SUBURBAN SUSTAINABILITY: A SYMPOSIUM

Thursday, November 10, 2016
9 a.m.-5 p.m.

Guthart Cultural Center Theater, Axinn Library, First Floor, South Campus

The suburbs are not often thought of as places where sustainable practices thrive. Yet, there are examples all over the United States where suburban communities are making great strides. Symposium speakers include a range of experts who are working on real-world solutions to suburban sustainability challenges within the realm of environment, economic development, social equity and suburban politics.
