanic communities in the United States: over 3 million people. Hempstead, Uniondale, and other parts of Long Island have recently been transformed and enriched by an influx of Spanish-speakers. In this course you will deepen your understanding of some of these communities—Nuyoricans, Dominicans, Mexicans, Salvadorans, Cubans, Panamanians, Ecuadorans and Colombians, among others—by reading about issues such as race, ethnicity, class, gender, migration histories, border politics, bilingualism, and code-switching. Sources for the course will include literary, historical, and sociological texts, popular music, films and artistic projects. Class assignments have an important fieldwork component aimed at engaging with local Hispanic or Latinx communities, in addition to a research component. The course prepares you to work professionally with these growing communities at a local, national and transnational level.

LACS 199: SENIOR SEMINAR IN LATIN AMERICAN AND CARRIBBEAN STUDIES
Professor Brenda Elsey (Brenda.Elsey@hofstra.edu) and Professor Benita Sampedro (Benita.Sampedro@hofstra.edu) TBA CRN 22149
ONLINE
Description: The LACS Senior Seminar is an interdisciplinary capstone course in which students are required to work on a semester-long research project, and produce a substantial essay by the end of the term, on a subject of their interest related to Latin America or the Caribbean, from any disciplinary perspective. The professors responsible for the course will guide each student individually, and during class-sessions, through the following steps: Formulating a relevant research topic; elaborating a substantive and comprehensive bibliography of primary and secondary sources; writing a 3-page project proposal, outlining clearly the focus and main thesis; writing the actual essay; editing and formatting the final essay with the bibliography; and preparing a final class presentation on the research project.
