

Hidden in Plain Sight: Globalization and Human Trafficking

Event Program

Welcome
9:35 a.m. Linda Longmire, Professor, Global Studies and Geography and Symposium Director, Hofstra University

Panel I Human Trafficking Around the World

9:45-11:15 a.m.

Voices of the Victims

Bernard Coles, Class of 2017, Hofstra University
Rachel Durant, Class of 2016, Hofstra University
Dakar Morris, Class of 2018, Hofstra University
Ashley Mungiguerra, Class of 2015, Hofstra University
Jordan Von Heiden, Class of 2017, Hofstra University

Sex Trafficking Globally and Locally

Sage Davino, Class of 2016, Hofstra University
Blaine Volpe, Class of 2016, Hofstra University

Contemporary Slavery in the Fishing Industry of Bangladesh

Kari Jensen, Associate Professor, Global Studies and Geography
Hofstra University
Naser Khan, Freelance Photographer

Moderator: Hewan Girma, Adjunct Instructor, Global Studies and Geography
Hofstra University

11:15 a.m.-12:30 p.m. Lunch (on your own)

12:45-2:10 p.m.

Keynote Address

Introduction: Linda Longmire, Professor, Global Studies and Geography and
Symposium Director, Hofstra University

Keynote Speaker: Siddharth Kara, Director, Program on Human Trafficking and Modern Slavery; Adjunct Lecturer,
John F. Kennedy School of Government at Harvard University
Author, Sex Trafficking: Inside the Business of Modern Slavery

Panel II

2:20-3:45 p.m.

Moderator:

3:45-4 p.m.

Panel III

4-4:30 p.m.

Panel IV

4:40-6 p.m.

Moderator:

Human Trafficking on Long Island

Gregory Maney, Harry H. Wachtel Distinguished Professor for the Study of Non-Violent Social Change and
Co-director, Center for Civic Engagement, Hofstra University
Mark Lesko, Executive Dean, Hofstra Center for Entrepreneurship, Frank G. Zarb School of Business
Theresa Tebbett, Deputy Bureau Chief,
Nassau County District Attorney
Detective Edwin Trujillo, Nassau County Vice Squad

William Schaefer, Adjunct Professor, Political Science
Hofstra University

Coffee Break

“Very Young Girls”

Film clips from 2007 documentary about sex trafficking in Queens, NY
by Girls Education and Mentoring Services (GEMS)

What is Being Done and What Can You Do?

Lara Nochomovitz, Title IX Coordinator, Hofstra University
Theresa Tebbett, Deputy Bureau Chief,
Nassau County District Attorney
Gabriela Castillo, Attorney, Make the Road New York
Sue Lingenfelter, Long Island Against Trafficking
Ilene J. Gold, Advocate, National Council of Jewish Women
Trafficked Teens Project

Gregory Maney, Harry H. Wachtel Distinguished Professor for the Study of Non-Violent Social Change and
Co-director, Center for Civic Engagement, Hofstra University

Closing Remarks
6 p.m.

Linda Longmire, Professor, Global Studies and Geography
Hofstra University

Voices of the Victims

Willie Coleman, Class of 2015, Hofstra University

Rachel Durant, Class of 2016, Hofstra University

Cass Lang, Class of 2017, Hofstra University

McKenzie Smith, Class of 2018, Hofstra University

Jordan Von Heiden, Class of 2017, Hofstra University

6:30 p.m.

Reception — Room 246 East Library Wing, Axinn Library

SAVE THE DATE

Lecture and Book Signing

TUESDAY, NOVEMBER 17, 4:30 p.m.

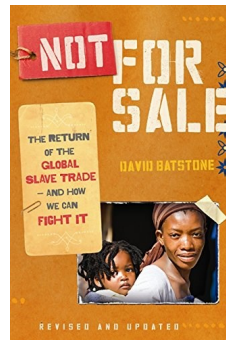

Guthart Cultural Center Theater, Axinn Library, South Campus

DAVID BATSTONE

Co-Founder and President, Not For Sale

David Batstone is co-founder and president of global anti-slavery organization Not For Sale, and co-founder and managing partner of Just Business, an international investment group that incubates social enterprises. He is currently a business professor at the University of San Francisco, and was previously an investment banker in the technology industry. David has authored five books, is the recipient of two national journalist awards, and was named National Endowment for the Humanities Chair at the University of San Francisco for his work in technology and ethics.

Hofstra Cultural Center and the Department of Global Studies and Geography in collaboration with the
Frank G. Zarb School of Business present a symposium

Hidden in Plain Sight: Globalization and Human Trafficking

Tuesday
November 10, 2015
9:30 a.m.-7 p.m.

Guthart Cultural Center Theater
Axinn Library, South Campus

This interdisciplinary symposium explores the rise of human trafficking in global, national and local contexts. Although labor and sex trafficking make up the greatest percentage of human trafficking, it also includes phenomena such as child soldiers, exploitation of refugees, and organ trafficking. Human trafficking affects people of all ages, nationalities, genders and ethnicities, but has particular consequences for the most vulnerable populations. This daylong symposium examines the economic, political and cultural environments that give rise to and encourage human trafficking. Policies and processes that have been developed to address the widespread problems of human trafficking will be assessed. Leading up to the symposium, a series of films will be shown highlighting various aspects of human trafficking.