

IMMERSIVE MEDIA AND THE FUTURE OF NON-FICTION STORYTELLING

#imediaHofstra

A one-day symposium organized by the Lawrence Herbert School of Communication with support from the Hofstra Cultural Center and Faculty Computing Services

Explore the frontiers of digital storytelling with leading filmmakers and developers using virtual reality, interactive documentaries, and other emerging forms of media to engage audiences as never before. The symposium will include panels, screenings and opportunities for hands-on experiences with next generation media.

Featuring panelists from the progressive National Film Board of Canada, MIT Open Documentary Lab, and POV, who will discuss their latest projects.

Wednesday, October 7, 2015

9:30 a.m.-5:30 p.m.

Various locations on campus

For a full schedule of events, speakers, and locations, visit hofstra.edu/imedia.

 HOFSTRA UNIVERSITY®

screenshot from "Universe Within" by NFB Canada