PART IV: Proof of Financial Support

Students must prove they have the means to cover the cost of studying and living in the United States for the full length of their program of study. Hofstra requires documentation showing readily available, or "liquid" funds, for the first year and barring any unforeseen circumstances, adequate funds for each subsequent year.

Information on the estimated cost for an average student for one academic year (9 months) of study based on the current year tuition rates are posted on our website at hofstra.edu/tuition. Tuition and fees are subject to change at any time. Please keep in mind that is an estimate, and that individual student costs may vary, depending upon factors including the number of semester hours taken, the housing option and dining plan selected.

Please submit proof of financial support that meets these requirements:

- Financial documents must be in English or accompanied by a translation by a certified translator.
- All funds must be "liquid" (savings or checking accounts or certificates of deposit – no investments, insurance, assets, bonds, retirement funds, or securities).
- Financial documents must show the name of the account holder. If the account is not in the student's name, the account holder (sponsor) must complete and submit an Affidavit of Support: hofstra.edu/affidavitofsupport

- Financial documents must have been issued within the past 3 months prior to the submission of this form.
