LESSONS OF THE HOLOCAUST

A Blueprint for Genocide

A summer institute for in-service and pre-service teachers of English, social studies, literacy and special education, grades 5 through 12.

August 14-18, 2006
9 a.m.-3 p.m.

Hagedorn Hall, Room 101
South Campus

COURSE OUTLINE

This workshop will examine the background, history, literature and artistic expression that emanated from the events that took place in Nazi Germany from 1933 through 1945.

Participants will read and write about the worst period of modern history and explore the legacy of that period in the post-Holocaust era. Sessions will incorporate historical background, literature, writing and curriculum development. Holocaust survivors and liberators will give testimony of their experiences. A bibliography of relevant readings will be provided to registrants prior to the workshop. Curriculum projects will be developed during the week, in the afternoon sessions, and presented during the final session.

Participants will visit the Holocaust Memorial and Tolerance Center of Nassau County on Thursday, August 17, 2006, to explore the Center's Holocaust educational resources.
